Pragmatism and the Problem of Race Bill E. Lawson, Donald F. Koch, 2004-04-21 A collection of essays examining a pragmatic approach to racism How should pragmatists respond to and contribute to the resolution of one of America's greatest and most enduring problems Given that the most important thinkers of the pragmatist movement Charles S Peirce William James John Dewey and George Herbert Mead said little about the problem of race how does their distinctly American way of thinking confront the hardship and brutality that characterizes the experience of many African Americans in this country In twelve thoughtful and provocative essays contemporary American pragmatists connect ideas with action and theory with practice to come to terms with this seemingly intractable problem Exploring themes such as racism and social change the value of the concept of race the role of education in ameliorating racism and the place of democracy in dealing with the tragedy of race the voices gathered in this volume consider how pragmatism can focus new attention on the problem of race Contributors are Michael Eldridge Eddie S Glaude Jr Judith M Green D Micah Hester Donald F Koch Bill E Lawson David E McClean Gregory F Pappas Scott L Pratt Alfred E Prettyman John R Shook Paul C Taylor and Cornel West Education/Technology/Power Michael W. Apple, Hank Bromley, 1998-07-10 Is the enormous financial investment school districts are making in computing technology a good idea With a focus on educational computing Education Technology Power examines how technological practices align with or subvert existing forms of dominance Exploring Education Alan R. Sadovnik, Peter Cookson, Jr., Susan Semel, Ryan Coughlan, 2017-10-10 This much anticipated fifth edition of Exploring Education offers an alternative to traditional foundations texts by combining a point of view analysis with primary source readings Pre and in service teachers will find a solid introduction to the foundations disciplines history philosophy politics and sociology of education and their application to educational issues including school organization and teaching curriculum and pedagogic practices education and inequality and school reform and improvement This edition features substantive updates including additions to the discussion of neo liberal educational policy recent debates about teacher diversity updated data and research and new selections of historical and contemporary readings At a time when foundations of education are marginalized in many teacher education programs and teacher education reform pushes scripted approaches to curriculum and instruction Exploring Education helps teachers to think critically about the what and why behind the most pressing issues in contemporary education Shaping Education Policy Douglas E. Mitchell, Robert L. Crowson, Dorothy Shipps, 2011-06 Shaping Education Policy is a comprehensive overview of education politics and policy during the most turbulent and rapidly changing period in American history Respected scholars review the history of education policy to explain the political powers and processes that shape education today Chapters cover major themes that have influenced education including the civil rights movement federal involvement the accountability movement family choice and development of nationalization and globalization Sponsored by the Politics of Education Association this edited collection examines the tumultuous shifts in education policy over the last six decades and projects the likely future of public education This book is a necessary resource for understanding the evolution current status and possibilities of educational policy and politics Managed Professionals Gary Rhoades,1998-01-01

Focuses on the ongoing negotiations of professional autonomy and managerial discretion and provides insight into the broad restructuring of faculty with conclusions that extend beyond unionized faculty to all of academe New York City Public Schools from Brownsville to Bloomberg Heather Lewis,2015-04-26 When New York City mayor Michael Bloomberg centralized control of the citys schools in 2002 he terminated the citys 32 year experiment with decentralized school control dubbed by the mayor and the media as the Bad Old Days Decentralization grew out of the community control movement of the 1960s which was itself a response to the bad old days of central control of a school system that was increasingly segregated and unequal In this probing historical account Heather Lewis draws on new archival sources and oral histories to argue that the community control movement did influence school improvement in particular African American and Puerto Rican communities in the 1970s and 80s Lewis shows how educators with unique insights into the relationships between the schools and the communities they served enabled meaningful change with a focus on instructional improvement and equity that would be familiar to many observers of contemporary education reform With a resurgence of local organizing and potential challenges to mayoral control this informative history will be important reading for todays educational and community leaders Burning Down the House Brian Pusser,2012-02-01 Burning Down the House presents a riveting analysis of one of the most nationally prominent and bitterly contested policy battles in the history of American higher education the struggle to eliminate affirmative action at the University of California A timely and essential addition to the literature on affirmative action it examines the political economic legal and organizational factors that shaped the debate in California and offers unique insight into the contemporary politics of admissions policy university governance and the role of higher education in broader state and national political contests to come Struggling for Inclusion James Ryan,2012-03-01 This book describes the struggles in which inclusive minded administrators find themselves when they promote equity initiatives Administrators routinely struggle when they attempt to include all members of their school communities teachers students and parents in the various aspects of schooling Given the presence of a host of obstacles setting right the injustices associated with racism classism sexism ableism homophobia and other exclusive practices is not an easy thing to do Resistance from colleagues who fail to recognize exclusive practices when they see them and from others who do recognize them but see no harm too few resources exclusive policies personal uncertainties or insecurities and conflicted priorities are just a few of the phenomena that get in the way of these efforts This book explores these struggles It looks at the contexts within which these encounters occur the various challenges that inclusive minded administrators encounter and the strategies that they employ to meet these tests Employing the results of original empirical studies surveys of current research recent theoretical literature and personal experiences this book seeks to provide school leaders with a sense of what it is like to promote inclusion and equity in the contemporary neoliberal context Among other things it looks to provide educators of an understanding of the obstacles that stand in the way of inclusion the nature of the struggles that await them and ideas for what they might do Among other things the book concludes that in relation to the pursuit of inclusion 1 exclusion continues to be part of contemporary schools and communities 2 struggles for inclusion transcend individual educators students and parents 3 administrators are sometimes part of the problem of exclusion 4 administrators struggle with issues of difference 5 administrators struggle with circumstances they inherit people with whom they work and with themselves and 6 administrators have resources to employ in their struggles for inclusion
