Racial and Ethnic Identity in School Practices ROSA HERNANDEZ SHEETS, 1999-04 Presents work of scholars and practitioners who are exploring the interconnections of racial and ethnic identity to human development for the purpose of promoting successful pedagogical practices and services Encyclopedia of Education and Human Development Stephen J. Farenga, Daniel Ness, 2015-07-17 This comprehensive and exhaustive reference work on the subject of education from the primary grades through higher education combines educational theory with practice making it a unique contribution to the educational reference market Issues related to human development and learning are examined by individuals whose specializations are in diverse areas including education psychology sociology philosophy law and medicine The book focuses on important themes in education and human development Authors consider each entry from the perspective of its social and political conditions as well as historical underpinnings. The book also explores the people whose contributions have played a seminal role in the shaping of educational ideas institutions and organizations and includes entries on these institutions and organizations This work integrates numerous theoretical frameworks with field based applications from many areas in educational research Ethnicity, Race, and Nationality in Education N. Ken Shimahara, Ivan Z. Holowinsky, Saundra Tomlinson-Clarke, 2001-07-01 This volume explores contemporary issues of ethnic cultural and national identities and their influence on the social construction of identity These issues are analyzed from the perspective of seven nations China Israel Japan South Africa Ukraine Wales and the United States While different these perspectives are not mutually exclusive lenses through which to review the discourse between ethnic and educational dynamics The chapters in this book illustrate how these seven perspectives differ as well as overlap Part I explores ethnicity and race as important variables in explaining minority students academic performance and schooling in the United States and China Part II focuses on ethnic and racial identity issues in Israel Japan and South Africa Part III addresses ethnic and racial identity as it affects racial integration at different levels of education in post apartheid South Africa and the effects on schooling of a rapidly changing ethnic map in the United States Part IV focuses on issues of language and national identity in three countries Ukraine and Wales where a national language is central to nation building and China where 61 languages are in use and bilingual education is essential in enhancing national literacy and communication The questions this book addresses are highly significant in today s global economy and culture Scholars and professionals in the fields of comparative international and multicultural education and educational policy will find the volume particularly pertinent

Perspectives on the Knowledge Problem in New Zealand Education Megan Lourie, Graham McPhail, 2021-08-06 This book offers new ideas for thinking about how more equitable outcomes might be achieved in New Zealand so that all students are well equipped to live and work in contemporary society It addresses a social justice concern about access to the unique affordances of subject knowledge which comprises two forms of knowledge propositional knowledge that and applied knowledge know how to The book provides perspectives on curriculum design by grounding arguments in a theory of knowledge It describes the different knowledge forms of the theory and argues that understanding these differences is significant for curriculum design and enactment It explains why the current imbalance between knowledge forms is a problem and offers suggestions for change Understanding about knowledge itself enables more just and equitable outcomes for all students This book illustrates how different knowledge types and forms can be used together productively to help students develop adaptive expertise for the 21st century making it a valuable contribution to the field of education Multicultural Psychology Jennifer Teramoto Pedrotti, Denise A. Isom, 2020-07-30 Combining theory and history with an active approach rooted in self reflection Multicultural Psychology applies a framework of self awareness and social justice to foundational and current topics across Multicultural Psychology studies today Multicultural Psychology focuses on identity and its social context to help students view culture not just as a minority issue but a way of understanding all human experiences Multicultural Psychology will help students apply concepts to their own lives at point of learning to assess their own awareness and progress and to consider their own role and ability to engage in social change With this balanced approach Multicultural Psychology helps students entering the course with varied levels of cultural and diversity awareness to understand their individual and social cultural contexts to gain awareness of their interactions with others and to understand the intersections that occur with other Intersections of Multiple Identities Miguel E. Gallardo, Brian W. cultures across their lives and careers McNeill,2011-02-11 Over the past two decades there has been an increase in the need to prepare and train mental health personnel in working with diverse populations In order to fully understand individuals from different cultures and ethnic backgrounds practitioners need to begin to examine conceptualize and treat individuals according to the multiple ways in which they identify themselves The purpose of this casebook is to bridge the gap between the current practice of counseling with the newest theories and research on working with diverse clientele Each chapter is written by leading experts in the field of multicultural counseling and includes a case presentation with a detailed analysis of each session a discussion of their theoretical orientation and how they have modified it to provide more culturally appropriate treatment and an explanation of how their own dimensions of diversity and worldviews enhance or potentially impede treatment This text is a significant contribution to the evolving area of multicultural counseling and will be a valuable resource to mental health practitioners The Palgrave International Handbook of Mixed Racial and Ethnic Classification Zarine working with diverse populations L. Rocha, Peter J. Aspinall, 2020-01-03 This handbook provides a global study of the classification of mixed race and ethnicity at the state level bringing together a diverse range of country case studies from around the world The classification of race and ethnicity by the state is a common way to organize and make sense of populations in many countries from the national census and birth and death records to identity cards and household surveys As populations have grown diversified and become increasingly transnational and mobile single and mutually exclusive categories struggle to adequately capture the complexity of identities and heritages in multicultural societies State motivations for classification vary widely and have shifted over time ranging from subjugation and exclusion to remediation and addressing inequalities The chapters in this handbook illustrate how differing histories and contemporary realities have led states to count and classify mixedness in different ways for different reasons This collection will serve as a key reference point on the international classification of mixed race and ethnicity for students and scholars across sociology ethnic and racial studies and public policy as well as policy makers and practitioners Love's Revolution Maria P. P. Root, 2001 When the Baby Boom generation was in college the last miscegenation laws were declared unconstitutional but interracial romances retained an aura of taboo Since 1960 the number of mixed race marriages has doubled every decade Today the trend toward intermarriage continues and the growing presence of interracial couples in the media on college campuses in the shopping malls and other public places draws little notice Love s Revolutiontraces the social changes that account for the growth of intermarriage as well as the lingering prejudices and false beliefs that oppress racially mixed families For this book author Maria P P Root a clinical psychologist interviewed some 200 people from a wide spectrum of racial and ethnic backgrounds Speaking out about their views and experiences these partners family members and children of mixed race marriages confirm that the barriers are gradually eroding but they also testify to the heartache caused by family opposition and disapproving strangers Root traces race prejudice to the various institutions that were structured to maintain white privilege but the heart of the book is her analysis of what happens when people of different races decide to marry Developing an analogy between families and types of businesses she shows how both positive and negative reactions to such marriages are largely a matter of shared concepts of family rather than individual feelings about race She probes into the identity issues that multiracial children confront and draws on her clinical experience to offer child rearing recommendations for multiracial families Root s Bill of Rights for Racially Mixed People is a document that at once empowers multiracial people and educates those who ominously ask What about the children Love's Revolution paints an optimistic but not idealized picture of contemporary relationships The Ten Truths about Interracial Marriage that close the book acknowledge that mixed race couples experience the same stresses as everyone else in addition to those arising from other people s prejudice or curiosity Their divorce rates are only slightly higher than those of single race couples which suggests that their success or failure at marriage is not necessarily a racial issue And that is a revolutionary idea Author note Maria P P Root Ph D is a clinical psychologist and past President of the Washington State Psychological Association Developing Identity in Adolescence Celina Chatman Nelson, Stephen C. Peck, Oksana Malanchuk, Jacquelynne S. Eccles, 2025-09-04 Explores racial ethnic identity development as a life long process of negotiating self context and others perceptions and behaviors from early adolescence to adulthood Guided by early foundational and recent compelling theories on race ethnicity and identity development across the lifespan Celina Chatman Nelson Stephen C Peck Oksana Malanchuk and Jacquelynne S Eccles provide a detailed analysis of their collected research on the Maryland Adolescent Development in Context Study MADICS to demonstrate the diversity of racial ethnic identity profiles and how they change over time MADICS began with nearly 1500 7th graders and their families in the early 1990s following many of them into their early 30s at the turn of the millennium Using mixed method research involving case studies and interview data this book demonstrates racial ethnic identity as multidimensional contextualized and idiosyncratic within a bidirectional iterative and nuanced process Through the presentation of their research findings on Prince George's County youth the authors encourage families schools and communities to have an open dialogue about race ethnicity to promote active reflection not only among developing youth but also within the world we live in today Race and Colorism in Education Carla Monroe, 2016-12-08 As one of the first scholarly books to focus on colorism in education this volume considers how connections between race and color may influence school based experiences Chapter authors question how variations in skin tone as well as related features such as hair texture and eye color complicate perspectives on race and they demonstrate how colorism is a form of discrimination that affects educational stakeholders especially students families and professionals across P 16 institutions This volume provides an outline of colorism's contemporary relevance within the United States and shares considerations for international dimensions that are linked to immigration refugee populations and Canada By situating colorism in an educational context this book offers suggestions for how educators may engage and confront this form of discrimination Working with Multiracial Students Kendra R. Wallace, 2006-09-01 Working with Mixed Heritage Students offers a collection of writings that bridges the social science and educational literature related to mixed heritage identity development and schooling in diverse contexts As such it is the first book of its kind to provide a direct focus on multiracial ethnic identity and formal education in the United States based on the scholarship of educational researchers The two common threads linking the chapters are the flexible yet situated nature of ethnic and racial identities among mixed heritage students and the importance of theorizing social contexts when interpreting and representing identity community and belonging In addition to exploring general themes of identity development Working with Mixed Heritage Students addresses theoretical and methodological issues in conducting research on topics related to mixed heritage students as well as implications for teacher preparation and educational practice Ultimately the authors brought together in this volume share a focus on recently mixed heritage students of first or second or third generation multiracial and multiethnic descent This diversity of perspectives on such a complex topic creates a tension within the book one that naturally emerges through interdisciplinary collaboration But it is hoped that this tension is just one of many that will lead to further reflection dialogue and action by researchers and educators working with like populations Christian Education Curriculum for the Digital Generation Jong Soo Park, 2015-02-16 This book is about exploring and presenting a model of digital based curriculum for Christian education suitable for the digital ways of learning communicating and thinking Park discusses the limitations of analog based curricula most of current curricula and necessities for digital oriented ones Then he
