

ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES IN REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

TEN CRITICAL CONCEPTS AND IMPORTANT TOOLS TO MANAGE RISK

Phase I ESA

The Phase I ESA is a foundational document in commercial real estate transactions that allows a purchaser to obtain CERCLA liability protections. Make sure all technical requirements are met to satisfy AAL.

Phase II Subsurface Investigation

Subsurface data (Phase II) is often necessary to understand the nature and extent of any contamination. This data will inform many other aspects of the project. Sometimes there is sufficient data from an ongoing cleanup to avoid Phase II.

Vapor Intrusion

Vapor intrusion is now a point of regulatory focus in most environmental cleanups. A developer should anticipate that investigation and, where warranted, mitigation of "VI" issues will be required.

Soil Management

When development, excavation and/or land disturbance must occur in areas that are contaminated, it is often advisable to have a Soil Management Plan prepared by and environmental consultant.

ERC

Environmental Restrictive Covenants or "ERCs" are a common remedial tool that restricts future use of land due to residual environmental impacts. The restrictions often impact development.

Offsite Migration

Offsite migration must be investigated and controlled. Offsite liabilities must be managed. Unexpected offsite liabilities can be very disruptive to the redevelopment and future use of a project.

Contractual Risk Allocation

Buyers/developers must be acutely focused on the risk allocation that is put in place between them and the seller. This is especially important when redevelopment is occurring parallel to remedial activities.

Strategic Design

Intended future use can dictate the scope of a cleanup, and vice-versa. One important tool is the ability to "design around" particularly problematic conditions.

Comfort Letters

Indiana's Comfort Letter program is a tremendous tool for buyers of contaminated properties. It allows buyers to further insulate themselves from historical liabilities, but not required to obtain liability protections, and not appropriate for all sites.

Environmental Insurance

Environmental insurance such as PLL and CPL coverage can be polarizing. Some parties like it; some do not. Regardless, it is a tool to consider and can be effectively deployed in appropriate circumstances.

Real Estate Issues In The Health Care Industry:

Real Estate Issues in the Health Care Industry Ronald S. Barak, Sherwin L. Memel, 2012-12-06 Coupled with the general decline in real estate values and opportunities for capital formation the health care industry is in the midst of unprecedented change that has resulted in unneeded real estate excess debt and a major need for capital to meet new organizational challenges. Indeed, these are challenging times evolutionary if not revolutionary. Reorganizations, Restructures, Shakeouts, Closures. Do you know what the strategic alternatives and solutions are for your facility or organization? Has your 1980s health care asset become a 1990s liability? What will your organization look like in the post health care reform era and how will your real estate help or hinder this transition? If the private payor doesn't get you, the government may. If the government doesn't get you, the market will. Only the strong, the swift, and the knowledgeable will survive these winds of change and the various forces at play today. Will your organization be one of those which do? If you are unsure of the answers to these questions, this publication may be for you. Based upon the inaugural University of Southern California Manatt Phelps Phillips Health Care Industry Real Estate Institute held in Los Angeles, California on February 9, 1995, if this book does not provide all of the answers, it will provide some as well as assisting the reader at least to identify the questions that need asking and answering. Los Angeles, California, January 1996. Sherwin L. Memel, Ronald S. Barak. PROGRAM OVERVIEW 9:00 a.m. WELCOME. Dr. Jane G.

Public Problems - Private Solutions? Simon Raiser, 2017-11-30 Cities and city regions are undergoing rapid transformation They are prime locations of innovation while at the same time facing growing problems of spatial fragmentation and social exclusion By addressing these problems cities become forerunners for new patterns of governance which include increasingly private actors While research on global cities has focused primarily on the world's leading financial and economic centres comparative research on the changing role of large complex cities in the developing world is less advanced But it is here where public problems are most seriously threatening the cohesion of urban society and where the need for new answers is most urgent Illustrated by in depth examinations of four city regions Shanghai Mumbai Johannesburg and S o Paulo this book readdresses this balance The book revisits the same set of cities from different angles thereby reflecting urban contradictions juxtapositions and disjunctures
