A New Way of Seeing Michael Sarnowski,2025-06-04 A New Way of Seeing considers the poetry of five writers Louis Simpson Keith Douglas Richard Hugo Howard Nemerov and Randall Jarrell whose work draws on their activities as soldiers in World War II Basing his examination on extensive primary source research Michael Sarnowski identifies distance both literal and figurative and traumatic memory as two interconnected elements of how these poets internalized the war and made sense of the events they witnessed The book is structured on a gradient related to each poet s proximity to combat as the chapters in turn focus on an infantryman Simpson a tank commander Douglas a bombardier Hugo a pilot Nemerov and a stateside flight instructor Jarrell Sarnowski relies on a wealth of archival material overlooked by previous scholarship including poem drafts correspondence flight logs and personal belongings The conclusion revisits notions of legacy and representation by assessing factors that contributed to the early labeling of World War II soldiers as a Silent Generation in contrast to the outpouring of poetry published during and following the First World War By exploring how poets processed their wartime experiences A New Way of Seeing offers a stark reminder of why it remains vital to recognize the physical mental and psychological consequences endured by veterans

have long admired the mythopoetic tradition in curriculum studies That admiration followed from my experience as a high school teacher of English in a wealthy suburb of New York City at the end of the 1960s A dream job I taught four classes of 15-20 students during a nine period day in a dream suburb where I could afford to reside only by taking a room in a retired teacher's house many of these often Ivy League bound students had everything but meaningful lives This middle class Midwestern young teacher was flabbergasted In one sense my academic life has been devoted to understanding that searing experience Matters of meaning seemed paramount in the curriculum field to which Paul Klohr introduced me at Ohio State Klohr assigned me the work of curriculum theorists such as James B Macdonald Like Timothy Leonard who also studied with Klohr at Ohio State and Peter Willis Macdonald 1995 understood that school reform was part of a broader cultural and political crisis in which meaning is but one casualty In the mythopoetic tradition in curriculum studies scholars labor to understand this crisis and the conditions for the reconstruction of meaning in our time in our schools

The Pacific Northwest Raymond D. Gastil, Barnett Singer, 2010-04-23 The Pacific Northwest for the purposes of this book mostly Oregon and Washington has sometimes been seen as lacking significant cultural history Home to idyllic environmental wonders the region has been plagued by the notion that the best and brightest often left in search of greater things that the mainstream world was thousands of miles away or at least as far south as California This book describes the Pacific Northwest's search for a regional identity from the first Indian-European contacts through the late twentieth century identifying those individuals and groups who at least struggled to give meaning to the Northwest experience It places particular emphasis on writers and other celebrated individuals in the arts detailing how their lives and works both reflected the region and also enhanced its sense of self

Craft Class Christopher

Kempf, 2022-03-15 The hidden history of the creative writing workshop and the socioeconomic consequences of the craft labor metaphor In a letter dated September 1 1912 drama professor George Pierce Baker recommended the term workshop for an experimental course in playwriting he had been planning with former students at Harvard and Radcliffe This was the first time that term now ubiquitous was used in the context of creative writing pedagogy Today the MFA master of fine arts industry is a booming one with more than 200 programs and thousands of residencies and conferences for aspiring writers nationwide Almost all of these offerings operate on the workshop model In Craft Class Christopher Kempf argues that the primary institutional form of creative writing studies the workshop has remained invisible before our scholarly eyes While Baker and others marshaled craft toward economic critique craft pedagogies consolidated the authority of elite educational institutions as the MFA industry grew Transcoding professional managerial soft skills linguistic facility social and emotional discernment symbolic fluency in the language of manual labor the workshop nostalgically invokes practices that the university itself has rendered obsolete The workshop poem or short story thus shares discursive space with the craft IPA or hand loomed Pottery Barn rug a space in which one economic practice rewrites itself in the language of another just as right wing corporatism continuously rewrites itself in the language of populism Delineating an arc that extends from Boston's fin de siècle Society of Arts and Crafts through 1930s proletarian workshops to the pedagogies of Black Mountain College and the postwar MFA Craft Class reveals how present day creative writing restructures transhistorical questions of labor education and aesthetic and economic production With the rise of the workshop in American culture Kempf shows manual and mental labor have been welded together like steel plates What fissures does that weld seal shut And on whose behalf does the poet punch in
