

Writing Across the Curriculum Overview

The philosophies underlying these programs generally agree on certain basic principles:

- that writing is the responsibility of the entire academic community.
- that writing must be integrated across departmental boundaries.
- that writing instruction must be continuous during all years of post-secondary education.
- that writing promotes learning
- that only by practicing the conventions of an academic discipline will students begin to communicate effectively within that discipline

(WAC Clearinghouse, "Basic Principles of WAC", 1992).

Reference Guide to Writing Across the Curriculum Charles Bazerman, Joseph Little, 2005-07-04 This reference guide traces the writing across the curriculum movement from its origins in British secondary education through its flourishing in American higher education and extension to American primary and secondary education

Landmark Essays on Writing Across the Curriculum Charles Bazerman, David Russell, 2020-11-25 Rhetoric as a general teaching while preaching locality of action and guidelines for handling that locality has tended from the beginning to serve as a universality It has offered a generalized techne with only limited categories appropriate for all discursive situations at least for those that were not excluded from the realm of rhetoric Nonetheless from its beginnings rhetoric limited its interests to certain activity fields such as law government religion and most important the educators of leaders in these activity fields This collection presents landmarks showing where the Writing Across the Curriculum WAC and Writing in the Disciplines WID movements have gone They have opened up a number of prospects that were impossible to see when rhetoric and composition confined their gaze to relatively few discursive activities This suggests that the rhetorical landscape is becoming more complex and interesting as well as more responsive to life in the complex differentiated societies that have emerged in the last few centuries This volume will reveal to scholars and researchers a range of possibilities for the study of disciplinary discourse and its teaching and suggest to them new prospects for the future and for the better

The New Work of Writing Across the Curriculum Staci M. Perryman-Clark, 2023-08-21 The New Work of Writing Across the Curriculum is a descriptive analysis of how institutions can work to foster stronger intellectual activities around writing as connected to campus wide diversity and inclusion initiatives Author Staci M Perryman Clark blends theory and practice grounds disciplinary conversations with practical examples of campus work and provides realistic expectations for operations with budgetary constraints while enhancing diversity equity and inclusion work in higher education Many of these initiatives are created in isolation reinforcing institutional silos that are not used strategically to gain the attention of senior administrators particularly those working at state supported public institutions who must manage shrinking institutional budgets Yet teaching and learning centers and WAC programs gain tremendously from one another by building explicit partnerships on campus wide diversity initiatives that emphasize cultural competence In addition both cultural competence and written proficiency enhance the transferable skills necessary for completing undergraduate education requirements and this work can be leveraged to draw the attention of senior administrative leadership Faculty development and WAC need to make diversity and inclusion initiatives a priority for professional development The New Work of Writing Across the Curriculum reviews initiatives that point to increased understanding of diversity and inclusion that will be of significance to administrators WAC specialists faculty developers and diversity officers across the spectrum of institutions of higher learning
