Theses on the Metaphors of Digital-Textual History Martin Paul Eve, 2024-07-16 Digital spaces are saturated with metaphor we have pages sites mice and windows Yet in the world of digital textuality these metaphors no longer function as we might expect Martin Paul Eve calls attention to the digital textual metaphors that condition our experience of digital space and traces their history as they interact with physical cultures Eve posits that digital textual metaphors move through three life phases Initially they are descriptive Then they encounter a moment of fracture or rupture Finally they go on to have a prescriptive life of their own that conditions future possibilities for our text environments even when the metaphors have become untethered from their original intent Why is whitespace white Was the digital page always a foregone conclusion Over a series of theses Eve addresses these and other questions in order to understand the moments when digital textual metaphors break and to show us how it is that our textual softwares become locked into paradigms that no longer make sense Contributing to book history literary studies new media studies and material textual studies Theses on the Metaphors of Digital Textual History provides generative insights into the metaphors that define our digital worlds

The Death of the Book John Lurz, 2016-07-01 An examination of the ways major novels by Marcel Proust James Joyce and Virginia Woolf draw attention to their embodiment in the object of the book The Death of the Book considers how bookish format plays a role in some of the twentieth century's most famous literary experiments Tracking the passing of time in which reading unfolds these novels position the book's so called death in terms that refer as much to a simple description of its future vis vis other media forms as to the sense of finitude these books share with and transmit to their readers As he interrogates the affective physical and temporal valences of literature's own traditional format and mode of access John Lurz shows how these novels stage intersections with the phenomenal world of their readers and develop a conception of literary experience not accounted for by either rigorously historicist or traditionally formalist accounts of the modernist period Bringing together issues of media and mediation book history and modernist aesthetics The Death of the Book offers a new and deeper understanding of the way we read now
