Cyber-Marx Nick Dyer-Witheford,1999 In this highly readable and thought provoking work Nick Dyer Witheford assesses the relevance of Marxism in our time and demonstrates how the information age far from transcending the historic conflict between capital and its laboring subjects constitutes the latest battleground in their encounter Dyer Witheford maps the dynamics of modern capitalism showing how capital depends for its operations not just on exploitation in the immediate workplace but on the continuous integration of a whole series of social sites and activities from public health and maternity to natural resource allocation and the geographical reorganization of labor power He also shows how these sites and activities may become focal points of subversion and insurgency as new means of communication vital for the smooth flow of capital also permit otherwise isolated and dispersed points of resistance to connect and combine with one another Cutting through the smokescreen of high tech propaganda Dyer Witheford predicts the advent of a reinvented autonomist Marxism that will rediscover the possibility of a collective communist transformation of society Refuting the utopian promises of the information revolution he discloses the real potentialities for a new social order in the form of a twenty first century communism based on the common sharing of wealth

Teaching Against the Grain Roger Simon, 1992-04-20 Conceiving of pedagogy as a form of cultural politics and teachers therefore as cultural workers Simon offers a fresh vision of the notion of pedagogy Grounded in an ethical and political stance devoted to the advancement of human dignity Simon reflexively considers the basis on which teachers form their own dispositions and feelings and urges them to consider not only what they might do as teachers but what social visions are supported by their practices In this in depth discussion of the requirements for a pedagogy of possibility Simon highlights the significance of his theoretical commitment as applied to educational practice To illustrate the ways that pedagogy is implicated in the construction of a social imaginary Simon explores how the substance of schooling might be recast in a way that involves the work of teaching in reconstituting a progressive moral project for education that can constitute part of a broadly based social transformation He subsequently offers a social vision on which a pedagogy of possibility might be founded and shows how schools along with other sites of cultural production may be understood as integral to the struggle to establish such a vision In addition he discusses in detail how a practice of pedagogy might be conceptualized that would help establish concrete forms of hopeful practice Science in the Service of Human Rights Richard Pierre Claude, 2002 5 Health and Medical Ethics Quilt Culture Cheryl B.
