

A botanical illustration of a flowering plant, likely a species of cornflower (Centaurea). The plant features several stems with narrow, lanceolate leaves. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, showing shades of blue and purple. Two large, flat-topped seed heads (capitula) are prominent, one at the top and one in the middle, both covered in numerous small, light-colored seeds. The illustration is detailed, showing the structure of the petals, leaves, and seed heads.
