ARTICLE A

Swedish climate activist Greta Thunberg has accepted a ride across the Atlantic by boat to attend two key climate conferences.

The teenager will make the journey aboard the Malizia II, a high-speed 18-metre (60ft) yacht built to race around the globe.

"We'll be sailing across the Atlantic Ocean from the UK to New York in mid August," she tweeted.

Thunberg refuses to fly because of the environmental impact of air travel.

In a Facebook post, Team Malizia said they were "honoured to sail Greta Thunberg emission free across the Atlantic".

Now, the 16-year-old will be able to attend the New York conference. She will later journey by train and by bus south to the annual Santiago Climate Change Conference in December.

Three people have been killed and 15 injured after a gunman attacked a food festival in California.

The gunman was shot dead by police shortly after he began firing, although police are investigating reports that a second suspect may still be at large.

The Gilroy Garlic Festival was about to end for the weekend on Sunday evening, when shots were fired at the site.

Six-year-old Stephen Romero is the first of the dead to be identified. His mother and grandmother were wounded.

It was the 246th mass shooting in the US this year, according to US tracking website Gun Violence Archive.

The killer has been identified as 19-year-old Santino William Legan, according to CBS News.

Witnesses say he was wearing camouflage, and used a rifle during the attack.

The suspect entered the festival after cutting through a perimeter fence, Gilroy Chief of Police Scot Smith told reporters. He said witnesses reported that a second suspect may have been involved, possibly in a support role.

Jamal,2009-10-16 In this pathbreaking study Amal Jamal analyzes the consumption of media by Arab citizens of Israel as a type of communicative behavior and a form of political action Drawing on extensive public opinion survey data he describes perceptions and use of media ranging from Arabic Israeli newspapers to satellite television broadcasts from throughout the Middle East By participating in this semi autonomous Arab public sphere the average Arab citizen can connect with a wider Arab world beyond the boundaries of the Israeli state Jamal shows how media aid the community s ability to resist the state s domination protect its Palestinian national identity and promote its civic status Parliamentary Debates New Zealand.

Parliament,1980 Voting in Old and New Democracies Richard Gunther,Paul A. Beck,Pedro C. Magalhães,Alejandro Moreno,2015-08-11 Voting in Old and New Democracies examines voting behavior and its determinants based on 26 surveys from 18 countries on five continents between 1992 and 2008 It systematically analyzes the impact on voting choice of factors rooted in the currently dominant approaches to the study of electoral behavior but adds to this analysis factors introduced or reintroduced into this field by the Comparative National Elections Project CNEP socio political values and political communication through media personal discussion and organizational intermediaries It demonstrates empirically that these long neglected factors have significant political impact in many countries that previous studies have overlooked while economic voting is insignificant in most elections once long term partisan attitudes are taken into consideration Its examination of electoral turnout finds that the strongest predictor is participation by other family members demonstrating the importance of intermediation Another chapter surveys cross national variations in patterns of intermediation and examines the impact of general social processes such as socioeconomic and technological modernization country specific factors and individual level attitudinal factors as determinants of those patterns Complementing its cross national comparative analysis is a detailed longitudinal case study of one country over 25 years Finally it examines the extent of support for democracy as well as significant cross national differences in how democracy is understood by citizens Written in a clear and accessible style Voting in Old and New Democracies significantly advances our understanding of citizen attitudes and behavior in election settings The Toronto School of Communication Theory Rita Watson,Menahem

Blondheim,2008-02-23 While never formally recognized as a school of thought in its time the work of a number of University of Toronto scholars over several decades most notably Harold Adams Innis and Marshall McLuhan formulated a number of original attempts to conceptualize communication as a phenomenon and launched radical and innovative conjectures about its consequences This landmark collection of essays re assesses the existence and re evaluates the contribution of the so called Toronto School of Communication While the theories of Innis and McLuhan are notoriously resistant to neat encapsulation some general themes have emerged in scholarly attempts to situate them within the discipline of communications studies that they helped to define Three such themes focus on the effects and consequences of communications emphasis on communications as a process rather than as structure and a sharp focus on the technology of communication or the medium are the most fundamental in characterizing the unique perspective of the Toronto School This collection not only represents a crucial step in defining the Toronto School it also provides close analysis of the ideas of its individual members Life-Span Communication Loretta L. Pecchioni, Kevin B. Wright, Jon F. Nussbaum, 2006-04-21 This innovative text emphasizes how communicative processes develop are maintained and change throughout the life span Topics covered include language skills interpersonal conflict management socialization care giving and relationship development Core chapters examine specific communication processes from infancy through childhood and adolescence into middle age and later life In its exploration of the role of communication in human development this volume overviews the theoretical and methodological issues related to studying communication across the life span discusses foundations of communication cognitive processes and language examines communication in relational contexts and communication competencies considers communication in leisure and the media with relevance to the life span perspective and presents the implications of the life span perspective for future research This text is intended to be used in life span communication courses and in interpersonal communication courses with a life span focus at an advanced or graduate level It may also be used in courses on family communication aging and language development It will serve as a supplemental text for courses in psychology family studies personal relationships linguistics and language studies 2002 Year Book, Australia ,

Advertising And Sales Promotion S H H Kazmi, Satish K Batra, 2008-04-30 Advertising is a brilliant form of art that has become an indispensable part of our lives As the business scene has transformed for the better in our country much is happening on the advertising front To tap the progress of Indian Advertising in this changed scenario a third edition of the book Advertising and Sales Promotion has been prepared for the students In this new edition all the chapters have been revised and some moderately updated with more relevant text figures boxes exhibits and references Following are the highlights of this edition Matter on Segmentation now includes current framework of Values and Lifestyle and Positioning topic has been re written text on Brand Personality and Image has been updated New Appendices have been added at the end of Part I and Part IV respectively some new Boxes with insightful contents have been added and some of the old exhibits have been replaced with the new ones The book essentially deals with the dynamic concept of Sales Promotion and its effect on the consumer Particularly meant for the students of management specialising in marketing the book provides a thoroughly educative and interesting reading The Wilopo Cabinet, 1952-1953 Herbert Feith, 2009-04 The Wilopo Cabinet was something of a watershed in post revolutionary Indonesian politics During its fourteen months of existence important changes developed in the constellation of political power among the major political parties the President and the army And within one of the major parties there occurred a shift in the relative strength of leadership groups of such importance as to bring about significant changes in the party's political posture and in its relationship with several of the other parties. It was during this period that cabinet government was seriously undermined and parliament lost much of its prestige and power and it was during these fourteen months that were set in train many of the developments which have dominated Indonesian political life in the last few years. The key political events of this period are complex and confusing and have generally been but imperfectly understood outside of Indonesia. Yet failure to understand them can result in more than inability to understand the period itself. It will also make difficult any full and sound comprehension of the important developments of the past few years. Herbert Feith in my judgment has probed much further into the events of this period than any other non-Indonesian scholar. He has searched out a great deal of significant new data which he has analyzed with tools sharpened by long residence and research in Indonesia, interviews with many knowledgeable Indonesians and a full mastery of the Indonesian language. I believe he has presented as clear a picture of an important period of Indonesian history and of its shaping of subsequent events as is likely to emerge for some time.

George McT. Kahin

ABOUT THE AUTHOR Herbert Feith 1930-2001 became familiar with Indonesia during 1951-53 and 1954-56 when he was an English Language Assistant with the Ministry of Information of the Republic of Indonesia. A citizen of Australia, he received an M.A. degree from the University of Melbourne in 1955 and a Ph.D. from Cornell University in 1961. He was a Research Fellow in the Department of Pacific History, Australian National University from 1960 to 1962 and was Chair of Politics at Monash University from 1968 until 1974.
