The shoulder hand syndrome or pain in the shoulder or arm is an extremely vital subject for the multi disciplinary approach and usually requires more than one speciality for complete evaluation. The proceedings of this symposium organized by the department of general surgery of the University of Limburg cover the field thoroughly with contributions from outstanding specialists from all over the world. Rheumatological, neurosurgical, orthopedic and traumatological aspects are covered. Vascular surgeons considering both venous and arterial problems, thoracic surgeons to review the thoracic outlet problem. Establishing a diagnosis in this multi disciplinary field is extremely important and encompasses a combination of disciplines including neurology, orthopedics, surgery and physical medicine. Likewise, the role of each contributing factor must be assessed when multiple sources were responsible for pain. In addition to adequate diagnosis, it is important to institute the appropriate therapy and to establish the proper priority and timing of such therapies. The follow up techniques, particularly regarding thoracic outlet syndrome, are extremely important to provide an objective basis for evaluation. Although many advances have been made in the field of objective diagnosis and therapy, there still is a great deal of overlap and confusion which has to be clarified. Professor Greep and his organizing committee have done a wonderful job in composing a program covering all aspects of this field. They are to be congratulated on bringing us a timely current status report on pain in the shoulder and arm.

FCI Research Report Federal Correctional Institution (Tallahassee, Fla.). Warden's Advisory Committee on Research, 1969 Crime and Transition in Central and Eastern Europe Alenka Šelih, Aleš Završnik, 2012-04-24

Full scale political change affects every level of a society but perhaps nowhere as strikingly as in the areas of crime policy and law enforcement. Over the past two decades the European nations that have moved from totalitarianism toward democracy have come to embody this trend, yet reliable sources on crime and law enforcement in these countries have not been readily accessible to the West. Representing viewpoints seldom available to outsiders, the contributors to Crime and Transition in Central and Eastern Europe analyze changes in criminal activities and crime control strategies in the region, explain the political background underlying these developments, and assess their long term social impact. Experts from Slovenia, Hungary, Croatia, Serbia, the Czech Republic, Poland, Bosnia and Herzegovina discuss the politicization of crime, the ongoing paradoxes regarding civil liberties, and the future of crime policy in comparative and country specific terms. Among the topics featured in the book are crime and crime control in transitional countries, politics, the media and public perception of crime, surveillance from national security to private industry, penal policy and political change, emerging trends, economic and organized crime, human trafficking, juvenile delinquency, new perspectives on corruption in the region. With this fascinating insight, Crime and Transition in Central and
