Obedient Autonomy Erika E.S. Obedient Autonomy shows how the discipline has accommodated itself to a Chinese social structure and uncovers the moral ethical political and economic underpinnings of that context It will be accessible to students of anthropology even as it will provoke Euro American archaeologists and interest social theorists of science philosophers gender theorists and students of Chinese society

An Appeal to the World Alex Haskins, 2024-11-25 An Appeal to the World Creolizing Domination in the Political Thought of Montesquieu Fukuzawa and Du Bois reconstructs how three distinguished political philosophers challenged transnational domination namely forms of arbitrary political and economic control across national borders through distinct but comparable philosophical frameworks geared toward a range of global contexts For Montesquieu despotic formulations remain the most alarming kinds of domination but can effectively be resisted through an emphasis on contextualized forms of moderation Fukuzawa's key concern with domination centers on dependent relations but can be resisted through an emphasis on contextualized forms of independence Du Bois for his part remains primarily concerned with domination as it manifests in discriminatory ontologies and he challenges these through an emphasis on contextualized solidarity and self-determination An Appeal to the World creolizes these authors' reflections through three cases on Egypt China and England that feature across each author's writing highlighting both shortcomings of each thinker's conclusions and how collectively they offer a more circumspect approach to resisting transnational domination In so doing An Appeal to the World challenges and seeks to conceptually and methodologically move beyond transnational good governance and developed developing frameworks that continue to bedevil international organizations in the present
