Natural Resource Management And Institutional Change:

Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Diana Carney, John Farrington, 2005-06-22 This book examines the effects of recent changes in the way natural resources and supporting services are managed and in the rights and responsibilities of resource users in developing countries in Asia Latin America and Africa Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Diana Carney, John Farrington, 2005-06-22 Using new evidence from a three year programme of research in developing countries in Asia Latin America and Africa the authors describe how government organizations have been privatised decentralised or restructured while private sector organizations both non profit and commercial have taken on increasingly important roles in resource management and service supply This book provides an important and easily accessible point of reference for decision makers and students alike offering unique view in its breadth of coverage across the natural resources sector and a range of different institutional types and approaches to resource management Institutional Change for Sustainable Development Robin Connor, Stephen Dovers, 2004-01-01 this book makes an interesting and worthwhile contribution to the ever expanding body of literature on sustainable development and therefore is to be recommended Karen Scott Journal of Environmental Law this is an essential text for the study of sustainability and institutional change an invaluable professional development text for the practitioner and a text to ponder slowly in all its complexities for an academic study of sustainability Kate Crowley Australian Journal of Environmental Management Does the road to sustainable development run through institutional reform or better yet institutional learning In this well argued book Robin Connor and Stephen Dovers draw on a range of case studies to demonstrate the critical role that institutions play in determining the course of human environment relations Oran R Young University of California Santa Barbara US Connor and Dovers correctly argue that achieving sustainability is a long term process In this context they analyze broad institutional innovations toward sustainability to date from Europe to New Zealand from sustainability councils to property rights to suggest how the historical process might be improved and accelerated This is among the most constructive efforts I have read Richard B Norgaard University of California Berkeley US It is clear that the transition to ecologically sustainable patterns of development requires significant institutional change yet we face a paradox Although institutions are the primary means of driving reform they are themselves a root cause of unsustainable development and a barrier to positive change This volume moves beyond the current debate by advancing our understanding of the nature of institutional change the features of more appropriate institutional settings and the manner in which change can be enabled Institutional Change for Sustainable Development presents a flexible accessible yet robust conceptual framework for comprehending institutional dimensions of sustainability emphasising the complexity of institutional systems and highlighting the interdependence between policy learning and institutional change This framework is applied and developed through the analysis of five significant arenas of institutional and policy change environmental policy in the EU New Zealand s landmark

Resource Management Act strategic environmental assessment emerging National Councils for Sustainable Development and transformative property rights instruments From these explorations key principles for institutional change are identified including the institutional accommodation of a sustainability discourse the interdependence of normative and institutional change reiteration and learning integration in policy and practice subsidiarity and legal change Institutional Change for Sustainable Development will be of interest to researchers policymakers and practitioners concerned with sustainability resource management and environmental policy Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Joginder Singh Negi,2012

Institutional Change and Irrigation Management in Burkina Faso Charlotte van der Schaaf,2008 Water and land policies form the basis for this study on the realities of policy implementation and outcomes at the local level The empirical study focuses on two small scale irrigation systems in Burkina Faso It contributes to the discussion on the widespread trend to transfer management responsibilities through the ongoing decentralisation process from the state to water user associations The study shows the intra community power structures and changing relationships between state actors and the community and the consequences for the management of these systems and the related natural resources

Games for triggering collective change in natural resource management: A conceptual framework and insights from four cases from India Falk, Thomas,Zhang, Wei,Meinzen-Dick, Ruth Suseela,Bartels, Lara,2021-01-20 As resource users interact and impose externalities onto each other institutions are needed to coordinate resource use create trust and provide incentives for sustainable management Coordinated collective action can play a key role in enabling communities to manage natural resources more sustainably But when such collective action is not present what can be done to foster it There is growing awareness that the governance of natural resources has to be adapted to the specific context Interventions are often implemented at small scale and the potential to scale up facilitation intensive approaches is limited Moreover sustainable resource management frequently fails to emerge or breaks down after the project ends To date researchers have typically used behavioral games to study cooperation patterns of communities Recently games have been adapted as learning and stakeholder engagement tools to improve management of the commons strengthen self regulation of resource use and enhance constructive interactions among resource users Combining games with other interventions and tools and facilitated discussions has been proposed as a promising approach to improve collective action institutions through experiential learning a classic approach in education This paper reviews existing literature and synthesizes lessons learned from a series of studies testing the use of behavioral games for institutional capacity development in India We conclude that while games alone will not be the solution to all natural resource management challenges games can provide a structured and therefore replicable approach for influencing behavior They can also improve system understanding raise awareness influence norms facilitate dialogue train for crisis response and increase legitimacy of decisions

Reforming Institutions in Water Resource Management Lin Crase,Vasant P. Gandhi,2009 As water scarcities increase nations throughout the world are in search of better institutions to manage water resources India has been making substantial efforts to develop its water management systems since independence and significant increases in irrigated agriculture have taken place through both public and private initiatives However scarcities are increasing and major problems presently confront the management of water resources and irrigated agriculture Resolving these problems is crucial for the future

There is no bigger challenge for organizational change management in the contemporary world than achieving greater sustainability The challenges associated with sustainable development are multifaceted including criteria pertaining to the delivery of environmental social ethical and economic results Creating sustainable value requires companies to address issues that relate to pollution and waste created by industrialization to respond in a transparent manner to the challenges increasingly raised by the civil society namely NGOs to invest in emerging technologies that provide innovative solutions to many of today s environmental problems and to effectively respond to the challenges of increased poverty and inequality around the globe On the other hand to create shareholder value managers must focus not only on cost reduction and risk control but also on fostering innovation enhancing corporate reputation within external stakeholders and establishing a credible growth path for the future The current global financial crisis has left few untouched unprecedented unemployment figures public deficits bankruptcies redundancies austerity regimes and governments bailing out banks all over the globe World confidence is at a record low How can management scholars encounter solutions for the dilemmas created by this scenario of change in which they can manage to change sustainably This book provides some answers to these pressing questions This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Change Management Redefining

Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 3 Ganesh Shivakoti, Tran Nam Thang, Ngo Tri Dung, David Hulse, Shubhechha Sharma, 2016-09-13 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Southeast Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical areas in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing this region Natural Resource Dynamics and Social Ecological Systems in Central Vietnam Development Resource Changes and Conservation Issues Volume 3 focuses on the issues specific to Central Vietnam that are also found globally War had significantly impacted both land and water resources from which it had to recover environmentally Additionally this is an area with growing urbanization pressures and industrial development both of which are known for stretching resources beyond their limits The introduction of several hydro electric power projects have even further eroded the local agricultural and forest ecosystems This volume looks at Central Vietnam holistically from management and use to policy and data driven solutions Provides land management practitioners and policy makers with the tools to deal with natural resource issues in a developing nation Reviews the impacts of the first PES Payment for Ecosystem Services policies upon which were based similar programs in Latin America Reviews the current and potential future land management of Central Vietnam giving an eye to solutions for any nation impacted by war trying to balance development with conservation efforts and provide their populations with sustainable economic futures Examines Central Vietnam holistically from management and use to policy and data driven solutions

Balancing the Commons in Switzerland Tobias Haller, Karina Liechti, Martin Stuber, François-Xavier Viallon, Rahel Wunderli, 2021-03-29 Balancing the Commons in Switzerland outlines continuity and change in the management of common pool resources such as pastures and forests in Switzerland The book focusses on the differences and similarities between local institutions rules and regulations and forms of commoners organisations civic communities and corporations which have managed common property for several centuries and have shaped the cultural landscapes of Switzerland At the core of the book are five case studies from the German French and Italian speaking regions of Switzerland Beginning in the late medieval ages and focussing on the transformative periods in the 19th and 20th Century it traces the internal and external political economic and societal changes and examines what impact these changes had on commoners It goes beyond the work of Robert Netting and Elinor Ostrom who discussed Swiss commons as a unique case of robustness by analysing how local commoners reacted to but also shaped changes by adapting and transforming common property institutions Thus the volume highlights how institutional changes in the management of the commons on the local level are embedded in the public policies of the respective cantons and the state which generates a high heterogeneity and an actual laboratory situation It shows the very different ways that local collective organisations and their members have followed in order to cope with the loss of value of the commons and the increased workload for maintaining common property management Providing insightful case studies of commons management this volume delivers theoretical contributions and lessons to be learned for the commons worldwide This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of the commons natural resource management and agricultural development
