Nature Of Time In Schools Theoretical Concepts Practitioner Perceptions:

The Nature of Time in Schools Miriam Ben-Peretz, Rainer Bromme, 1990 What are teachers' perceptions of time? How do they cope with the complex tasks of managing time? How is time experienced differently in various subject matters? These questions and others are addressed in this book. The Dimensions of Time and the Challenge of School Reform

Patricia C. Gandara, 2000-01-01 Annotation As the education reform movement matures into its second decade it is clear that many promising efforts have fallen short in their attempts to create real school change. One reason for this is that the process of school reform is much more complex than most reformers realized or were willing to acknowledge. The Dimensions of Time and the Challenge of School Reform points to another problem: the problem of time and its role in both the success and failure of school reform efforts. The importance of understanding the role that time plays in both learning and instruction and finding ways to provide time for teachers grappling with change and students learning to accommodate a new language and culture are important themes in this book. This book is directed to policymakers and practitioners as well as to academics in that it combines theory with the real world experiences of many who have been active in the school reform movement and who have learned through trial and error how to think about time in innovative ways. Book jacket Time and the Rhythms of Emancipatory Education

Michel Alhadeff-Jones, 2016-10-26 Time and the Rhythms of Emancipatory Education argues that by rethinking the way we relate to time we can fundamentally rethink the way we conceive education. Beyond the contemporary rhetoric of acceleration, speed, urgency, or slowness, this book provides an epistemological, historical, and theoretical framework that will serve as a comprehensive resource for critical reflection on the relationship between the experience of time and emancipatory education. Drawing upon time and rhythm studies, complexity theories, and educational research, Alhadeff-Jones reflects upon the temporal and rhythmic dimensions of education in order to re-theorize and address current societal and educational challenges. The book is divided into three parts. The first begins by discussing the specificities inherent to the study of time in educational sciences. The second contextualizes the evolution of temporal constraints that determine the ways education is institutionalized, organized, and experienced. The third and final part questions the meanings of emancipatory education in a context of temporal alienation. This is the first book to provide a broad overview of European and North American theories that inform both the ideas of time and rhythm in educational sciences, from school instruction, curriculum design, and arts education to vocational training, lifelong learning, and educational policies. It will be of key interest to academics, researchers, and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education, sociology of education, history of education, psychology, curriculum, and learning theory, and adult education. The Open Access version of this book is available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> and has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license. Pursuing Instructional Effectiveness in Higher Education Edwin

George Ralph, 2004 The title of this book has two meanings. One meaning expresses a sense of relief that during the last several years post secondary institutions have begun to pay serious attention to the enhancement of instruction on their campuses There has been an emergence of new organisations associations conferences seminars and workshops a proliferation of books journals and articles an expansion of research and investigative inquiry and a growth of interest among post secondary faculty members and administrators all of which are devoted to various aspects of the improvement of both teaching and learning at the undergraduate level These initiatives have combined to furnish undeniable evidence attesting to the pursuit of better teaching and learning in higher education Increasing numbers of post secondary educators students and tax payers at large not only welcome wholeheartedly this new emphasis and as suggested by the last clause in the title they feel it has been long overdue A second interpretation of the title and the one which is a key theme of this book emphasises the substantive concept of the use and management of time and timing as an integral component of effective instruction

From the Introduction The Mathematics Playbook John Almarode,Kateri Thunder,Michelle Shin,Douglas Fisher,Nancy Frey,2024-01-28 This is a playbook about teaching and learning mathematics It is not just focused on the content skills procedures conceptual understandings and application of mathematics but the teaching and learning of mathematics in our schools and classrooms From counting to conic sections patterns to permutations radii to rational equations and fractions to fractals the questions we aim to answer include 1 How do we foster nurture and sustain mathematics learning 2 How do we approach the teaching and learning of mathematics to ensure all learners have equity of access and opportunity to the highest level of mathematics learning possible 3 What are the non negotiables in a high quality mathematics task 4 How do we know if learners really get it These are the questions the authors strive to address in this playbook Handbook of Special Education James M. Kauffman,Daniel P. Hallahan,Paige Cullen Pullen,2024-05-23 The Handbook of Special Education brings greater clarity to the ever expanding topic of educating exceptional children Across the volume chapter authors review and integrate existing research identify strengths and weaknesses note gaps in the literature and discuss implications for practice and future research Chapters follow a consistent model Definition Causal Factors Identification Behavioral Characteristics Assessment Educational Programming and Trends and Issues This book provides comprehensive coverage of all aspects of special education in the United States including cultural and international comparisons The Handbook of Special Education discusses emerging trends in the field for researchers and practitioners while also providing foundational material for graduate students and scholars The third edition has been updated and shortened to make it more accessible and helpful to all of its users taking into account the recent developments and most current academic research in the field Colonial Temporality and Writing Education Xiaoye You,Othman Z. Barnawi,2025-09-29 This book examines how a colonial matrix of power is established through temporality in English writing education It offers discourse analyses of higher educational policies that operate in China and Saudi Arabia and then triangulates this data with conversations with writing teachers from representative Chinese and Saudi universities Drawing on all this data to understand both the structured power relations shaping educational policies and the attendant effects on the writing teachers that inhabit these spaces the book develops a decolonial comparative method and adopts the concept of temporal regime as an analytic lens It not only attends to the complex and multilayered ways that this regime controls disciplines and shapes the social wellbeing and professional practices of individual writing teachers but it also details the various ways that teachers understand experience resist negotiate and appropriate the temporal orders

Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers

Real-World Learning Framework for Secondary Schools Marge Maxwell, Rebecca Stobaugh, 2015-08-28 Foster authentic learning in classrooms Students desire to find meaning in what they learn and to exert creativity in their schoolwork Using the Create Framework educators can help students find greater fulfillment in learning while also meeting the guidelines of curriculum standards Explore the framework's main components and understand how to use the framework for classroom school and district pursuits

Teacher Education Policy Rob McBride, 2003-12-16 To improve schools we need to improve teachers This volume provides recent research evidence that suggests that current education policy is not Promoting Effective Teacher Education And That Teacher Education Policy has failed to support the formation of professional partnerships in initial teacher education has almost ignored the induction of newly qualified teachers and has narrowed in service education into support for the implementation of central policy The evidence gathered in this book is used to argue for new forms of teacher education in every phase built upon the foundation of professional partnership between schools and institutions of higher education It is suggested that the funding for such changes could be drawn from less effective forms of school improvement such as National Curriculum development and school inspection With the implementation of such changes it is argued good quality teacher education programmes would prosper and foster a broad consensus about educational development that is often absent
