Nature Conservation 3 Reconstructed Of Fragmented Ecosystems:

Reconstruction of Fragmented Ecosystems Denis A. Saunders, Richard J. Hobbs, Paul R. Ehrlich, 1993 Species Survival in Fragmented Landscapes J. Settele, Chris Margules, Peter Poschlod, Klaus Henle, 2012-12-06 The effects of isolation area size and habitat quality on the survival of animal and plant populations in the cultural landscape are central aspects of a research project started in Germany in 1993 Forschungsverbund Isolation FHichengroBe und BiotopqualiHit abbreviated to FIFB After a long period of preparation scientists from seven univer sities and one research institution started to work within the frame of this project Fund ing for four years was provided by the former German Federal Ministry of Research and Technology BMFT now the Ministry of Education and Research BMBF A strong focus of the project has been the improvement of the methodology for environmental impact assessments and the implementation of results into environmental planning As there is a certain risk that national projects develop some kind of mental in breeding it was decided to discuss concepts methods and first results with scientists of international reputation at a rather early stage of the project For this purpose an inter national workshop was held in the small village of Lubast north of Leipzig state of Saxony in March 1995 130 scientists from 10 nations met to discuss and debate issues surrounding habitat fragmentation for three days Papers presented there formed the basis for this book As discussions included general reviews as well as particular case studies we decided to structure this book in a similar way Consequently a combination of broad and more general review like papers as well as original papers are presented Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes Sharon K. Collinge, 2009-06-01 Ask airline passengers what they see as they gaze out the window and they will describe a fragmented landscape a patchwork of desert woodlands farmlands and developed neighborhoods Once contiguous forests are now subdivided tallgrass prairies that extended for thousands of miles are now crisscrossed by highways and byways Whether the result of naturally occurring environmental changes or the product of seemingly unchecked human development fractured lands significantly impact the planet s biological diversity In Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes Sharon K Collinge defines fragmentation explains its various causes and suggests ways that we can put our lands back together Researchers have been studying the ecological effects of dismantling nature for decades In this book Collinge evaluates this body of research expertly synthesizing all that is known about the ecology of fragmented landscapes Expanding on the traditional coverage of this topic Collinge also discusses disease ecology restoration conservation and planning Not since Richard T T Forman s classic Land Mosaics has there been a more comprehensive examination of landscape fragmentation Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes is critical reading for ecologists conservation biologists and students alike Forest Fragmentation James Arthur Rochelle, Leslie A. Lehmann, Joe Wisniewski, 1999-01-01 The book contains 15 chapters and provides an overview and synthesis of forest fragmentation and its influences on key ecological processes and vertebrate productivity Land use practices and their effects on vertebrate populations and productivity are discussed and examples of several planning approaches to address landscape level management effects are described Landscape Disturbance and Biodiversity in Mediterranean-Type Ecosystems Philip W. Rundel, Gloria Montenegro, Fabian M. Jaksic, 2013-04-17 Human impact on natural landscapes through urbanization and agricultural expansion are becoming more and more dramatic and are the cause of serious environmental problems This volume examines the effect of landscape disturbance on plant and animal diversity in the five mediterranean climate regions of the world It begins with three introductory chapters broadly reviewing the issues of landscape degradation Further contributions describe regional land use conflicts in each of the five regions Landscape disturbance and plant diversity and landscape disturbance and animal diversity are treated in separate chapters Four contributions deal with demography and ecophysiology in vegetation succession following disturbance The volume closes with a consideration of the future addressing aspects of environmental politics A Resource-Based Habitat View for Conservation Roger L. H. Dennis, 2012-04-10 Winner of the Marsh Book of the Year Award 2012 by the British Ecological Society In A Resource Based Habitat View for Conservation Roger Dennis introduces a novel approach to the understanding of habitats based on resources and conditions required by organisms and their access to them a quantum shift from simplistic and ineffectual notions of habitats as vegetation units or biotopes In drawing attention to what organisms actually use and need in landscapes it focuses on resource composition structure and connectedness all of which describe habitat quality and underpin landscape heterogeneity This contrasts with the current bipolar view of landscapes made up of habitat patches and empty matrix but illustrates how such a metapopulation approach of isolated patchworks can grow by adopting the new habitat viewpoint The book explores principles underlying this new definition of habitat and the impact of habitat components on populations species distributions geographical ranges and range changes with a view to conserving resources in landscapes for whole communities It does this using the example of butterflies the most alluring of insects flagship organisms and key indicators of environmental health in the British Isles where they have been studied most intensively The book forms essential reading for students researchers and practitioners in ecology and conservation particularly those concerned with managing sites and landscapes for wildlife Handbook for Restoring Tidal Wetlands Joy B. Zedler, 2000-08-30 Efforts to direct the recovery of damaged sites and landscape date back as far as the 1930s If we fully understood the conditions and controlling variables at restoration sites we would be better equipped to predict the outcomes of restoration efforts If there were no constraints we could merely plant the restoration site and walk away However Land Mosaics Richard T. T. Forman, 1995-11-09 An analysis and synthesis of the ecology of heterogeneous land areas Managing and Designing Landscapes for Conservation David B. Lindenmayer, Richard J. Hobbs, 2008-04-15 The distinctive relationships between landscape change habitat fragmentation and biodiversity conservation are highlighted in this original and useful guide to the theory and practice of ecological landscape design Using original ecologically based landscape design principles the text underscores current thinking in landscape management and conservation It offers a blend of theoretical and practical information that is illustrated with case studies drawn from across the globe Key insights by some of the world s leading experts in landscape ecology and conservation biology make Managing and Designing Landscapes for Conservation an essential volume for anyone involved in landscape management natural resource planning or biodiversity conservation

Restoring Natural Capital James Aronson,Suzanne J. Milton,James N. Blignaut,2012-09-26 How can environmental degradation be stopped How can it be reversed And how can the damage already done be repaired The authors of this volume argue that a two pronged approach is needed reducing demand for ecosystem goods and services and better management of them coupled with an increase in supply through environmental restoration Restoring Natural Capital brings together economists and ecologists theoreticians practitioners policy makers and scientists from the developed and developing worlds to consider the costs and benefits of repairing ecosystem goods and services in natural and socioecological systems It examines the business and practice of restoring natural capital and seeks to establish common ground between economists and ecologists with respect to the restoration of degraded ecosystems and landscapes and the still broader task of restoring natural capital The book focuses on developing strategies that can achieve the best outcomes in the shortest amount of time as it considers conceptual and theoretical issues from both an economic and ecological perspective examines specific strategies to foster the restoration of natural capital and offers a synthesis and a vision of the way forward Nineteen case studies from around the world illustrate challenges and achievements in setting targets refining approaches to finding and implementing restoration projects and using restoration of natural capital as an economic opportunity Throughout contributors make the case that the restoration of natural capital requires close collaboration among scientists from across disciplines as well as local people and when successfully executed represents a practical realistic and essential tool for achieving lasting sustainable development
