Women Musicians in Victorian Fiction, 1860-1900 Phyllis Weliver, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 Phyllis Weliver investigates representations of female musicians in British novels from 1860 to 1900 with regard to changing gender roles musical practices and scientific discourses During this time women were portrayed in complex and nuanced ways as they played and sang in family drawing rooms Women in the 19th century were judged on their manners appearance language and other accomplishments such as sewing or painting but music stood out as an area where women were encouraged to take centre stage and demonstrate their genteel education graceful movements and self expression However within the novels of the Victorian were begining to move away from portraying the musical accomplishments of middle and upper class women as feminine and worthwhile towards depicting musical women as truly dangerous This book explores the reasons for this reaction and the way labels and images were constructed to show extremes of behaviour and it looks at whether the fiction was depicting the real trends in music at the time Women's Books of Hours in Medieval England Charity Scott-Stokes,2012 The book of hours is said to have been the most popular book owned by the laity in the later middle ages Women were often patrons or owners of such books which were usually illustrated indeed the earliest surviving exemplar made in England was designed and illustrated by William de Brailes in Oxford in the mid thirteenth century for an unknown young lady whom he portrayed in the book several times This volume brings together a selection of texts taken from books of hours known to have been owned by women While some will be familiar from bibles or prayer books others have to be sought in specialist publications often embedded in other material and a few have not until now been available at all in modern editions or translations The texts are complemented by an introduction setting the book of hours in its context an interpretive essay glossary and annotated bibliography A History of the Principal and Most Distinguished Martyrs in the Different Ages of the World Akins Wright,1828 The Rural Visiter [sic] ,1811

Embracing the Tune of Phrase: An Mental Symphony within Of Angels And Women Mostly

In some sort of eaten by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of fast communication, the melodic splendor and emotional symphony developed by the published term usually fade into the back ground, eclipsed by the constant noise and interruptions that permeate our lives. But, set within the pages of Of Angels And Women Mostly a stunning fictional treasure full of fresh thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful musician of language, that fascinating masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional trip, well unraveling the concealed melodies and profound influence resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths with this touching assessment, we will examine the book is key harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing style, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
