Philosophy Of The Christian Religion:

The Philosophy of the Christian Religion A. M. Fairbairn, 2017-03-09 This book may be described as an attempt to do two things first to explain religion through nature and man and secondly to construe Christianity through religion The author conceives religion to be a joint product of the mind within man and the nature around him the mind being the source of the ideas which constitute its soul the nature around determining the usages and customs which build up its body He does not think therefore that any one of its special forms can be explained without the local nature which begot and shaped it or that its general being can be resolved and construed without the reason or thought which is common to the race He sees in religion the greatest of all man's unconscious creations and the most potent of the means which the past while it was still a living present formed for the making of the man and the times that were yet to be From the Preface

The Philosophy of the Christian Religion Andrew Martin Fairbairn, 1909 A Philosophy of the Christian Religion Edward J. Carnell, 2007-11-01

Introducing the Edward Carnell Library Nine Titles Listed Inside A Philosophy of the Christian Religion is not a defense of the Christian faith in the conventional sense The gamut of contending values and the systems of thought preoccupying the contemporary mind are analyzed here with admirable comprehension and lucidity These competing philosophies are severally evaluated by the whole perspective of the Christian system and demonstrated as partial here and now values incapable of satisfying the demands of the whole man Christianity is a coherent religion It never asks the heart to trust values which the reason is obliged to discard as contradictory No value commitment is completely satisfying until the complete man is satisfied from the preface

Christian Philosophy Craig G. Bartholomew, Michael W. Goheen, 2013-10-15 This third book in a series of successful introductory textbooks by Craig Bartholomew and Michael Goheen builds on their previous projects The Drama of Scripture and Living at the Crossroads to offer a comprehensive narrative of philosophical thought from a distinctly Christian perspective After exploring the interaction among Scripture worldview theology and philosophy the authors tell the story of philosophy from ancient Greece through postmodern times positioning the philosophers in their historical contexts and providing Christian critique along the way The authors emphasize the Reformed philosophical tradition without neglecting other historical trajectories and show how philosophical thought relates to contemporary life

The Philosophy of the Christian Religion Andrew Martin Fairbairn, 1928 A Philosophy of the Christian Religion Nancey Murphy, 2018-10-30 Each field of study comes with its own set of questions each period of time refines and redirects those questions The Christian religion as we find it in the twenty first century presents a unique set of problems to be solved and questions to be answered In this introduction to the philosophy of the Christian religion eminent philosopher and theologian Nancey Murphy applies the tools of philosophical analysis to a set of core yet contemporary religious questions what does our historical moment mean for the possibility of knowing God Is faith still possible Does God intervene in human history Is there such a thing as universal knowledge of God Written with the needs of students encountering the philosophy of religion for the first time in mind this book provides a comprehensive introduction to the fundamental questions inherent in Christian faith Murphy also provides tools for how to answer those questions

Philosophy and the Christian Faith Thomas V. Morris, 1988 Presents a collection of discussions on the philosophy of religion especially with regard to Christianity The essays cover such subjects as salvation the resurgence of philosophy of religion the Acts of the Apostles the Trinity original sin and the Holy Spirit Quest for a Philosophical Jesus Vincent A. McCarthy, 1986 In this book Vincent A McCarthy examines the work of four philosophers of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Rousseau Kant Hegel and Schelling who were committed to no lesser goal than the philosophical rehabilitation of Christianity and its Christ in the wake of the Enlightenment They sought the elusive philosophical formula for reconciling reason and revelation and then elaborated it in a philosophy of religion that would rearticulate the religion of Jesus in a positive light as against the destructive momentum and dark shadows cast by Enlightenment religious thought This was however no modern apologetics and traditional Christians were largely displeased and disturbed by the results For what becomes of Christianity and its Christ in the works of these philosophers occurs not for the sake of Christianity but for the sake of philosophy Rousseau Kant Hegel and Schelling spearheaded an audacious attempt to fulfill philosophy's program in a philosophy of religion and to save religion from philosophy and for philosophy Professor McCarthy examines in detail the philosophies of Christianity and the philosophical Christologies they created Their work did not issue in unqualified success yet the influence reaction rejection and revival that each has generated as well as the lessons of their failures commend them to critical attention still The Philosophy of the Christian Religion Andrew Martin Fairbairn, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1902 edition Excerpt CHAPTER VI THE PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION A Principles The Idea And Origin Of Religion PHILOSOPHY understood as reflexion on our ultimate ideas is almost as old as religion and began to be the moment man consciously enquired concerning beliefs that had unconsciously arisen What do they mean He had to live much longer forget much and learn more before he could ask What do I mean by my beliefs A yet vaster revolution of time and mind had to happen before he framed the questions What do my beliefs mean to me and have their many changes of form and setting since the days of my youth left them still the old beliefs and still mine But all these might be discussed as problems in religious philosophy without ever raising the distinctive questions in the philosophy of religion The two are distinguished thus the former is concerned with religious ideas but the latter with concrete religion the one deals with beliefs their basis psychological genesis and intellectual forms but the other enquires why religion as an objective fact and living organism has appeared and how it has behaved what are its sources and elements its ideas and customs what its dependency on man and on environment what functions it has fulfilled and with what results and for what reasons in personal tribal national and collective history It recognises religion as a universal fact which has to be construed through what is universal in human nature and it seeks to discover the forces and the factors that modify the universal fact into the infinite variety of forms it assumes in time and place and to determine the PHILOSOPHY AND THE RELIGIONS 187 worth of these modifications Its scope is therefore immense and its problem intricate but one thing it Christian Philosophy, Or An Attempt to Display by Internal Testimony, the Evidence and Excellence of Revealed Religion Vicesimus Knox,1804 A Philosophy of the Christian Religion Edward John Carnell,1960 Philosophy and the Christian Religion Clement Charles Julian Webb,1920 Philosophy James K. M. Fairbairn,2015-08-06 Excerpt from The Philosophy of the Christian Religion This book may be describe as an attempt to do two things first to explain religion through nature and and secondly to consure Christianity through religion The author conceives religion to be a joint product of the mind within man and the nature around him the mind being the source of the ideas which constitute its soul the nature around determining the usages and customs which build up its body He does not think therefore that any one of its special forms can be explained without the local nature which begot and shaped it or that its general being can be resolved and construed without the reason or thought which is common to the race He sees in religion the greatest of all mans unconscious creations and the most potent of the means which the past while it was still a living present formed for the making of the man and the times that were yet to be The beliefs of the author are writ large on almost every page and these he need neither explain nor justify here but a word or two may be said as to the occasion which defined not so much the problem of the book as its scope and point of view Some years ago he had the honour of being appointed by the University of Chicago lecturer on the Haskell foundation The conditions of the endowment were that a certain number of lectures should be delivered in India especially in the Presidency towns About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
