Professional Domesticity In The Victorian Novel:

Professional Domesticity in the Victorian Novel Monica F. Cohen, 1998-02-05 Much attention has recently been given by scholars to the widening of the gender gap in the nineteenth century and the concept of separate spheres Testing such constructions and questioning the stereotypes associated with Victorian domesticity Monica F Cohen offers new readings of narratives by Austen Charlotte Bront Dickens Eliot Eden Gaskell Oliphant and Reade to show how domestic work the most feminine of all activities gained much of its social credibility by positioning itself in relation to the emergent professions By exploring how novels cast the Victorian conception of female morality into the vocabulary of nineteenth century professionalism Cohen traces the ways in which women sought identity and privilege within a professionalised culture and revises our understanding of Victorian domestic ideology Home Inc Monica Feinberg Cohen, 1994

Professional Men and Domesticity in the Mid-Victorian Novel Laura Fasick, 2003 Moral Authority, Men of Science, and the Victorian Novel Anne DeWitt, 2013-07-18 Nineteenth century men of science aligned scientific practice with moral excellence as part of an endeavor to secure cultural authority for their discipline Anne DeWitt examines how novelists from Elizabeth Gaskell to H G Wells responded to this alignment Revising the widespread assumption that Victorian science and literature were part of one culture she argues that the professionalization of science prompted novelists to deny that science offered widely accessible moral benefits Instead they represented the narrow aspirations of the professional as morally detrimental while they asserted that moral concerns were the novel's own domain of professional expertise This book draws on works of natural theology popular lectures and debates from the pages of periodicals to delineate changes in the status of science and to show how both familiar and neglected works of Victorian fiction sought to redefine the relationship between science and the novel

Narrative Hospitality in Late Victorian Fiction Rachel Hollander, 2013 Bringing together poststructuralist ethical theory with late Victorian debates about the morality of literature this book reconsiders the ways in which novels engender an ethical orientation or response in their readers explaining how the intersections of nation family and form in the late realist English novel produce a new ethics of hospitality Hollander reads texts that both portray and enact a unique ethical orientation of welcoming the other a narrative hospitality that combines the Victorians' commitment to engaging with the real world with a more modern awareness of difference and the limits of knowledge While classic nineteenth century realism rests on a sympathy based model of moral relations novels by authors such as George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Olive Schreiner present instead an ethical recognition of the distance between self and other Opening themselves to the other in their very structure and narrative form the visited texts both represent and theorize the ethics of hospitality anticipating twentieth century philosophy's recognition of the limits of sympathy As colonial conflicts nationalist anxiety and the intensification of the woman question became dominant cultural concerns in the 1870s and 80s the problem of self and other known and unknown began to saturate and define the representation of home in the English novel This book argues that in the wake of an erosion of confidence in the ability to understand that which is unlike the self a moral code founded on sympathy gave way to an ethics of hospitality in which the concept of home shifts to acknowledge the permeability and vulnerability of not only domestic but also national spaces Concluding with Virginia Woolf's reexamination of the novel's potential to educate the reader in negotiating relations of alterity in a more fully modernist moment Hollanders suggest that the late Victorian novel embodies a unique and previously unrecognized ethical mode between Victorian realism and a post World War I ethics of modernist form

The Formation of the Victorian Literary Profession Richard Salmon, 2013-06-27 Richard Salmon provides an original account of the formation of the literary profession during the late Romantic and early Victorian periods Focusing on the representation of authors in narrative and iconographic texts including novels biographies sketches and portrait galleries Salmon traces the emergence of authorship as a new form of professional identity from the 1820s to the 1850s Many first generation Victorian writers including Carlyle Dickens Thackeray Martineau and Barrett Browning contributed to contemporary debates on the Dignity of Literature professional heroism and the cultural visibility of the man of letters This study combines a broad mapping of the early Victorian literary field with detailed readings of major texts The book argues that the key model of professional development within this period is embodied in the narrative form of literary apprenticeship which inspired such celebrated works as David Copperfield and Aurora Leigh and that its formative process is the disenchantment of the author

Virtual Play and the Victorian Novel Timothy Gao, 2021-04-15 Pondering the town he had invented in his novels Anthony Trollope had so realised the place and the people and the facts of Barset that the pavement of the city ways are familiar to my footsteps After his novels end William Thackeray wonders where his characters now live and misses their conversation How can we understand the novel as a form of artificial reality Timothy Gao proposes a history of virtual realities stemming from the imaginary worlds created by novelists like Trollope Thackeray Charlotte Bronte and Charles Dickens Departing from established historical or didactic understandings of Victorian fiction Virtual Play and the Victorian Novel recovers the period's fascination with imagined places people and facts This text provides a short history of virtual experiences in literature four studies of major novelists and an innovative approach for scholars and students to interpret realist fictions and fictional realities from before the digital age This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core The Silver Fork Novel Edward Copeland,2012-06-21 This first modern study of silver fork novels investigates their role in the alliance of middle class and aristocratic political principles

Fashionable Fictions and the Currency of the Nineteenth-Century British Novel Lauren Gillingham,2023-05-25 Revealing how a modern notion of fashion helped to transform the novel and its representation of social change and individual and collective life in nineteenth century Britain Lauren Gillingham offers a revisionist history of the novel With particular attention to the fiction of the 1820s through 1840s this study focuses on novels that use fashion's idiom of currency and obsolescence to link narrative form to a heightened sense of the present and the visibility of public life It contends that novelists steeped their fiction in date stamped matters of dress manners and media sensations to articulate a sense of history as unfolding not in epochal change but in transient issues and interests capturing the public's imagination

Reading fiction by Mary Shelley Letitia Landon Edward Bulwer Lytton W H Ainsworth Charles Dickens Mary Elizabeth Braddon and others Fashionable Fictions tells the story of a nineteenth century genre commitment to contemporaneity that restyles the novel itself

Literature, Technology and Magical Thinking, 1880-1920 Pamela Thurschwell,2001-07-05 In this 2001 book Pamela Thurschwell examines the intersection of literary culture the occult and new technology at the fin de siècle Thurschwell argues that technologies began suffusing the public imagination from the mid nineteenth century on they seemed to support the claims of spiritualist mediums Talking to the dead and talking on the phone both held out the promise of previously unimaginable contact between people both seemed to involve magical thinking Thurschwell looks at the ways in which psychical research the scientific study of the occult is reflected in the writings of such authors as Henry James George du Maurier and Oscar Wilde and in the foundations of psychoanalysis This study offers provocative interpretations of fin de siècle literary and scientific culture in relation to psychoanalysis queer theory and cultural history

Relics of Death in Victorian Literature and Culture Deborah Lutz,2015-01-15 Nineteenth century Britons treasured objects of daily life that had once belonged to their dead The love of these keepsakes which included hair teeth and other remains speaks of an intimacy with the body and death a way of understanding absence through its materials which is less widely felt today Deborah Lutz analyzes relic culture as an affirmation that objects held memories and told stories These practices show a belief in keeping death vitally intertwined with life not as memento mori but rather as respecting the singularity of unique beings In a consumer culture in full swing by the 1850s keepsakes of loved ones stood out as non reproducible authentic things whose value was purely personal Through close reading of the works of Charles Dickens Emily Bront Alfred Lord Tennyson Thomas Hardy and others this study illuminates the treasuring of objects that had belonged to or touched the dead What is a Woman to Do?
