Regional Cooperation to Improve Food Security in Southern and Eastern African Countries Ulrich

Koester,1986-01-01 The cooperation approach of the SADCC countries Other regional cooperation schemes Regional market integration and food security Alternative regional cooperation arrangements to stabilize food consumption , Food Security in Africa Alexander Sarris,2010-01-01 As they often do Jamie Morrison and Alexander Sarris have provided researchers policy makers and the interested public with the firm empirical grounding needed for sound agricultural development policies They have synthesized from a rich and varied set of country studies a unique contribution to one of the key challenges of our times increasing the productivity of smallholder food production in the age of globalization Timothy A Wise Tufts University US Food security has been a major concern in Africa for decades and a more pressing problem with recent increases in food prices The editors and contributors to this volume are experts in the field and should be commended for a timely informative and in places challenging analysis of food production and markets in eastern and southern Africa The volume brings a refreshing variety of theoretical analytical and informed case study approaches to bear on the food security problem it should be read by anybody seriously interested in African development Oliver Morrissey University of Nottingham UK Drawing on insights from theoretical applications empirically based approaches and case study experience this book contributes to the improved design and use of trade and related policy interventions in staple food markets Trade policy interventions have a potentially critical role to play in the development of staple food markets in developing countries and as a source of revenue in wider processes of rural development Governments have long defended trade and related policy interventions in staple food markets on the basis of food security concerns However the design and implementation of these policies has often resulted in unintended impacts increasing the risks faced by private sector actors and reducing their incentives for investment in improved market performance In the context of increasingly volatile staple food markets this book commissioned from leading experts in this field seeks to enhance dialogue between stakeholders involved in and affected by the design and use of trade and related policy interventions This significant book will appeal to policy analysts and decision makers influential in the design and implementation of trade and related market interventions as well as students of development economics Researchers contributing to debates on the use and impacts of trade and related market interventions in staple food markets in poor countries will also find this volume of great benefit Post-apartheid

Southern Africa Lennart Petersson,1998 This volume brings together some of the best known and highly regarded academics in the field to present a timely and comprehensive review of the prospects for economic integration and development in Southern Africa and to analyse alternative strategies and policies for the future It presents in depth country specific studies of Botswana Lesotho Mauritius Mozambique and Tanzania and has wide appeal to both policy makers and academics Global Food Security Challenges for the Food and Agricultural System OECD,2013-06-19 This study is concerned with how changes to the world's food and agriculture system can contribute to improvements in global food security Climate and Food Security, 1989 Food security and agricultural research Climatic variability and crop yields Climatic vulnerability of major food crops Climatic variability and factors of agricultural production Climate modeling and climate change Social and economic implications of climate food interaction Strategies for coping with climatic fluctuation and change Alternative Development Strategies in SubSaharan Africa Frances Stewart, Sanjaya Lall, Samuel M.

Wangwe, 1992-06-18 The World Bank and the IMF dominate policy making in Africa today This book considers the consistency between their adjustment policies and long run development needs with an analysis of country experience An alternative development strategy is proposed Agricultural policy reforms and regional market integration in Malawi, Zambia, and Zimbabwe Alberto Valdés, Kay Muir-Leresche, 1993-01-01 General policy environment Current status of and reform proposals for agriculture Effects of domestic policy reforms on food security Potential for intraregional trade

The Fight Against Food Shortages and Surpluses John McClintock, 2020-10-21 The price of food commodities such as wheat corn and rice is unstable It can suddenly shoot up making food unaffordable for millions of people around the world bringing hunger and famine A shortage may be due to bad weather or to a human pandemic which disrupts the food system The other side of the volatility coin is a grain surplus too much grain on the market A grain surplus can cause food prices to rapidly fall wiping out the profits of farming families and jeopardising their livelihoods The whole world would be better off if commodity prices were more stable Authored by an agricultural economist with thirty years of practical experience in farm policy this book will assist governments in the design of their food and agricultural policies Requiring no prior knowledge of economics it is essential reading for students researchers and policy makers in the areas of economics international and sustainable development agriculture and food security The Transformation of Agri-Food Systems Ellen B.

McCullough, Prabhu L. Pingali, Kostas G. Stamoulis, 2012-05-23 There should be a good market for this book The topic is very timely and a major theme of the new World Development Report 2008 The editors and contributors are world class Derek Byerlee World Bank This is a topic of wide interest and high policy importance The depth of coverage and excellent synthesis should ensure that the book will have a substantial market in high level undergraduate and graduate courses in agricultural development It will have a solid readership among development economists and policy makers as well Mark Rosegrant International Food Policy Research Institute The driving forces of income growth demographic shifts globalization and technical change have led to a reorganization of food systems from farm to plate The characteristics of supply chains particularly the role of supermarkets linking farmers have changed from consumption and retail to wholesale processing procurement and production This has had a dramatic effect on smallholder farmers particularly in developing countries This book presents a comprehensive framework for assessing the impacts of changing agri food systems on smallholder farmers recognizing the importance of heterogeneity between developing countries as well as within them The book includes a number of case studies from Asia Africa Latin America and Eastern Europe which are used to illustrate differences in food systems characteristics and trends The country case studies explore impacts on the small farm sector across different countries local contexts and farm types Published with FAO Africa agriculture trade monitor 2018 Badiane, O. (ed), Odjo, S.P. (ed), Collins, J. (ed), 2018-09-01 Boosting intra African trade and deepening regional integration offer an effective vehicle to speed up Africa's economic transformation Increasing the volumes of intra African trade in agricultural products and the elimination of non tariff barriers have the potential to boost industrialization and enhance competitiveness at country and industry levels through higher investments in connectivity and infrastructure both physical and digital Food Price
