 Across the OECD and EU persistent spatial disparities in economic social and environmental outcomes are being amplified by megatrends risks and shocks climate change technological change globalisation and demographic change This has resulted in some communities feeling left behind and being faced by new threats Against this backdrop place based policies have seen renewed interest These policies can respond to the needs and potentials of diverse places while also contributing to national competitiveness and social cohesion Increased adoption of place based policies calls for a greater understanding of their purpose and of how to effectively design implement and evaluate them It highlights the need for effective place based policies that support structural transformations to build the long term economic social and environmental sustainability of regions and consequently of countries In recognition of the renewed interest the OECD and European Commission commissioned twelve expert papers and organised a series of workshops in 2023 on Place Based Policies for the Future To help address future challenges this report synthesises the latest knowledge and evidence on place based policies to provide policymakers across all levels of government with insights on the design and implementation of better place based policies for better lives      Regional Policy Norbert Vanhove, Leo Hendrik Klaassen, 1987 Addressing regional economic policy in Europe this volume covers the theory of regional economic development and policy regional policy at the national level past and present regional disparities in the European Union impact of the integration on regions regional policy in the European Union from 1975 to 1999 the Structural Funds 2000 2006 and openness to Eastern European countries First published in 1980 and authored in conjunction with Klaassen with a second edition in 1987 this edition is updated and enlarged to include recent developments of EU regional strategies and policies Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Handbook of Regions and Competitiveness Robert Huggins, Piers Thompson, 2017-03-31 The aim of this Handbook is to take stock of regional competitiveness and complementary concepts as a means of presenting a state of the art discussion of the contemporary theories perspectives and empirical explanations that help make sense of the determinants of uneven development across regions Drawing on an international field of leading scholars the book is assembled and organized so that readers can first learn about the theoretical underpinnings of regional competitiveness and development theory before moving on to deeper discussions of key factors and principal elements the emergence of allied concepts empirical applications and the policy context      Place-based Economic Development and the New EU Cohesion Policy Philip McCann, Attila Varga, 2018-02-02 The new EU Cohesion Policy is one of the largest integrated development policies in the Western world and one of the largest of such programmes anywhere in the world The reforms to the EU Cohesion Policy contain many different elements each of which interlink in order to provide a cohesive overall framework Some of the key elements in the reforms however relate to the conditionalities employed and their effects on policy governance and the control mechanism the smart specialization approach to policy prioritization and resource allocation the underlying place based logic of the policy and the overall results orientation and evaluation emphasis of the policy In each of the areas of the EU Cohesion Policy reforms many different scholars from the fields of regional studies regional science and economic geography have played important roles in shaping the new policy and the chapters here highlight these increasing interactions between the policy and academic spheres of debate The collection of essays in this book each deal with specific aspects of these critical elements of the Cohesion Policy reforms In particular they examine some of the strengths and weaknesses of these individual elements and allowing for a better understanding of the origins and backgrounds of many of the ideas underpinning these reforms This book was previously published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Handbook on Regional Economic Resilience Gillian Bristow, Adrian Healy, 2020-02-28 This Handbook provides a collection of high quality contributions on the state of the art in current debates around the concept of regional economic resilience It provides critical contributions from leading authors in the field and captures both key theoretical debates around the meaning of resilience its conceptual framing and utility as well as empirical interrogation of its key determinants in different international contexts

Impacts of European Territorial Policies in the Baltic States Garri Raagmaa, Dominic Stead, 2017-10-02 Urban and regional development in the Baltic States and other Central and Eastern European countries has experienced rapid changes since their re independence at the beginning of the 1990s Meanwhile urban and regional planning institutions and organizational cultures in the Baltic States have only changed rather incrementally despite various national and European pressures for reform As a consequence the effects of European cohesion and structural policy measures have been quite modest and the ability of the planning systems in the Baltic states to manage contemporary trends in urban and regional development has become increasingly limited This book focuses on these issues and tensions of spatial planning and development in the Baltic States and their distinctiveness compared to other European countries It provides an overview of the historical and cultural context of spatial development a discussion of the processes of Europeanization of spatial planning in the specific context of the Baltic States and an analysis of whether these processes may be leading to policy convergence in the region This book was published as a special issue of European Planning Studies economic aspects it appeals to scholars in the field of economics and finance interested in the further economic development of the Balkans and Eastern European countries as well as to professionals in the financial and insurance sectors

The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government
