Innovation, Regional Development and the Life Sciences Kean Birch, 2016-10-14 The life sciences is an industrial sector that covers the development of biological products and the use of biological processes in the production of goods services and energy This sector is frequently presented as a major opportunity for policy makers to upgrade and renew regional economies leading to social and economic development through support for high tech innovation Innovation Regional Development and the Life Sciences analyses where innovation happens in the life sciences why it happens in those places and what this means for regional development policies and strategies Focusing on the UK and Europe its arguments are relevant to a variety of countries and regions pursuing high tech innovation and development policies The book's theoretical approach incorporates diverse geographies e.g. global national and regional and political economic forces e.g. discourses governance and finance in order to understand where innovation happens in the life sciences where and how value circulates in the life sciences and who captures the value produced in life sciences innovation This book will be of interest to researchers students and policy makers dealing with regional local economic development

Re-framing Regional Development Philip Cooke, 2013-01-17 Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re-frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice Inward Investment, Business Finance and Regional Development Stephen Hill, Brian Morgan, 1998-07-13 This collection of papers arises from two major international conferences on inward investment and regional development and the role of accumulated capital in regional business development The papers cover a wide spectrum of development and finance issues with the common theme that capital flows can have a substantial impact on regional development Optimizing Regional Development Through Transformative Urbanization Benna, Umar G., 2018-08-10 Assisted by globalization and the rapid application of advanced technologies the transformative power of urbanization is being felt around the world The scale and the speed of existing and projected urbanization poses several challenges to researchers in multiple disciplines such as computer science engineering and the social sciences Optimizing Regional Development Through Transformative Urbanization provides emerging research exploring the theoretical and practical aspects of applications within urban growth interventions It also explores the strategies for new urban development tools such as the rise of new platforms for digital activities concepts of sharing economy collaborative economy crowdsourcing and crowdfunding Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as cryptocurrencies public private partnership and urban governance this book is a vital reference for city development planners decision makers policymakers academicians researchers and professionals seeking current research on the delivery of transformative urbanization changes

Thompson,2007-08-07 With contributions from leading academics and practitioners Strategic Planning for Regional Development in the UK is the most up to date treatment of a fast changing subject The book discusses The evolution of regional planning in the UK and the strategic thinking involved The spatial implications of regional economic development policies The methods and techniques needed for the implementation of strategic planning for regional development How strategic planning for regional development is currently put into practice in three UK regions with different priorities Strategic Planning for Regional Development in the UK is essential reading for students and academics working within strategic and regional planning and provides policy makers and practitioners with a comprehensive and thought provoking introduction to this critically important emerging field Vector Calculus in Regional Development Analysis Kesra

Nermend,2009-04-29 Methods used for regional development analysis are employed mainly to make forecasts and comparisons Forecasting models of various types e g econometric models are usually used for forecasting Recently vector autoregressive models VAR have become popular These models were proposed by Sims in 1980 On the contrary taxonomic methods that are in the center of attention as far as the present publication is concerned are most often employed to make comparisons Linear ordering methods including standard methods are the most popular among taxonomic methods They are based on different distance and similarity measures which leads to the fact that they do not always provide reliable information When for example one construes the standard for a base year and then compares it with data for other years it may turn out that the measure determined will have worse values than the standard for a real object region micro region although this object is better from the standard Hence one must look for new methods employed in regional development analysis or improve hitherto existing ones in such a way so that information obtained reflects the reality to a larger extent The main aim of the present publication is to work out methodological basis for regional development analysis based on vector calculus together with assumptions about computer system supporting the implementation of the method suggested
