Ibss: Political Science: 1994 British Library of Political and Economic Science at the London School of Economics, 1995-12-08 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences

Developing locally Beer, Andrew, Haughton, Graham, 2003-11-26 Throughout the developed world governments have invested substantial sums in local and regional economic development Many have spent heavily on local development agencies and strategies to bolster competitiveness within world markets What has been the impact of these actions How effective are the strategies and processes employed by development agencies How well funded are development efforts in one nation compared to another and how are their objectives defined This book addresses these questions It explores the impact and functioning of economic development agencies makes a unique contribution to the emerging literature on economic development agencies by reporting on the results of a cross national survey of economic development practitioners compares the institutional architectures of economic development in Australia England the United States and Northern Ireland analyses how these institutional arrangements affect individual agencies and their regions This book is intended for a wide audience including economic development practitioners local government officers officials within national or state governments and academics It provides the reader with a greater appreciation of how local and regional economic development systems operate in different economies and aids understanding of what makes the economic development system in each nation unique It challenges ideas about the uniformity of economic development efforts and encourages practitioners and policy makers to experiment with and explore strategies used elsewhere

Consumer Services and Economic Development Colin C. Williams, 1997 Consumer Services and Economic Development evaluates the role of consumer services as motors for local economic development in contemporary advanced economies The contributions that specific consumer service industries are making to local economic development are analysed Tourism sports universities retailing and the cultural industries are each examined in turn Following this the roles that the consumer services sector are playing in economic regeneration are investigated in a number of different contexts a global city several contrasting urban areas and a rural locality In each case whether consumer services have taken a lead or supportive role in local economic development is surveyed and their effectiveness in promoting economic regeneration is evaluated This book dispels the common myth that consumer services are residual activities dependent upon other economic sectors for their vitality and viability Providing a comprehensive overview and evaluation of the contributions of the consumer services sector to economic development this book reveals the need for a fundamental reconceptualization of both the function of services in particular and economic development theory and practice more generally

Developing Locally , Reinventing a Region Graham Haughton, David Whitney, 1994 This text deals with the changing economy of West Yorkshire as its industrial base

diminishes It examines the effects of local initiative urban development and environmental planning on the area and looks to the future with the implications of the Single European Market International Bibliography of Economics 1994 British Library of Political and Economic Science at the London School of Economics,1995 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institutions whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences Conceptions of Space and Place in Strategic Spatial Planning Simin Davoudi,Ian Strange,2008-11-24 Bringing together authors from academia and practice this book examines spatial planning at different places throughout the British Isles Six illustrative case studies of practice examine which conceptions of space and place have been articulated presented and visualized through the production of spatial strategies Ranging from a large conurbation London to regional Yorkshire and Humber and national levels the case studies give a rounded and grounded view of the physical results and the theory behind them While there is widespread support for re orienting planning towards space and place there has been little common understanding about what constitutes spatial planning and what conceptions of space and place underpin it This book addresses these questions and stimulates debate and critical thinking about space and place among academic and professional planners Reclaiming the City Andy Coupland,2005-10-05 This is a book based on a research project taking a critical look at mixed use development It examines the history and development of land use zoning The Town Planning Review Patrick Abercrombie,1999 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1995 Urban Nightscapes Paul Chatterton,Robert Hollands,2003-09-02 In many western cities urban nightlife is experiencing a McDonaldisation where big branded names are taking over large parts of downtown areas leaving consumers with an increasingly standardised experience This book takes a new look at this rapidly changing aspect of urban life examining the relationships between young adults nightlife and city spaces It focuses on what the authors call urban nightscapes both mainstream and alternative youthful cultural activities in bars pubs night clubs and music venues which occur against a backdrop of increasing corporate influence in the night time economy

Bibliographie Internationale de Science Politique ,1994 Urban Regeneration in the UK Andrew Tallon,2009-08-21 Exploring the streets of London Manchester Belfast Edinburgh or Cardiff one cannot help but notice the striking transformations taking place in the urban landscapes This prominent regeneration of urban areas in the UK and around the world has become an increasingly important issue amongst governments and populations The growing concern has been a result of the impacts of the decline of cities since the collapse of manufacturing industries and the heightening of global competition A range of innovative approaches to tackle urban problems have been taken over many decades to attempt to regenerate the fortunes of towns and cities across the UK This text provides an accessible yet critical synthesis of urban regeneration in the UK incorporating key policies approaches issues and debates The central objective of the book is to place the historical and contemporary regeneration agenda into context Section one sets up the conceptual and policy framework for urban regeneration in the UK Section Two traces policies that have been adopted by central government to influence the social economic and physical development of cities including early municipal interventions in the late nineteenth century community focused urban policies of the late 1960s entrepreneurial property led regeneration of the 1980s and competition for urban funds in the 1990s The penultimate section illustrates the key thematic policies and strategies that have been pursued by cities themselves focusing particularly on improving economic competitiveness and tackling social disadvantage These approaches are contextualized by discussions covering for example urban competitiveness policies and the focus on sustainable urban regeneration The final section summarizes key issues and debates facing urban regeneration and speculates upon future directions Urban Regeneration in the UK blends the approaches taken by central government programmes and cities themselves in the regeneration process The latest ideas and examples from across disciplines and across the UK s urban areas are illustrated This book provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis that will fill a significant gap in the current literature on regeneration and will be a tool for students as well as a seminal read for practitioners and researchers
