Raymond Carver in the Classroom Susanne Rubenstein,2005 Provides biographical information detailed discussion of certain short stories and poems and innovative activities for students Mobile Teachers, Teacher Identity and International Schooling Ruth Arber,Jill Blackmore,Athena Vongalis-Macrow,2015-01-19 Mobile Teachers Teacher Identity and International Schooling focuses on the increased mobility of teachers and curriculum and what it means for the expansion of international schooling In the early 21st century educational institutions have been transformed by technological innovation and global interconnectivity The demographic ideological economic and cultural flows that integrate local and global interconnections have consequences for the ways in which educational policy theories and practice can be understood and take place locally The everyday lives of practitioners parents and students the institutions in which they are educated and work and the sociocultural and ideological contexts in which they work are all consequently changing The manifestation of these changes as evident in the work and lives of teachers within specific cultural contexts and education systems in their implications for educational theory and methodology and their consequences for policy programs practice and research in education are the focus of this book This book explores the mobility of curriculum pedagogies ideas and people that represent and mediate the impact of Global uneven flows and movements through in and for school education and the concepts and practices which frame that transformation The particular focus of the book is on how these flows inform the ways individuals negotiate their identities cultures and languages in different national and educational contexts Education systems and the educational experiences offered by schools are being reconfigured due to multiple pressures What do these moves to mobilise and to work transnationally mean in terms of educational provision possibilities and practice

Reinventing Pedagogy of the Oppressed James D. Kirylo,2020-04-30 Since its publication in 1968 Paulo Freire s Pedagogy of the Oppressed has maintained its relevance well into the 21st century This book showcases the multitude of ways in which Freire s most celebrated work is being reinvented by contemporary educators activists teachers and researchers The chapters cover topics such as spirituality teacher identity and education critical race theory post truth academic tenure prison education LGBTQ educators critical pedagogy posthumanism and indigenous education There are also chapters which explore Freire s work in relation to W E B Du Bois Myles Horton Martin Luther King Jr and Simone de Beauvoir Written by leading first and second generation Freirean scholars the book includes a foreword by Ira Shor and an afterword by Antonia Darder Reframing Discussions Michael B. Sherry,2010 Recitations and discussions are two types of interactions which have long been of interest to researchers who study classroom discourse in secondary English and Social Studies According to research teachers control the discourse during recitations through inauthentic questions requiring pre specified answers In contrast discussions involve shared control and include authentic questions allowing multiple interpretations This research has described recitations and discussions as opposites Moreover recitations and discussions have primarily been distinguished by who speaks and how many answers are possible In defining these interactions in terms of stable categories and a multiplicity of voices and interpretations little attention has been paid to dynamic relationships created through discourse during these interactions If recitations appear to be so persistent how might they be reframed as discussions through negotiation of the roles relationships and responses that are possible and appropriate in an interaction If discussions involve not only expressing multiple opinions but also engaging with texts and responding to others perspectives how do speakers relate their experiences to the topic and build on others contributions My dissertation addressed discussions in terms of dynamic discursive relationships through sociolinguistic discourse analysis of field notes class transcripts written reflections and interviews on 28 lessons over one year in an urban 10th grade English class a suburban 9th grade Social Studies class and a rural 12th grade Composition class Based on this research I make the following claims Recitations and discussions are not stable discourse patterns determined by individual speakers or individual turns in conversation In contrast with prior English and Social Studies education research the teacher s intended purpose did not necessarily determine the nature of the interaction and inauthentic authentic questions were not necessarily indicators of recitations discussions Rather the discourse seemed to depend on how the interactional frame could be re negotiated among teacher and students Recitations were reframed as discussions by relating students to the topic through animation and by relating different opinions to each other via double voicing Animation that cast students as figures in a historical literary event reframed recitations as discussions by describing the topic as one with which students could identify This finding adds to English and Social Studies education research on how envisionment of story worlds can increase students comprehension engagement and on how imagining themselves into events can increase students empathy authority Double voicing students comments reframed recitations as discussions by repeating what others had said in ways that provoked debate This finding adds to English and Social Studies education research on how asking questions about what others have just said can contribute to discussion and on how interpretive questions encourage debate Discussions can depend on the framing of other classroom interactions Activities that preceded and followed discussions in these data shaped the frame for discussions The framing of similar activities among teacher and students during previous classes shaped the frame for discussions Repeated renegotiation of the frame led to emergence of genres or types of discussions The dissertation citations contained here are published with the permission of ProQuest llc Further reproduction is prohibited without permission Copies of dissertations may be obtained by Telephone 800 1 800 521 0600 Web page <http://www.proquest.com/en> US products dissertations
