

What Is a Relapse Prevention Plan?

A relapse prevention plan helps individuals outline their risk factors for relapse, coping skills, and support networks. A detailed plan explains how to deal with cravings and could include specific coping mechanisms, like deep breathing exercises, mantras, and relaxing postures. Some may choose to list emergency contacts who can provide support when necessary.

for how I could live freely for the rest of my life if I chose to. It required hard work reframing a lot of old ideas about who I was, what happened, and how I could be at peace with myself and the world around me. This program was developed to reinforce the individual's efforts to continue on their road through recovery. It should only be administered in group individual counseling sessions. It is very intensive and should be in a very supportive environment. It will probably open memories that have been subdued by chemical use and lifestyles that cover up the pain of their past losses, neglect, and abuse. This approach can allow a person to discover their own value and potential as individuals and as healthy members of society. They will learn to recognize life's opportunities and challenges. They will also be able to identify and come to terms with their personal strengths and weaknesses. They will develop the tools to deal with life on life's terms if they are committed to their personal growth. The individual must be committed to change and growth if it is to work. They will need to be able to accept help from others when offered and develop an attitude of humility and empathy toward self and others. If a person surrounds themselves with healthy support, they have every chance to make the changes needed for a life of freedom and lifelong recovery.
