Hudson,2013 This book explores the relationship between ethics aesthetics and religion in classical Indian literature and literary theory by focusing on one of the most celebrated and enigmatic texts to emerge from the Sanskrit epic tradition the Mahabharata This text which is widely acknowledged to be one of the most important sources for the study of South Asian religious social and political thought is a foundational text of the Hindu tradition s and considered to be a major transmitter of dharma moral social and religious duty perhaps the single most important concept in the history of Indian religions However in spite of two centuries of Euro American scholarship on the epic basic questions concerning precisely how the epic is communicating its ideas about dharma and precisely what it is saying about it are still being explored Disorienting Dharma brings to bear a variety of interpretive lenses Sanskrit literary theory reader response theory and narrative ethics to examine these issues One of the first book length studies to explore the subject from the lens of Indian aesthetics it argues that such a perspective yields startling new insights into the nature of the depiction of dharma in the epic through bringing to light one of the principle narrative tensions of the epic the vexed relationship between dharma and suffering In addition it seeks to make the Mahabharata interesting and accessible to a wider audience by demonstrating how reading the Mahabharata perhaps the most harrowing story in world literature is a fascinating disorienting and ultimately transformative experience

Krsna and Christ Steven Tsoukalas,2011-09-01 This work compares the Krsnavatara Krsna in his avatara doctrines of Sankara and Ramanuja and the incarnation of Christ as represented by classical Christian orthodoxy and draws out comparative theological and soteriological implications It does so first by examining the epistemologies theologies and world views of Sankara and Ramanuja and the theology and world view of classical Christian orthodoxy so that second an adequate foundation and subsequent thorough representation of avatara and incarnation might be accomplished in order that third accurate comparisons may be drawn between avatara and incarnation The result of this study is a demonstration that many of the popularly held similarities between avatara and incarnation are superficial and that therefore careful consideration of epistemologies and ontologies should be undertaken when comparing theologies and soteriologies pertinent to avatara and incarnation

Educating Character Through Stories David Carr, Tom Harrison, 2015-01-14 What could be the point of teaching such works of bygone cultural and literary inheritance as Cervantes Don Quixote and Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice in schools today This book argues that the narratives and stories of such works are of neglected significance and value for contemporary understanding of human moral association and character However in addition to offering detailed analysis of the moral educational potential of these and other texts the present work reports on a pioneering project recently pursued by the Jubilee Centre for Character and Virtues concerned precisely with the use of these and other stories for moral and character education in schools The success of the Knightly Virtues project is an inspiring story in its own right and should therefore be of enormous interest to all schools teachers and parents rightly concerned with this all important aspect of their children's educational development
