Relays Literature As An Epoch Of The Postal System:

Relays Bernhard Siegert, 1999 This book examines how one aspect of the social and technological situation of literature namely the postal system determined how literature was produced and what was produced within literature Language itself has the structure of a relay where what is transmitted depends on a prior withholding The social arrangements and technologies for achieving this transmission thus have had a particularly powerful impact on the imagination of literature as a medium The book has three parts The first part reconstructs the postal conditions of classic and Romantic literature the invention of postage in the seventeenth century which transformed the postal system into a service meant to be used by the population instead of by the prince alone the sexualization of letter writing which was introduced in the middle of the eighteenth century and changed the reading of a letter into an interpretation of intimate confessions of the soul and Goethe's turning of this new ontology of the letter into a logistics of literature whereby literary authorship was constructed by means of postal logistics with the precision of engineering The second part analyzes nineteenth century postal innovations that facilitated communication through letters and examines how literary works were able to live off such communication These innovations included the reform of the post office the invention of the postage stamp the Universal Postal Union which subjected letter writing to an economy of materials and uniform standards and the telegraph and the telephone which surpassed literature in terms of speed economy and analog signal processing In the third part on the basis of a close reading of Franz Kafka's letters to his typist fiance the author demonstrates how postal logistics of love and authorship have worked in the era of modern postal systems and technical media Kafka's correspondence is deciphered as a war of nerves waged by means of all available techniques and conditions of transmission Information Ann Blair, Paul Duguid, Anja-Silvia Goeing, Anthony Grafton, 2021-01-26 Information technology shapes nearly every part of modern life and debates about information its meaning effects and applications are central to a range of fields from economics technology and politics to library science media studies and cultural studies This rich unique resource traces the history of information with an approach designed to draw connections across fields and perspectives and provide essential context for our current age of information Clear accessible and authoritative the book opens with a series of articles that provide a narrative history of information from premodern practices to twenty first century information culture This section focuses on major developments in the creation storage search exchange management and manipulation of information as well as the many meanings and uses of information over time Coverage spans Europe North America and many other places and periods including the medieval Islamic world and early modern East Asia as well as the emergence of global networks A second alphabetical section includes more than 100 concise articles that cover specific concepts e g data intellectual property privacy formats and genres books databases maps newspapers scrolls social media people archivists diplomats and spies readers secretaries teachers practices censorship forecasting learning surveilling translating processes digitization exciting readings of familiar authors such as Scott Byron Dickens and Gaskell Rather than offering a rarefied intellectual history or chopping up the period into Romantic and Victorian Clare Pettitt tracks the development of communications technologies and their impact on the ways in which time history and virtuality are imagined Time Machines Richard Taws, 2025-01-21 A riveting exploration of the relationship between art and telegraphy and its implications for understanding time and history in nineteenth century France In Time Machines Richard Taws examines the relationship between art and telegraphy in the decades following the French Revolution The optical telegraph was a novel form of visual communication developed in the 1790s that remained in use until the mid 1850s This pre electric telegraph based on a semaphore code irrevocably changed the media landscape of nineteenth century France Although now largely forgotten in its day it covered vast distances and changed the way people thought about time It also shaped and was shaped by a proliferating world of images What happens Taws asks if we think about art telegraphically Placed on prominent buildings across France for several years there was one on top of the Louvre the telegraph s waving limbs were a ubiquitous sight shifting how public space was experienced and represented The system was depicted by a wide range of artists who were variously amused appalled irritated or seduced by the telegraph s intractable coded messages and the uncanny environmental and perceptual disruption it caused Clouds architecture landscapes and gestures all signified differently in the era of telegraphy and the telegraph became a powerful means to comprehend France's technological and political past While Paris's famous arcades began to crisscross the city at ground level a more enigmatic network was operating above Shifting attention from the streets to the skies this book shows how modern France took shape guite literally under the telegraph s sign Software. Infrastructure, Labor Ned Rossiter, 2016-06-23 Infrastructure makes worlds Software coordinates labor Logistics governs movement These pillars of contemporary capitalism correspond with the materiality of digital communication systems on a planetary scale Ned Rossiter theorizes the force of logistical media to discern how subjectivity and labor economy and society are tied to the logistical imaginary of seamless interoperability Contingency haunts logistical power Technologies of capture are prone to infrastructural breakdown sabotage and failure Strategies of evasion anonymity and disruption unsettle regimes of calculation and containment We live in a computational age where media again disappear into the background as infrastructure Software Infrastructure Labor intercuts transdisciplinary theoretical reflection with empirical encounters ranging from the Cold War legacy of cybernetics shipping ports in China and Greece the territoriality of data centers video game design and scrap metal economies in the e waste industry Rossiter argues that infrastructural ruins serve as resources for the collective design of blueprints and prototypes demanded of radical politics today Networks of Modernity Jean-Michel Johnston, 2021 Networks of Modernity Germany in the Age of the Telegraph 1830 1880 investigates the origins and impact of the communications revolution in nineteenth century Germany focusing on one of the most transformative technologies of the period the electric telegraph Lingua Ex Machina Ido Ramati, 2025-02-11 An investigation of the connections between the parallel rise of modern Hebrew and modern media After lying dormant for two millennia as a mainly written language Hebrew awoke from its literary slumber to become a living modern vernacular This revitalization is unique and unprecedented in world history and its success has been studied in fields from linguistics to cultural history However the role of modern technologies in mediating this revival has not yet been considered What happens when an ancient language meets modern technology Lingua Ex Machina explores such a moment in its investigation of the role media technologies including typewriters phonographs and computers played in the revitalization and modernization of Hebrew from the end of the nineteenth century into the present day Ido Ramati examines the role sound recording technologies played in shaping the reemergence of modern Hebrew speech reveals how the Hebraized typewriter pushed for the modernization of writing in Hebrew and ultimately argues that these media whose development and adoption paralleled the revitalization of Hebrew were an active force in shaping the language as a modern communicative medium This case study of Hebrew furnishes researchers with a rare opportunity to investigate the complex relation between language its speakers and technology at a decisive moment and sheds new light on the study of media technologies and their theoretical lingual and social implications

Miscommunications Timothy Barker, Maria Korolkova, 2021-01-14 What happens when communication breaks down Is it the condition for mistakes and errors that is characteristic of digital culture And if mistakes and errors have a certain power what stands behind it To address these questions this collection assembles a range of cutting edge philosophical socio political art historical and media theoretical inquiries that address contemporary culture as a terrain of miscommunication If the period since the industrial revolution can be thought of as marked by the realisation of the possibilities for global communication in terms of the telephone telegraph television and finally the internet Miscommunications shows that to think about the contemporary historical moment a new history and theory of these devices needs to be written one which illustrates the emergence of the current cultures of miscommunication and the powers of the false The essays in the book chart the new conditions for discourse in the 21st century and collectively show how studies of communication can be refigured when we focus on the capacity for errors accidents mistakes malfunctions and both intentional and non intentional Strange Cocktail Adriana X. Jacobs, 2018-07-23 For centuries poets have turned to translation for miscommunications creative inspiration Through and in translation poets have introduced new poetic styles languages and forms into their own writing sometimes changing the course of literary history in the process Strange Cocktail is the first comprehensive study of this phenomenon in modern Hebrew literature of the late nineteenth century to the present day Its chapters on Esther Raab Leah Goldberg Avot Yeshurun and Harold Schimmel offer close readings that examine the distinct poetics of translation that emerge from reciprocal practices of writing and translating Working in a minor literary vernacular the translation strategies that these poets employed allowed them to create and participate in transnational and multilingual poetic networks Strange Cocktail thereby advances a comparative and multilingual reframing of modern Hebrew literature that considers how canons change and are undone when translation occupies a central position how lines of influence and affiliation are redrawn and literary historiographies are revised when the work of translation occupies the same status as an original text when translating and writing go hand in hand Book Presence in a Digital Age Kiene Brillenburg Wurth, Kári Driscoll, Jessica Pressman, 2018-06-28 Contrary to the apocalyptic pronouncements of paper media s imminent demise in the digital age there has been a veritable surge of creative reimaginings of books as bearers of the literary From typographic experiments Mark Z Danielewski s House of Leaves Steven Hall s The Raw Shark Texts to accordion books Anne Carson s Nox from cut ups Jonathan Safran Foer's Tree of Codes to collages Graham Rawle's Woman's World from erasures Mary Ruefle's A Little White Shadow to mixups Simon Morris s The Interpretations of Dreams print literature has gone through anything but a slow inevitable death In fact it has re invented itself materially Starting from this idea of media plurality Book Presence in a Digital Age explores the resilience of print literatures book art and zines in the late age of print from a contemporary perspective while incorporating longer term views on media archeology and media change Even as it focuses on the materiality of books and literary writing in the present Book Presence also takes into consideration earlier 20th century moments of media transition developing the concepts of presence and materiality as analytical tools to perform literary criticism in a digital age Bringing together leading scholars artists and publishers Book Presence in a Digital Age offers a variety of perspectives on the past present and future of the book as medium the complex relationship of materiality to virtuality and of the analog to the digital Charles Dickens's Networks Jonathan H. Grossman, 2012-03 The same week in February 1836 that Charles Dickens was hired to write his first novel The Pickwick Papers the first railway line in London opened Charles Dickens s Networks explores the rise of the global high speed passenger transport network in the nineteenth century and the indelible impact it made on Dickens's work. The advent first of stage coaches then of railways and transoceanic steam ships made unprecedented round trip journeys across once seemingly far distances seem ordinary and systematic Time itself was changed The Victorians overran the separate local times kept in each town establishing instead the synchronized standard time which now ticks on our clocks Jonathan Grossman examines the history of public transport s systematic networking of people and how this revolutionized perceptions of time space and community and how the art form of the novel played a special role in synthesizing and understanding it all Focusing on a trio of road novels by Charles Dickens he looks first at a key historical moment in the networked community s coming together then at a subsequent recognition of its tragic limits and finally at the construction of a revised view that expressed the precarious limited omniscient perspective by which passengers came to imagine their journeying in the network Privacy David Vincent, 2016-02-29 Privacy A Short History provides a vital historical account of an increasingly stressed sphere of human interaction At a time when the death of privacy is widely proclaimed distinguished historian David Vincent describes the evolution of the concept and practice of privacy from the Middle Ages to the present controversy over digital communication
