Insight Turkey 2015 - Spring 2015 (Vol. 17, No. 2) , Energy security at the heart of energy policy has become central to the dynamics of international relations Political turmoil has overwhelmed many oil and gas producing countries forcing them to adapt their national energy policies according to this continuous change Specifically because of the wars and instability in the Middle East and the Ukrainian crisis global energy security is no longer guaranteed One of the foremost experts on the energy industry Daniel Yergin identifies energy security as the availability of sufficient supplies at affordable prices He also comments that every country interprets the definition of energy security with its own dynamics In practice the definition of energy security is polysemic and the topic of energy security is being explored daily under the lens of numerous new studies by scholars energy experts government officials activists and journalists The Vulnerable Country Tom Conley,2009 Australia was born vulnerable From its beginnings as a precarious convict settlement on the other side of the world through

Social Development in Asia Kwong-leung Tang, 2000-05-31 Most Asian countries have shown a strong commitment to rapid economic development Economists have argued that the fruits from economic development will be spread equitably throughout the population In the absence of a strong tradition of social rights social development in Asia has long been taken for granted This collection documents social development in the Asian countries of China Hong Kong Taiwan South Korea Thailand and India and concludes that social development has lagged behind economic development This has given rise to distorted development in many countries Serious development problems of poverty and inequalities have lingered even in these economically advanced countries of Hong Kong Taiwan and Singapore These problems have been exacerbated in the wake of the Asian economic crisis In order to harmonize social development with economic growth Asian states ought to be more proactive in their development agendas As a text on social development in Asia this book is primarily intended for practitioners and students of social work social administration and social policy It is also relevant for students and practitioners of sociology economics and public policy

Language, Nation and Development in Southeast Asia Lee Hock Guan, 2003-08-01 Language policies in Southeast Asia have been shaped by the process of nation building on the one hand and by political and economic considerations on the other The early years of nation building in Southeast Asia generated intensive language conflicts precisely because state policies privileged the idea of a monolingual nation and thus endeavoured to co opt or even do away with troublesome ethnic identities In recent years language policies are increasingly influenced by pragmatic considerations especially globalization and the awareness of a linkage between language and economic development such that Southeast Asian states in varying degrees have become less insistent on promoting monolingual nationalism This book evaluates the successes and drawbacks of language policies in Indonesia Malaysia Singapore the Philippines Thailand Vietnam and Myanmar especially the ways in which these policies have often been resisted or contested It is an invaluable primer on this linguistically complex region and a resource for scholars policy makers civil society activists and NGOs in various parts of the world facing equally challenging ethnic language issues

Globalisation, Human Rights and Labour Law in Pacific Asia Anthony Woodiwiss, 1998-04-30 Anthony Woodiwiss's pathbreaking book was the first substantive contribution to a sociology of human rights In it he takes up the question of whether so called Asian values are compatible with human rights discourse and argues against human rights issues being the major obstacle to East West co operation Dr Woodiwiss's sociological and post structuralist approach to the concept of rights and his incorporation of the transnational dimension into sociological theory enable him to demonstrate how the global human rights regime can accommodate Asian patriarchalism while Pacific Asia is itself adapting by means of what he calls enforceable benevolence His studies of Hong Kong the Philippines Malaysia and Singapore highlight similarities between Pacific Asian and Western societies and offer a positive view of the social forces obtaining in these territories

Governance in the Asia-Pacific David Goldblatt, Richard Maidment, Jeremy Mitchell, 2005-06-27 IGovernance in the Asia Pacific is a student friendly textbook which examines the governance of nation states in this diverse and rapidly changing region It sets out the range of political beliefs and styles that flourish and the similarities and differences between individual states and the ways in which they choose to govern Wide ranging in scope and clearly written to help students get to the bottom of important issues the book addresses many key areas including the Anglo American powers Japan independence movements the politics of economic development social movements the politics of the environment the pressures for political change in the region And these issues are all analysed within the broad context of governance in the Asia Pacific more generally The authors also identify factors which explain the political underpinning of the dramatic economic development in the region House of Glass Yao Souchou, 2000-12-31 Drawing on critical theory and post modernism this book argues for a new strategy for writing about the social and cultural experiences of living in modern Southeast Asian states Contributors many of whom work in universities in the region question the processes of cultural transformation under conditions of globalization and rapid economic and political change By paying attention to the specificity of what is taking place in the particular state the book questions the conventional narratives of developmentalism and state sponsored national peace as they are understood in Southeast Asia and shows how such understanding can be made and unmade Chinese Business in Southeast Asia Terence E. Gomez, Hsin-Huang Michael Hsiao, 2013-12-19 Presents empirical findings from different South East Asian countries to demonstrate that Chinese businessmen employ a variety of strategies in their networking entrepreneurship and organisational and firm development and concludes that much more research is needed in order to provide a full understanding of Chinese business success Dynamic Asia Ian G. geography and beyond In line with these previous themes the significance of space in the production of cultural values and expressions is also developed Along with its timely examination of the health of the cultural geographical subdiscipline this book is to be valued for its analysis of the impact of cultural theory on studies elsewhere in geography and of ideas of space and spatiality elsewhere in the social sciences

Media, Sport, Nationalism Tianwei Ren, Keiko Ikeda, Chang Wan Woo, 2019-03-01 East Asia is increasingly prominent within global sport In the short period between 2018 and 2022 it will have held two Winter and one Summer Olympics and the Rugby World Cup for good measure This is not a sudden development It has been in train for some time although many scholars especially in Europe and North America have been focussed primarily on sport in their own countries and regions J A Mangan who for decades has been looking closely at sport in East Asia while encouraging others to do likewise has made a major contribution to knowledge and understanding of a once under appreciated subject This excellent collection in his honour analyses the key interwoven elements of sport media and nation in China Japan and South Korea It demonstrates how the structure and practice of sport connects in myriad ways with its representation not least with regard to national narratives international rivalries and transnational trends It is a book that does signal justice both to East Asian Studies and to the academic who recognised the importance of sport to that field and who has done so much to ensure that the region is centrally placed within any contemporary analysis of the world of sport David Rowe Emeritus Professor of Cultural Research Institute for Culture and Society Western Sydney University Professor Mangan is the master dissector of the connections between sport and politics geopolitics and nationalism across multiple Asian contexts A collection of essays in honour of his long service to academic understandings of these fields is well deserved and the editors and contributors to this volume have served up a worthy tribute Showcasing new work by a stellar cast of China Japan and Korea experts in combination the papers collected here yield valuable insights into the issues of nation building identity media representation and sport which have been the subject of Professor Mangan's pioneering work over the past several decades No one has done more to put East Asia on the map in terms of academic research on the manifold socio political dimensions of sport and this superbly constructed volume orchestrated by rising Tianwei Ren confirms that we neglect this fascinating complex region at our peril Jonathan Sullivan Director of China Policy Institute and China Soccer Observatory Associate Professor School of Politics and IR University of Nottingham
