Natural Resistance Systems Against Foreign Cells Tumors And Microbes:

Natural Resistance Systems Against Foreign Cells, Tumors, and Microbes Gustavo Cudkowicz, 2012-12-02 Natural Resistance Systems Against Foreign Cells Tumors and Microbes presents the proceedings of an international conference held at Timber Cove Inn Jenner California on October 18 22 1976 It deals with the resistance to microorganisms and tumors the dual problems of basic immunology and the clinical aspects of immune reconstitution It focuses on the identification and characterization of host defense systems endowed with specificity yet non induced non adaptive and non thymus dependent Divided into 12 chapters the book initially discusses natural resistance to foreign hematopoietic and leukemic grafts It goes on examining the critical issues in clinical bone marrow transplantation and graft versus host GVH disease as a consequence of bone marrow grafting Chapters 5 to 8 discuss the role of macrophage Hh genes major histocompatibility complex and natural killer cell systems in natural resistance to normal and malignant cells The final chapters cover the mechanism of cell s natural resistance to intracellular bacteria genetic resistance to leukomogenesis and manipulations to control the allograft response and GVH disease This book is an invaluable resource for those interested in basic immunology immune reconstitution natural resistance phenomena and GHV disease

Natural Immunity to Normal Hemopoietic Cells Bent Rolstad, M.D., 1993-11-16 Natural Immunity to Normal Hemopoietic Cells presents the first comprehensive compilation of experimental systems theories and views of the mechanisms behind NK cell recognition of normal hemopoietic cells Leading scientists in the field have contributed chapters covering the role of Major Histocompatibility Complex MHC class I antigen expression of target cells in NK cell recognition descriptions of NK allospecificities controlled by the MHC and the role of alloreactive T cells and NK cells in acute bone marrow allograft rejection Controversies between different theories are discussed in a balanced manner to convey a complete picture of the state of the art References give comprehensive updated lists of current and previous research publications on this topic The book is essential for immunologists hematologists clinical bone marrow transplantation researchers and other scientists and students interested in recognition mechanisms of the immune system and the role of the MHC

Carcinogenesis Abstracts, 1979 Natural and Induced Cell-Mediated Cytotoxicity Gert Riethmüller, Peter Wernet, Gustavo Cudkowicz, 2014-06-28 Natural and Induced Cell Mediated Cytotoxicity Effector and Regulatory Mechanisms contains the proceedings of the Erwin Riesch Symposium organized on the occasion of the Fifth Centennial of the University of Tübingen in Germany on October 20 23 1977 The symposium provided a forum for reviewing the progress that has been made in understanding the effector and regulatory mechanisms underlying natural and induced cell mediated cytotoxicity Topics covered range from the immunobiology of natural killer cells to the role of macrophages as regulator accessory and effector cells in cytotoxicity Comprised of 27 chapters this book begins by analyzing the characteristics of natural cytotoxic cells in mice followed by a discussion on the generation in vivo of mouse natural cytotoxic cells and the role of cytotoxic T cells in the local defense against solid tumors Subsequent chapters focus on the natural cytotoxicity of human lymphocytes opposing effects of interferon on natural killer and target cells susceptibility of cloned melanoma to natural cytotoxicity and cell mediated immunity against avian virus induced tumor cells The book also examines alternative routes of entry for cell surface antigens into the immune system before concluding with a chapter that considers interferon induction by Corynebacterium parvum This monograph should be of value to students researchers and practitioners in the fields of biology and immunology

Functions of the Natural Immune System C.W. Reynolds,R.H. Wilttrout,2013-11-11 Twenty contributions examine a variety of functions reportedly mediated by cells within the natural immune system and review the diverse functional activities of the lymphoid cells Major emphasis is on the reactivity of natural effector cells specifically within the lymphoid populations Annotation

Genetic Control of Natural Resistance to Infection and Malignancy Emil Skamene,2012-12-02 Genetic Control of Natural Resistance to Infection and Malignancy is a collection of papers presented at the 1980 Proceedings of an International Symposium of the Canadian Society for Immunology held in Montreal Quebec It provides information about the different models of genetic resistance to various diseases The book offers an overview of the genetic determination of the susceptibility or resistance to infection and malignancy It also discusses the importance of genetic resistance not only in the first line observation of infections and tumors but also in chemotherapy and immunotherapy It then explains the genetic control of resistance to parasitic bacterial and virus infections as well as to tumor growth It further discusses the genetic control of macrophage differentiation and function

Immunobiology of Parasites and Parasitic Infections John Marchalonis,2012-12-06 The phenomena involved in infections of man and domestic animals with metazoan or protozoan parasites present formidable practical problems as well as a theoretical challenge to immunologists molecular biologists and evolutionary biologists With respect to the public health and economic problems malaria for example remains a major health problem with approximately 200 million people being infected yearly and on the basis of World Health Organization estimates more than 1 million children die each year of malaria infections Chapter 4 This volume addresses state of the art immunologic approaches to the development of vaccines for parasitic diseases Chapter 9 and analyses of studies bearing on the antigenic characterization of protozoan and metazoan parasites Chapters 4 5 and 7 on investigations of the role of precise mechanisms underlying natural resistance or non permissiveness of the host to parasitic infections Chapters 1 2 and 12 on induced mechanisms including the generation of parasite specific T cell lines and clones Chapter 6 and on the generation of monoclonal antibodies Chapters 4 and 5 to parasite antigens of distinct developmental stages Great progress has been made in characterizing parasite antigens capable of inducing a protective response in the vaccinated host further progress in this area strongly depends on biochemistry and molecular biology with the long term goal of synthesizing such antigens chemically or producing them by means of recombinant DNA technology Chapter 4

Immunobiology Of Natural Killer Cells Eva Lotzova,Ronald B. Herberman,2019-07-23 First published in 1986 This book contributes to the advancing knowledge of reads in the field of NK cells and will be helpful as a teaching device Journal of the National Cancer Institute ,1983 Advances in Immunology ,1987-11-10 Advances in Immunology JNCI, Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.),1983 Cytolytic Lymphocytes and Complement Effectors of the Immune System Eckhard R. Podack,2018-01-18 These volumes Cytolytic Lymphocytes and Complement Effectors of the Immune System originate from the realization that pathways of recognition and killings of foreign targets follow similar routes in the humoral and cellular part of the immune system In particular the homology of immunoglobins with the T cell MHC antigen receptor at the beginning of the recognition sequence and the homology of complement component C9 with lymphocyte perforin 1 P1 as pore formers at the end of the effector sequence are striking examples Genetic and Phenotypic Markers of Tumors Stuart A. Aaronson,2012-12-06 The study of tumor markers is not only one of the most important but also one that offers one of the richest perspectives in biology and clinical oncology The aim of scientists in this field is to adduce evidence of a property that is typical of and exclusive to tumor cells and which is easy to determine in order to immediately recognize or even better to foresee neoplastic transformations Unfortunately despite the large number of scientists and laboratories engaged in this work the ideal tumor marker has not yet been identified However it is worth noting that new trends in molecular biology and immunovirology have recently opened up new avenues that may lead to the eventual resolution of this problem In this book different approaches to the identification of tumor markers from the points of view of biochemistry immunology and molecular biology are compared in order to explore possible interrelationships and to stimulate scientific collaboration among scientists active in these fields both in basic research and in clinical applications We wish to thank all the contributors and also the publisher especially Dr Robert Andrews for making the publication of this book possible Natural Cell-mediated Immunity Against Tumors Ronald B. Herberman,1980 Natural Cell Mediated Immunity Against Tumors aims to be the first book to provide a comprehensive discussion on natural cell mediated immunity against tumors This book is mostly a collection of different research contributed by leading laboratories It also presents a better perspective of how natural mechanisms fit in with and relate to the traditional and more extensively studied components of the immune system The book starts off with an overview of the contents of the volume the historical development of the advances in the field of research and the status of knowledge in the subject Advances in Cancer Research ,1980-07-02 Advances in Cancer Research Mechanisms of Cytotoxicity by NK Cells Ronald Herberman,2012-12-02 Mechanisms of Cytotoxicity by NK Cells is the resulting book of a workshop focused on the studies that enhance understanding of the basic mechanisms involved in the function and regulation of NK cells The book presents the status of knowledge of the mechanisms responsible for the cytotoxic effects of NK cells and the regulation of their activity The text is further divided into five major sections according to the sequence of the workshop sessions A separate chapter from the sections has been included at the beginning of the book The introductory chapter clarifies some points in the subject area of NK cells particularly its definition

The heterogeneity of NK cells is also discussed in this chapter Then the book presents the major topics including the purification and characterization of NK cells and NK target structures and recognition sites The mechanisms of postrecognition interactions between NK cells and targets regulation of NK activity and NK cells and cultured cells with NK like activity are also discussed This book will serve as a helpful guide to students and professionals scientists researchers and professors in the fields of immunology biology microbiology biochemistry among others
