Lynn Meskell

Nature Of Hunting:

Going Wild Jan E. Dizard, 1999 First published in 1994 this is an examination of the ways in which different conceptions of nature shape our responses to specific environmental issues In this revised edition Jan E Dizard adds a new chapter updating the controversy over the state managed deer hunt at the Quabbin Reservoir in Massachusetts and placing it in a broader national context

Southern Hunting in Black and White Stuart A. Marks, 1991 For many Southern men living in or close to rural landscapes hunting is a passion But it is not a timeless activity in a cultural void Whether pursuers of fox or raccoon deer or rabbits quail or dove Southern hunters reveal for Stuart Marks complex patterns of male bonding social status and relationships with nature Marks who has written two outstanding books on hunting in Africa was born and has long lived in the South Examining Southern hunting from frontier times through the antebellum era to the present day he shows it to be a litmus test of rural identity Drawing on the latest anthropological theory statistical sources extensive interviews and historical research Marks has crafted a multifaceted account of Southern hunting Relations of race property gender and region appear in fresh guises in this innovative and intriguing study The portrayal of the contemporary state of hunting is especially interesting revealing both the continuities with the past and the new pressures on the sport Virginia Quarterly Review

The Nature of Endangerment in India Ezra Rashkow, 2023-01-30 This book is a study of the concepts of endangerment and extinction Examining interlinking discourses of biological and cultural diversity loss in western and central India it problematizes the long history of human endangerment and extinction discourse

Nature and Nation Jeyamalar Kathirithamby-Wells, 2005-10-31 Nature and Nation explores the relations between people and forests in Peninsular Malaysia where the planet's richest terrestrial eco system met head on with the fastest pace of economic transformation experienced in the tropical world It engages the interplay of history culture science economics and politics to provide a holistic interpretation of the continuing relevance of forests to state and society in the moist tropics Malaysia has long been singled out for emulation by developing nations an accolade contradicted in recent years by concerns over its capital rather than poverty driven forest depletion The Malaysian case supports the call for re appraisal of entrenched prescriptions for development that go beyond material needs Book cover

A View to a Death in the Morning Matt Cartmill, 2009-07-01 A View to a Death in the Morning shows us how hunting has figured in the Western imagination from the myth of Artemis to the tale of Bambi This book will captivate readers on every side of the dilemma from the most avid hunters to their most vehement opponents to those who simply wonder about the importance of hunting in human nature

The Empire of Nature John M. MacKenzie, 2008 This study assesses the significance of the hunting cult as a major element of the imperial experience in Africa and Asia Through a study of the game laws and the beginnings of conservation in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the author demonstrates the racial inequalities which existed between Europeans and indigenous hunters Africans were denied access to game and the development of game reserves and national parks accelerated this process Indigenous hunters in Africa and India were turned into poachers and only Europeans were permitted to hunt In India the hunting of animals became the chief recreation of military officers and civilian officials a source of display and a symbolic dominance of the environment Imperial hunting fed the natural history craze of the day and many hunters collected trophies and specimens for private and public collections as well as contributing to hunting literature John MacKenzie also connects hunting and game conservation to concepts of masculinity attitudes towards diet and the development of western tourism Civilizing Nature Bernhard Gissibl, Sabine Höhler, Patrick Kupper, 2012-11-01 National parks are one of the most important and successful institutions in global environmentalism Since their first designation in the United States in the 1860s and 1870s they have become a global phenomenon The development of these ecological and political systems cannot be understood as a simple reaction to mounting environmental problems nor can it be explained by the spread of environmental sensibilities Shifting the focus from the usual emphasis on national parks in the United States this volume adopts an historical and transnational perspective on the global geography of protected areas and its changes over time It focuses especially on the actors networks mechanisms arenas and institutions responsible for the global spread of the national park and the associated utilization and mobilization of asymmetrical relationships of power and knowledge contributing to scholarly discussions of globalization and the emergence of global environmental institutions and governance

The Nature of Empires and the Empires of Nature Karl S. Hele, 2013-09-28 Drawing on themes from John MacKenzie's Empires of Nature and the Nature of Empires 1997 this book explores from Indigenous or Indigenous influenced perspectives the power of nature and the attempts by empires United States Canada and Britain to control it It also examines contemporary threats to First Nations communities from ongoing political environmental and social issues and the efforts to confront and eliminate these threats to peoples and the environment It becomes apparent that empire despite its manifestations of power cannot control or discipline humans and nature Essays suggest new ways of looking at the Great Lakes watershed and the peoples and empires contained within it The Nature of German Imperialism Bernhard

Gissibl, 2016-07-01 Today the East African state of Tanzania is renowned for wildlife preserves such as the Serengeti National Park the Ngorongoro Conservation Area and the Selous Game Reserve Yet few know that most of these initiatives emerged from decades of German colonial rule This book gives the first full account of Tanzanian wildlife conservation up until World War I focusing upon elephant hunting and the ivory trade as vital factors in a shift from exploitation to preservation that increasingly excluded indigenous Africans Analyzing the formative interactions between colonial governance and the natural world The Nature of German Imperialism situates East African wildlife policies within the global emergence of conservationist sensibilities around 1900 The Nature of Heritage Lynn Meskell, 2011-08-26 The Nature of Heritage The New South Africa is unique in revealing the conflicts inherent in preserving both natural and cultural heritage by examining the archaeological ethnographic and economic evidence of a nation's attempts to master its past and its future Provides a classic example of how nations attempt to overcome a negative heritage through past mastering of their histories Evaluates the continuing dominance of nature and conservation over concerns for cultural heritage Employs ethnographic and archaeological methodologies to reveal how the past is processed into a new national heritage Identifies heritage as therapy exemplified in the strategy for repairing legacies of racial and ethnic difference in post apartheid South Africa Highlights the role of archaeological heritage sites national parks and protected areas in economic development and social empowerment Explores how nature trumps culture and the global implications of the new configurations of heritage
