Freeman, 2020-12 With The Human Animal Earthling Identity Carrie P Freeman asks us to reconsider the devastating division we have created between the human and animal conditions leading to mass exploitation injustice and extinction As a remedy Freeman believes social movements should collectively foster a cultural shift in human identity away from an egoistic anthropocentrism human centered outlook and toward a universal altruism species centered ethic so people may begin to see themselves more broadly as human animal earthlings To formulate the basis for this identity shift Freeman examines overlapping values supporting life fairness responsibility and unity that are common in global rights declarations and in the current campaign messages of sixteen global social movement organizations that work on human civil rights nonhuman animal protection and or environmental issues such as Amnesty International Human Rights Watch CARE People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals the World Wildlife Fund the Sea Shepherd Conservation Society the Nature Conservancy the Rainforest Action Network and Greenpeace She also interviews the leaders of these advocacy groups to gain their insights on how human and nonhuman protection causes can become allies by engaging common opponents and activating shared values and goals on issues such as the climate crisis enslavement extinction pollution inequality destructive farming and fishing and threats to democracy Freeman's analysis of activist discourse considers ethical ideologies on behalf of social justice animal rights and environmentalism using animal rights respect for sentient individuals as a bridge connecting human rights to a more holistic valuing of species and ecological systems Ultimately Freeman uses her findings to recommend a set of universal values around which all social movements campaign messages can collectively cultivate respectful relations between human animal earthlings fellow sentient beings and the natural world we share 4th Edition of International Students literature and other texts and the environment Rather than adopting a rigid agenda the interpretations presented involve ecocritical perspectives that can be applied most fruitfully to literary and non literary texts Some are more general holistic approaches literature and other cultural forms are a living organism part of an intellectual ecosystem implemented and sustained by the interactions between the natural world both human and non human and its cultural representations Nature itself is a new interpretative category in line with other paradigms such as race class gender and identity A wide range of genres are covered from novels or films in which nature features as the main topic or protagonist to those with an ecocritical agenda as in dystopian literature Other concerns are nature as a cultural construct gendered natures and the city country dichotomy The texts treated challenge traditional Western dualisms human animal man nature woman man While such global phenomena as media old or new tourism and catastrophes permeate many of these texts there is also a dual focus on nature as the inexplicable elusive Other and the need for human agency and global responsibility
