The Natural City Stephen B. Scharper, Ingrid Leman-Stefanovic, 2012-01-01 Urban and natural environments are often viewed as entirely separate entities human settlements as the domain of architects and planners and natural areas as untouched wilderness This dichotomy continues to drive decision making in subtle ways but with the mounting pressures of global climate change and declining biodiversity it is no longer viable New technologies are promising to provide renewable energy sources and greener designs but real change will require a deeper shift in values attitudes and perceptions A timely and important collection The Natural City explores how to integrate the natural environment into healthy urban centres from philosophical religious socio political and planning perspectives Recognizing the need to better link the humanities with public policy The Natural City offers unique insights for the development of an alternative vision of urban life
