Ontario And The Canadian North:

Canadian North Georgetown University, United States. Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, 1956 The Canadian North-west, Its Early Development and Legislative Records Edmund Henry Oliver, 1915 Rupert's Land or Prince Rupert's Land was a territory in British North America consisting mostly of the Hudson Bay drainage basin that was nominally owned by the Hudson's Bay Company for 200 years from 1670 to 1870 although numerous aboriginal groups lived in the same territory and disputed the sovereignty of the area The area once known as Rupert's Land is now mainly a part of Canada but a small portion is now in the United States of America It was named after Prince Rupert of the Rhine a nephew of Charles I and the first Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company In December 1821 the HBC monopoly was extended from Rupert's Land to the Pacific coast Areas once belonging to Rupert's Land include all of Manitoba most of Saskatchewan southern Alberta southern Nunavut and northern parts of Ontario and Quebec as well as parts of Minnesota and North Dakota and very small parts of Montana and South Dakota Wikiped April 2013 Care, Cooperation and Activism in Canada's Northern Social Economy Frances Abele, Chris Southcott, 2016-11-04 People across Canada's North have created vibrant community institutions to serve a wide range of social and economic needs Neither state driven nor profit oriented these organizations form a relatively under studied third sector of the economy Researchers from the Social Economy Research Network of Northern Canada explore this sector through fifteen case studies encompassing artistic recreational cultural political business and economic development organizations that are crucial to the health and vitality of their communities Care Cooperation and Activism in Canada's Northern Social Economy shows the innovative diversity and utter necessity of home grown institutions in communities across Labrador Nunatsiavut Nunavik Nunavut Northwest Territories and Yukon Readers researchers and students interested in social economy Aboriginal studies and northern communities will find much to enjoy and value in this book Contributors Frances Abele Jennifer Alsop Matthew A Beaudoin Jean S bastien Boutet Julia Christensen C dric Drouin Moses Hernandez Noor Johnson Sheena Kennedy Dalseg Fr d ric Moisan Joseph Moise Rajiv Rawat Jerald Sabin Chris Southcott Kiri Staples Lucille Villase or Caron Valoree Walker Canada and the Idea of North Sherrill E Grace, 2002-04-15 Canada and the Idea of North examines the ways in which Canadians have defined themselves as a northern people in their literature art music drama history geography politics and popular culture From the Franklin Mystery to the comic book superheroine Nelvana Glenn Gould's documentaries the paintings of Lawren Harris and Molson beer ads the idea of the north has been central to the Canadian imagination Sherrill Grace argues that Canadians have always used ideas of Canada as North to promote a distinct national identity and national unity In a penultimate chapter The North Writes Back Grace presents newly emerging northern voices and shows how they view the long tradition of representing the North by southern activists artists and scholars With the recent creation of Nunavut increasing concern about northern ecosystems and social challenges and renewed attention to Canada's role as a circumpolar nation Canada and the Idea of North shows that nordicity still plays an urgent and central role in Canada at the start of the twenty first century

Canada's Residential Schools: The Inuit and Northern Experience Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission s final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada s Residential Schools The Inuit and Northern Experience demonstrates that residential schooling followed a unique trajectory in the North As late as 1950 there were only six residential schools and one hostel north of the sixtieth parallel Prior to the 1950s the federal government left northern residential schools in the hands of the missionary societies that operated largely in the Mackenzie Valley and the Yukon It was only in the 1950s that Inuit children began attending residential schools in large numbers The tremendous distances that Inuit children had to travel to school meant that in some cases they were separated from their parents for years The establishment of day schools and what were termed small hostels in over a dozen communities in the eastern Arctic led many Inuit parents to settle in those communities on a year round basis so as not to be separated from their children contributing to a dramatic transformation of the Inuit economy and way of life Not all the northern institutions are remembered similarly The staff at Grandin College in Fort Smith and the Churchill Vocational Centre in northern Manitoba were often cited for the positive roles that they played in developing and encouraging a new generation of Aboriginal leadership The legacy of other schools particularly Grollier Hall in Inuvik and Turquetil Hall in Igluligaarjuk Chesterfield Inlet is far darker These schools were marked by prolonged regimes of sexual abuse and harsh discipline that scarred more than one generation of children for life Since Aboriginal people make up a large proportion of the population in Canada s northern territories the impact of the schools has been felt intensely through the region And because the history of these schools is so recent the intergenerational impacts and the legacy of the schools are strongly felt in the North

The Railway King of Canada R. B. Fleming, 2007-10-01 During the first two decades of this century Sir William Mackenzie was one of Canada's best known entrepreneurs He spearheaded some of the largest and most technologically advanced projects undertaken in Canada during his lifetime building enterprises that became the foundations for such major institutions as Canadian National Railways Brascan and the Toronto Transit Commission He built a business empire that stretched from Montreal to British Columbia and to Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo in Brazil It included gas electric telephone and transit utilities railroads hotels and steamships as well as substantial coal mining whaling and timber interests For a time Mackenzie also owned Canada's largest newspaper La Presse He accumulated an enormous personal fortune but when he died in 1923 his estate was virtually bankrupt as a result of the dramatic collapse of his Canadian Northern Railway during the First World War In an era when the entrepreneur has come to be seen as a media hero and when struggles about the role of state enterprise in the transportation and energy sectors consume public policy debate it is ironic that Mackenzie is largely forgotten by all but a few historians and railway aficionados He left no papers to guide biographers After a decade of gathering and piecing together fragments from an immense array of sources Rae Fleming has written the first biography of the man that the German press extolled as the Railway King of Canada Mackenzie was wily crafty manipulative and intimidating Starting as a general contractor in Eldon Township in rural Ontario he built a small fortune contracting for the CPR in the Selkirk in the 1880s and then moved on to bigger things Along the way he funded the first full length documentary movie was toasted by the House of Lords received a knighthood from George V and developed close friendships with the major politicians of his day including Borden and Meighen In a business biography intended as much for general readers as for a scholarly audience Fleming offers a revisionist perspective on Mackenzie He dispels the simplistic approach of those historians and journalists who have depicted Mackenzie and his partner Sir Donald Mann as melodramatic crooks who could have stepped out of the pages of Huckleberry Finn Railway Line Clearances and Car Dimensions Including Weight Limitations of Railroads in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba ,1919
