Suburbia Donald N. Rothblatt, Daniel J. Garr, 2021-06-29 Originally published in 1986 and drawing on material from the USA The Netherlands and Israel this book addresses the question of whether suburban environments enhance the quality of life and which factors influence this quality It examines whether suburbs really provide improved housing and community services compared to the central city and whether they foster rewarding social patterns and psychological well being It also analyses precisely what characteristics suburban areas offer and how congruent these characteristics are with the preferences of suburban residents

Spatial inequalities and regional development H. Folmer, Jan Janssen, 2013-03-09 In September 1977 a Regional Science Symposium was held at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Groningen in the Netherlands Organized because of the recent establishment at the Faculty of Economics of a group that is engaged in teaching and research in the field of regional science the aim of the symposium was to make university members more familiar with regional science and to introduce the newly created group to the national and international scene Two separate topics were selected of potential interest to both researchers and policy makers The first spatial inequalities and regional development was chosen because of its central place in regional science Authors from several disciplines were asked to approach this theme from a general policy orientated point of view This ensured the enlightenment of the various dimensions of spatial inequality and its implications for regional policy The results have been collected in the volume Spatial Inequalities and Regional Development The second theme focused on spatial statistical analysis This branch of statistics is a relatively new one which receives growing attention among researchers in the field of applied regional science The meeting on this topic concentrated on new results of research on the use of appropriate statistical and econometric methods for analyzing spatial data The papers concerned have been collected into another volume Exploratory and Explanatory Statistical Analysis of Spatial Data Encounters in Planning Thought Beatrix Haselsberger, 2017-01-06 Encounters in Planning Thought builds on the intellectual legacy of spatial planning through essays by leading scholars from around the world including John Friedmann Peter Marcuse Patsy Healey Andreas Faludi Judith Innes Rachelle Alterman and many more Each author provides a fascinating and inspiring unravelling of his or her own intellectual journey in the context of events political and economic forces and prevailing ideas and practices as well as their own personal lives This is crucial reading for those interested in spatial planning including those studying the theory and history of spatial planning Encounters in Planning Thought sets out a comprehensive intellectual institutional and practical agenda for the discipline of spatial planning as it heads towards its next half century Together the essays form a solid base on which to understand the most salient elements to be taken forward by current and future generations of spatial planners

City, Space and Politics in the Global South Bikramaditya K. Choudhary, Arun K. Singh, Diganta Das, 2020-02-27 Cities are centres of exciting events flows movements and contradictions that produce both opportunities and challenges Evolved through the centuries they display layers of spatial cultural and socio economic diversity and contestations which are articulated in multiple ways It is in this backdrop that the present volume addresses some of the myriad issues visible in the contemporary cities of the Global South The volume is divided into three parts each of them focusing on different dimension of contemporary urban challenges Part I entitled The Concept of a City contains five papers dealing with conceptual complexities of the urban This part analyses as to what extent development intrudes on urban space and space in turn influences development Part II City and Urban Space contains six papers These focus on the existing patterns processes and perspectives of urbanization and its consequent everyday manifestations across different cities Part III Urban Policy Planning and Governance has six papers dealing with policy and planning In the wake of rapid urbanization and economic growth the urban sector is swiftly changing towards being economic engines Cities and towns being the centres of economic activities play a catalytic role in contributing to economic development and poverty reduction However there are layers of challenges that these cities face This timely volume brings out these challenges and also analyses plausible solutions which can be brought about by the efficient and effective provision of essential urban services and infrastructure Please note This title is co published with Manohar Publishers New Delhi Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka Handbook of Cities and Networks Neal, Zachary P., Rozenblat, Céline, 2021-07-31 This Handbook of Cities and Networks provides a cutting edge overview of research on how economic social and transportation networks affect processes both in and between cities Exploring the ways in which cities connect and intertwine it offers a varied set of collaborations highlighting different theoretical historical and methodological perspectives Territory and Function John Friedmann, Clyde Weaver, 1979 The Imperatives of Urban And Regional

Planning Anis Ur Rahmaan, 2011 This book is comprised of articles and papers that have come about after years of academic and applied research endeavors of the practitioners and academicians in the field of urban and regional development planning Most of these articles have already been presented and deliberated in national and international conferences held in different parts of the world namely Indianapolis Newcastle upon Tyne Rome Istanbul Cairo Alexandria Vienna Stockholm Jeddah Riyadh Jubail Islamabad Penang and Bandung The concepts and case studies described in this book bring home the fact that the world is undergoing a gyrational transition Not only are developed and developing countries getting influenced by each other and transforming due to a process of circular causation but each of the two sets of countries are also undergoing a simultaneous internal transformation due to the differential infusion of technology and indigenous entrepreneurship As a consequence highly diversified urban systems are getting integrated interactively leading to the formation of a global village and achievement of a unity in diversity

New Models In Geography Richard Peet, Nigel Thrift, 2013-10-11 First published in 1989 It seems such a long time ago another age yet it is a mere twenty odd years since the original Models in Geography was published It is an even shorter time since the first tentative steps were taken towards an alternative formulation of what might constitute a geographical perspective within the social sciences What came to be called the political economy perspective has progressed with remarkable speed and energy to generate its own framework of conceptualization and analysis its own questions and debates The papers in these two volumes are witness to the richness and range of the work which has developed over this relatively short period within the political economy approach Moreover from being a debate within an institutionally defined discipline of geography to introducing into that discipline ideas and discussions from the wider fields of philosophy and social science and the humanities more generally it has now flowered into a consistent part of enquiries that span the entire realm of social studies

Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2017-09-29 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period using the case of Guangdong Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity Based on field research analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models this book illustrates how Guangdong's impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics Chinese regional studies economic geography and China Studies Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore His research interests lie in the field of regional economy He is the author of a chapter on China's two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis      Urban and Regional Planning and Development Rajiv R. Thakur, Ashok K. Dutt, Sudhir K. Thakur, George M. Pomeroy, 2020-02-10 This book discusses urban planning and regional development practices in the twentieth century and ways in which they are currently being transformed. It addresses questions such as: What are the factors affecting planning dynamics at local, regional, national and global scales? With the push to adopt a market paradigm in land development and infrastructure, the relationship between resource management, sustainable development and the role of governance has been transformed. Centralized planning is giving way to privatization, not only in the traditional regions but also in newly emerging regions of Asia, Africa and Latin America. Further attempts are being made to bring planning-related decision making closer to the people who are most affected by it. Presenting a collection of studies from scholars around the world and highlighting recent advances in the field, the book is a valuable reference guide for those engaged in urban transformations, whether as graduate students, researchers, practitioners or policymakers.      Megapolitan America Arthur Nelson, Robert Lang, 2018-02-06 With an expected population of 400 million by 2040, America is morphing into an economic system composed of twenty-three megapolitan areas that will dominate the nation's economy by midcentury. These megapolitan areas are networks of metropolitan areas sharing common economic, landscape, social and cultural characteristics. The rise of megapolitan areas will change how America plans. For instance, in an area comparable in size to France and the low countries of the Netherlands and Belgium, considered among the world's most densely settled, America's megapolitan areas are already home to more than two and a half times as many people. Indeed, with only eighteen percent of the contiguous forty-eight states' land base, America's megapolitan areas are more densely settled than Europe as a whole or the United Kingdom. Megapolitan America goes into spectacular demographic, economic and social detail in mapping the dramatic and surprisingly optimistic shifts ahead. It will be required reading for those interested in America's future.      Globalization and a High-Tech Economy Ashok Bardhan, Dwight Jaffee, Cynthia Kroll, 2007-05-08 High technology and globalization are arguably the two most important forces driving the US economy today. This book analyzes how they interact and the implications of that interaction. The methodology applies data and statistical analysis to determine the impact of these forces over a broad spectrum of the US economy. Key topics addressed include: why the US economy runs a continuing trade deficit in manufactured high-tech goods; why high-tech firms steadily lose manufacturing jobs while creating professional jobs; and why high-tech industries rely on foreign outsourcing for much of their manufacturing.      Regional Development Planning and Management of Urbanization United Nations Centre for Human Settlements, 1997      A Rural Studies Bibliography, 1991
