Department of Public Instruction, 1916 Basics of Remote Sensing and GIS Dr. Anita Nigam, 2023-10-03 Remote sensing is a versatile technique facilitating data collection and the investigation of subjects or events without direct physical interaction This method finds application across scientific disciplines such as geography hydrology ecology oceanography glaciology and geology Complementing this Geographic Information System GIS technology emerges as a crucial tool for mapping and assessing feature events on Earth utilizing data gathered from sensors positioned globally The integration of remote sensing and GIS brings together fundamental database functions including statistical analysis and querying with map data GIS as a technology excels in handling information about places offering tools for the analysis and display of diverse data sets such as population dynamics economic development features and vegetation Accessible through GIS these statistics contribute to dynamic presentations fostering a deeper understanding of Earth s complexities Furthermore GIS facilitates database connections enabling the creation of dynamic presentations Distinguished by its capabilities GIS stands out among other systems finding applications in commercial and public sectors for planning and forecasting outcomes based on observations made by remote sensing satellites This book serves as a guide to unraveling the intricacies of remote sensing and GIS providing insights into their integration and diverse applications Student Successes With Thinking Maps® David N. Hyerle, Larry Alper, 2011-01-28 This new edition presents eight powerful visual models that boost all learners metacognitive and critical thinking skills Updates include new research examples and applications Digital Methods and Remote Sensing in Archaeology Maurizio Forte, Stefano Campana, 2017-02-10 This volume debuts the new scope of Remote Sensing which was first defined as the analysis of data collected by sensors that were not in physical contact with the objects under investigation using cameras scanners and radar systems operating from spaceborne or airborne platforms A wider characterization is now possible Remote Sensing can be any non destructive approach to viewing the buried and nominally invisible evidence of past activity Spaceborne and airborne sensors now supplemented by laser scanning are united using ground based geophysical instruments and undersea remote sensing as well as other non invasive techniques such as surface collection or field walking survey Now any method that enables observation of evidence on or beneath the surface of the earth without impact on the surviving stratigraphy is legitimately within the realm of Remote Sensing The new interfaces and senses engaged in Remote Sensing appear throughout the book On a philosophical level this is about the landscapes and built environments that reveal history through place and time It is about new perspectives the views of history possible with Remote Sensing and fostered in part by immersive interactive 3D and 4D environments discussed in this volume These perspectives are both the result and the implementation of technological cultural and epistemological advances in record keeping interpretation and conceptualization Methodology presented here builds on the current ease and speed in collecting data sets on the scale of the object site locality and landscape As this volume shows many disciplines surrounding archaeology and related cultural studies are currently involved in Remote Sensing and its relevance will only increase as the methodology expands
