Abstract

Rehabilitation nursing is a specialist form of rehabilitation requiring specialist nursing. Furthermore, as in many areas of nursing, nurses in this field recognize that there is a need to increase the quality of and provide the most up-to-date care for their patients and patients' families. Effective hospital and community rehabilitation services are increasingly recognised as a means of meeting the changing pattern of health and social care requirements. 5. To improve the quality of life of patient and family members who provide care

Rehabilitation Nursing

Nurses are qualified health care professionals that provide nursing services to help patients to develop problem-solving and stress management skills and to improve patients' quality of life by following the physiological and psychological changes of the patients.

A rehabilitation nurse is specialized in the care of dependent or semi-dependent individuals, and provides direct patient care, educates patients and their families, and provides care coordination. A rehabilitation nurse should first start with what the patients and their families want to know and what they need, and should be a good trainer and love their work.

A rehabilitation nurse creates a creative and dynamic process which supports the individual's "functional capacity", namely the dynamic interaction with the environment, and plays a role in helping patients achieve their maximum functional capacity. Thus, a
