Religions of Modernity Stef Aupers, Dick Houtman, 2010 Religions of Modernity challenges the social scientific orthodoxy that once unleashed the modern forces of individualism science and technology inevitably erode the sacred and evoke the profane The book's chapters some by established scholars others by junior researchers document instead in rich empirical detail how modernity relocates the sacred to the deeper layers of the self and the domain of digital technology Rather than destroying the sacred tout court then the cultural logic of modernization spawns its own religious meanings unacknowledged spiritualities and magical enchantments The editors argue in the introductory chapter that the classical theoretical accounts of modernity by Max Weber Emile Durkheim and others already hinted at the future emergence of these religions of modernity

Prayer and Modern Man Jacques Ellul, 1970 A prominent social critic and former resistance leader makes a searing analysis of man's alienation from God and traces the reasons for praying or not praying With razor like statements he cuts through the weaknesses of much traditional praying and in the end offers a strong and positive program for praying in today's troubled times

Order and Agency in Modernity Kwang-ki Kim, 2012-02-01 In this unique analysis of three prominent theorists of modern sociology theory is understood as implicitly but importantly reflecting especially modern problems of individual and social life From the grand theoretical systems of Talcott Parsons to the unique symbolic interactionism of Erving Goffman and the radically mundane ethnomethodology of Harold Garfinkel a wide variety of noted sociological theories have addressed central issues of sociology against the backdrop of modern society When this modern backdrop is brought into the foreground of analysis sociological theories assume new depth and breadth and new historical significance The author outlines features of the modern experience drawing upon neglected cultural theorists of modernity and then shows how these features of modernity are reflected and incorporated in the scholarship of Parsons Goffman and Garfinkel The result is an original and eclectic analysis that illuminates previously overlooked dimensions to modern sociological theory and suggests new possibilities for meaningful and rewarding comparisons between theoretical traditions

Faith and History - A Comparison of Christian and Modern Views of History Reinhold Niebuhr, 2013-04-18 The theme of this volume was first presented as the Lyman Beecher Lectures On Preaching at the Yale Divinity School in 1945 Some of the same lectures were given by arrangement under the Warrack Lectureship On Preaching at the Universities of Glasgow and Aberdeen in Scotland in the winter of 1947 Some of the chapters were used as the basis of lectures given under the Olaf Petri Foundation of the University of Uppsala in Sweden I sought to develop various portions of a general theme in these various lectureships In this volume I have drawn these lectures into a more comprehensive study of the total problem of the relation of the Christian faith to modern conceptions of history While the total work therefore bares little resemblance to the lectures it does contain consideration of the specific problems which were dealt with in the lectures I shall not seek to identify this material by chapters as I subjected the whole to reorganization Two of these lectureships usually deal with the art of preaching though not a few of the actual lectures have been concerned with the preacher's message Since I had no special competence in the art of homiletics I thought it wise to devote the lectures to a definition of the apologetic task of the Christian pulpit in the unique spiritual climate of our day Since several of the Beecher lecturers in the past half century sought to accommodate the Christian message to the prevailing evolutionary optimism of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries I thought it might be particularly appropriate to consider the spiritual situation in a period in which this evolutionary optimism is in the process of decay This volume is written on the basis of the faith that the Gospel of Christ is true for men of every age and that Jesus Christ is the same yesterday today and forever It is nevertheless the task of the pulpit to relate the ageless Gospel to the special problems of each age In doing so however there is always a temptation to capitulate to the characteristic prejudices of an age A Man's Religion William Fraser McDowell,1913 Catholic
