Language Impairment in Multilingual Settings Sharon Armon-Lotem, Kleanthes K.

Grohmann, 2021-11-15 COST Action IS0804 Language Impairment in a Multilingual Society Linguistic Patterns and the Road to Assessment aimed to profile bilingual specific language impairment biSLI by establishing a network for research on the linguistic and cognitive abilities of bilingual children with SLI across different migrant communities A battery of tools for Language Impairment Testing in Multilingual Settings LITMUS was designed within the Action to achieve these aims including the Parental Bilingual Questionnaire the Sentence Repetition Task the Crosslinguistic Lexical Tasks the Multilingual Assessment Instrument for Narratives and two nonword repetition tasks that are not language specific The chapters in this volume present research on one or more of the LITMUS tasks in bilingual children with typical language development and on use of the LITMUS testing battery for identifying possible language impairment The work presented here will be of interest for researchers and clinicians alike and have profound impact in our understanding of bilingual language development and impairment Bilingual Language Development: The Role of Dominance Cornelia

Hamann, Esther Rinke, Dobrinka Genevskaja-Hanke, 2019-09-20 It has long been established that bilingual speakers are rarely balanced in their languages so that one language is dominant The contributions to the Research Topic Bilingual Language Development The Role of Dominance focus on the potential effects of language dominance on the competence and processing of bilinguals covering a large variety of language combinations and domains Important aspects of such work are the interplay of L1 maintenance attrition and possible L2 dominance the direction of cross linguistic influence CLI or code mixing as well as the effects of bilingualism on cognitive development each addressed in several contributions However such research presupposes a definition of dominance which is far from being settled This gives rise to considerable differences in the operationalization of the concept across studies The studies in this Research Topic present a multifaceted picture of the role of language dominance for L1 maintenance attrition L2 development and CLI Though a unified story cannot emerge for such a complex subject interesting new venues are explored including the impact of dominance shift during L1 re exposure comparisons of different types of bilingual groups or operationalization of dominance through experiential measures The variety of approaches and results is in part owed to the many language combinations studied and the fact that bilingual children adults and atypical speakers are investigated This diversity constitutes the interest of this Research Topic

Resources in Education, 1998 Crosslinguistic Influence in Multilinguals Wai Lan Tsang, 2016-12-07 This book reports on a research project conducted in multilingual Hong Kong where Cantonese is the mother tongue L1 of the majority of the population and learning different foreign languages is commonplace In addition to English which is usually the second language L2 more and more people learn other languages such as French L3 Drawing on the notions of interface and reverse transfer in second language acquisition this book addresses the possible role of L3 French in the acquisition of English as an L2 with two major concerns firstly the degree to which L3 acquisition will bring about a positive or negative transfer effect on L2 acquisition and secondly the way in which an L3 interacts with an L2 and or even an L1 on different interfaces as identified in second language acquisition The study will appeal to researchers interested in second and third language acquisition bi and multilingualism and crosslinguistic influence
