Olszewski, 2023-06-30 This study employs cognitive theory as a heuristic framework to interrogate the agency of female types in select Italian Renaissance paintings with emphasis on Venus Medusa the Amazon Boccaccio's Lady Fiammetta Cleopatra Susanna the Magdalene and the Madonna The study disrupts assumptions about the identity of sitters and readings of paintings as it challenges paradigms of female representation It interrogates why certain paintings were crafted by whom and for whom Works are placed in the context of meta painting with stress on the cognitive decisions negotiated between patron and artist The ludic aspects of several paintings are examined with a fine grain semiotic approach to expand their iconographies Psychoanalytic readings are unpacked based on the flawed mythological metaphors and incomplete clinical studies of Sigmund Freud's theorizing The rubric of female agency is deliberately selected to unify popular but enigmatic master paintings of disparate subjects The art journal London, 1850 The Art of Painting in Oil, and in Fresco

and the Art of Religious Painting at the End of the Florentine Renaissance Douglas Dow, 2025-10-01 By almost any measure Bernardino Barbatelli called Poccetti was a successful and sought after painter in late sixteenth century Florence but his works have remained largely overlooked This study situates representative examples of his religious painting within their respective contexts to demonstrate how Poccetti and his patrons negotiated the increasingly fraught terrain of sacred painting in the period of religious reform These case studies demonstrate how patrons ranging from the Dominicans to the Carthusians to prominent Florentine patricians relied on Poccetti's skill in creating compelling narratives that reflected current concerns within the Catholic world. In the process, Poccetti invoked an august Florentine tradition of fresco painting, shaping it to better address the demands placed on religious imagery at the end of the Renaissance.
