Pursuing The Muses Female Education And Nonconformist Culture:

Pursuing the Muses Marjorie Reeves, 1997 Local history is usually conceived in terms of buildings and activities This book is about local history as communication in literary form The writers speak to each other across the counties They are linked in a Nonconformist family network and their media are vivid letters diaries and poetry Their commonplace books and school books tell us what they read and how they were educated The two family collections containing this material have never been studied before from this literary viewpoint The first part looks at how eighteenth century young women with literary aspirations escaped from the typical girls school to gain their real education from male friends advocates of the blue stockings The middle part focuses on a literary circle mostly women who combined spiritual piety with contemporary classical pastoral romance writing hymns but also exchanging playful verse with friends who were Baptist divines The last part covering the nineteenth century follows this literary tradition through four generations in one village Nonconformist Women Writers, 1720-1840, Part I Vol 1 Julia B Griffin, 2024-10-28 These volumes will present in some cases for the first time the lives and works of a coterie of Nonconformist women writers from the West Country Nonconformist Women Writers, 1720-1840, Part I Vol 4 Timothy Whelan, 2024-08-28 These volumes will present in some cases for the first time the lives and works of a coterie of Nonconformist women writers from the West Country Nonconformist Women Writers, 1720-1840, Part I Vol 3 Timothy Whelan, 2024-10-28 These volumes will present in some cases for the first time the lives and works of a coterie of Nonconformist women writers from the West Country Nonconformist Women Writers, 1720-1840, Part II vol 5 Timothy Whelan, 2024-08-23 These volumes will present in some cases for the first time the lives and works of a coterie of Nonconformist women writers from the West Country Women, Dissent and Anti-Slavery in Britain and America, 1790-1865 Elizabeth J. Clapp, Julie Roy Jeffrey, 2011-04-21 This volume of eight essays examines the role that religious traditions practices and beliefs played in women s involvement in the British and American campaigns to abolish slavery during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries It focuses on women who belonged to the Puritan and dissenting traditions Nonconformist Women Writers, 1720-1840, Part II vol 8 Timothy Whelan, 2024-08-01 These volumes will present in some cases for the first time the lives and works of a coterie of Nonconformist women writers from the West Country Educating Women Christina de Bellaigue, 2007-08-16 An increasing number of middle class families were taking the education of their daughters seriously in the first part of the nineteenth century and boarding schools were multiplying on both sides of the Channel Schoolmistresses rarely in fact the reduced gentlewomen of nineteenth century fiction were not only often successful entrepreneurs but also played an important part they played in the development of the teaching profession and in the expansion of secondary education Uncovering their careers and the experiences of their pupils reveals the possibilities and constraints of the lives of middle class women in England and France in the period 1800 1867 Yet those who crossed the Channel in the nineteenth century often commented on the differences they discovered between the experiences of French and English women Women in France seemed to participate more fully in social and cultural life than their counterparts in England On the other hand English girls were felt to enjoy considerably more freedom than young French women Using the development of schooling for girls as a lens through which to examine the lives of women on either side of the Channel Educating Women explores such contrasts It reveals that the differences observed by contemporaries were rooted in the complex interaction of differing conceptions of the role of women with patterns of educational provision with religion with the state and with differing rhythms of economic growth Illuminating a neglected area of the history of education it reveals new findings on the history of the professions on the history of women and on the relationship between gender and national identity in the nineteenth century The Spiritual Lives and Manuscript Cultures of Eighteenth-Century English Women Cynthia Aalders, 2024-05-01 The Spiritual Lives and Manuscript Cultures of Eighteenth Century English Women explores the vital and unexplored ways in which women's life writings acted to undergird guide and indeed shape religious communities Through an exploration of various significant but understudied personal relationships including mentorship by older women spiritual friendship and care for nonbiological children the book demonstrates the multiple ways in which women were active in writing religious communities The women discussed here belonged to communities that habitually communicated through personal writing At the same time their acts of writing were creative acts powerful to build and shape religious communities these women wrote religious community The book consists of a series of interweaving case studies and focuses on Catherine Talbot 1721 70 Anne Steele 1717 78 and Ann Bolton 1743 1822 and on their literary interactions with friends and family Considered together these subjects and sources allow comparison across denomination for Talbot was Anglican Steele a Baptist and Bolton a Methodist Further it considers women's life writings as spiritual legacy as manuscripts were preserved by female friends and family members and continued to function in religious communities after the death of their authors Various strands of enquiry weave through the book questions of gender and religion themselves inflected by denomination themes related to life writings and manuscript cultures and the interplay between the writer as individual and her relationships and communal affiliations The result is a variegated and highly textured account of eighteenth century women's spiritual and writing lives Women from the Parsonage Cindy K. Renker, Susanne Bach, 2019-02-19 This volume provides a new context for women's writing from the seventeenth through the end of the nineteenth century highlighting the significant role of the parsonage and the parson himself for women's education in those centuries Cindy K Renker and Susanne Bach's collection of essays is the first of its kind on the education lives and works of highly accomplished daughters of Protestant clergymen Since this volume only represents a limited number of women raised and educated in parsonages it will surely encourage more investigation of other women writers translators educators etc with similar backgrounds Moreover since this book takes a comparative and transnational approach by focusing on different regions of Europe and different centuries This collection of essays is thus aimed at scholars in multiple fields such as British literature German studies gender studies the history of women s education and social and cultural history
