Pursuit Of Pleasure Gender Space And Architecture In Regency London:

Pursuit of Pleasure Jane Rendell, 2010-07-15 The Pursuit of Pleasure presents the figures of the rambler and the cyprian the Eighteenth Century precursors to the Parisian flGneur and prostitute The urban spaces traced by these figures were the clubs sporting venues operas assembly rooms streets and arcades of central London Drawing on critical theory geography and philosophy The Pursuit of Pleasure extends and critiques the discipline of architectural history from a feminist perspective The gendering of public space is considered to be a complex and shifting series of moves and looks between men and women constructed and represented through spatial and social relations of consumption display and exchange Illustrated with contemporary prints and drawings The Pursuit of Pleasure is an extraordinarily rich analysis of the gendered issues of public space at the birth of the modern metropolis The Pursuit of Pleasure Jane Rendell, 2002

Architectural Space in Eighteenth-Century Europe Meredith Martin, 2017-07-05 Architectural Space in Eighteenth Century Europe Constructing Identities and Interiors explores how a diverse pan European group of eighteenth century patrons among them bankers bishops bluestockings and courtesans used architectural space and d cor to shape and express identity Eighteenth century European architects understood the client s instrumental role in giving form and meaning to architectural space In a treatise published in 1745 the French architect Germain Boffrand determined that a visitor could judge the character of the master for whom the house was built by the way in which it is planned decorated and distributed This interdisciplinary volume addresses two key interests of contemporary historians working in a range of disciplines one the broad question of identity formation most notably as it relates to ideas of gender class and ethnicity and two the role played by different spatial environments in the production not merely the reflection of identity at defining historical and cultural moments By combining contemporary critical analysis with a historically specific approach the book s contributors situate ideas of space and the self within the visual and material remains of interiors in eighteenth century Europe In doing so they offer compelling new insight not only into this historical period but also into our own "Addiction and British Visual Culture, 1751?919" Julia Skelly, 2017-07-05 Highly innovative and long overdue this study analyzes the visual culture of addiction produced in Britain during the long nineteenth century The book examines well known images such as William Hogarth s Gin Lane 1751 as well as lesser known artworks including Alfred Priest s painting Cocaine 1919 in order to demonstrate how visual culture was both informed by and contributed to discourses of addiction in the period between 1751 and 1919 Through her analysis of more than 30 images Julia Skelly deconstructs beliefs and stereotypes related to addicted individuals that remain entrenched in the popular imagination today Drawing upon both feminist and queer methodologies as well as upon extensive archival research Addiction and British Visual Culture 1751 1919 investigates and problematizes the long held belief that addiction is legible from the body thus positioning visual images as unreliable sources in attempts to identify alcoholics and drug addicts Examining paintings graphic satire photographs advertisements and architectural sites

Skelly explores such issues as ongoing anxieties about maternal drinking the punishment and confinement of addicted individuals the mobility of female alcoholics through the streets and spaces of nineteenth century London and soldiers use of addictive substances such as cocaine and tobacco to cope with traumatic memories following the First World War Lady of the House Charlotte Furness,2018-06-30 Three accounts of remarkable women who oversaw their own households stamped their authority on the estates they managed and overcame misfortune This book tells the true stories of three gentle women who were born raised lived and died within the world of England s Country Houses This is not the story of seen and not heard women these are incredible women who endured tremendous tragedy and worked alongside their husbands to create a legacy that we are still benefitting from today Harriet Leveson Gower Countess Granville second born child of the infamous Georgiana Duchess of Devonshire married her aunt s lover raised his illegitimate children and reigned supreme as Ambassadors over the Parisian elite Lady Mary Isham lived at Lamport Hall in Northamptonshire with her family where despite great tragedy she was responsible for developing a house and estate while her husband remained the silent Baronet Elizabeth Manners Duchess of Rutland hailed from Castle Howard and used her upbringing to design and build a Castle and gardens at Belvoir suitable for a Duke and Duchess that inspired a generation of country house interiors These women were expected simply to produce children to be active members of society to give handsomely to charity and to look the part What these three remarkable women did instead is develop vast estates oversee architectural changes succeed in business take a keen role in politics as well as successfully managing all the expectations of an aristocratic lady The book looks at both the lives of the women and the buildings that they transformed The Creative Historian Rural Urbanism Dana Arnold,2005 This original and innovative book examines a period in which the development of London was perhaps at its most intense for in the opening decades of the nineteenth century a concerted attempt was made to transform the metropolis into a modern European capital This study of London landscapes will be of relevance to a broad range of researchers academics and those with a lively interest in architectural social economic and cultural history Mary, Countess of Derby, and the Politics of Victorian Britain Jennifer Davey,2019 Lady Mary Derby 1824 1900 occupied a pivotal position in Victorian politics yet her activities have largely been overlooked or ignored This volume places Mary back into the political position she occupied and offers the first dedicated account of her career Based on extensive archival research including hitherto neglected or lost sources this study reconstructs the political worlds Mary inhabited Her political landscape was dominated by the machinations and intrigues of high politics and diplomacy As Jennifer Davey uncovers Mary s political skill and acumen were highly valued by leading politicians of the day including Benjamin Disraeli and William Gladstone and she played a significant role in many of the key events of the mid Victorian era This included the passing of the Second Reform Act the formation of Disraeli s 1874 Government the Eastern Crisis of 1875 1878 and Gladstone s 1880 1885 Government By exploring how one woman was able to exercise influence at the heart of Victorian politics this book considers what Mary s career tells us about the nature of political life in the mid nineteenth century It sheds new light on the connections between informal and formal political culture incorporating the politics of the home letter writing and social relations into a consideration of the politics of Parliament and Government It provides a rich investigation of how a woman with few legal or constitutional rights was able to become a significant figure in mid Victorian political life A Contemporary History of Women's Sport, Part One Jean Williams,2014-04-24 This book is an historical survey of women s sport from 1850 1960 It looks at some of the more recent methodological approaches to writing sports history and raises questions about how the history of women s sport has so far been shaped by academic writers Questions explored in this text include What are the fresh perspectives and newly available sources for the historian of women s sport How do these take forward established debates on women s place in sporting culture and what novel approaches do they suggest How can our appreciation of fashion travel food and medical history be advanced by looking at women s involvement in sport How can we use some of the current ideas and methodologies in the recent literature on the history and sociology of sport in order to look afresh at women s participation Jean Williams s original research on these topics and more will be a useful resource for scholars in the fields of sports women s studies history and sociology Eileen Gray and the Design of Sapphic Modernity Jasmine Rault,2017-07-05 The first book length feminist analysis of Eileen Gray s work Eileen Gray and the Design of Sapphic Modernity Staying In argues that Gray s unusual architecture and design as well as its history of abuse and neglect emerged from her involvement with cultures of sapphic modernism Bringing together a range of theoretical and historical sources from architecture and design communication and media to gender and sexuality studies Jasmine Rault shows that Gray shared with many of her female contemporaries a commitment to designing spaces for sexually dissident modernity This volume examines Gray s early lacquer work and Romaine Brooks earliest nude paintings Gray s first built house E 1027 in relation to Radclyffe Hall and her novel The Well of Loneliness and Gray s private house Tempe nbsp Pailla with Djuna Barnes Nightwood While both female sexual dissidence and modernist architecture were reduced to rigid identities through mass media women such as Gray Brooks Hall and Barnes resisted the clarity of such identities with opaque non communicative aesthetics Rault demonstrates that by defying the modern imperative to publicity clarity and identity Gray helped design a sapphic modernity that cultivated the dynamism of uncertain bodies and unfixed pleasures which depended on staying in rather than coming out

Rethinking Architectural Historiography Dana Arnold,Elvan Altan Ergut,Belgin Turan Ozkaya,2006-09-27 Rather than subscribing to a single position this collection informs the reader about the current state of the discipline looking at changes across the broad field of methodological theoretical and geographical plurality Divided into three sections Rethinking Architectural Historiography begins by renegotiating foundational and contemporary boundaries of architectural history in relation to other fields such as art history and archaeology It then goes on to critically engage with past and present histories disclosing assumptions biases and absences in architectural historiography It concludes by exploring the possibilities provided by new perspectives reframing the discipline in the light of new parameters and problematics This timely and illustrated title reflects upon the current changes in historiographical practice exploring potential openings that may contribute further transformation of the disciplines and theories on architectural historiography and addresses the current question of the disciplinary particularity of architectural history
