Problems of Protection Niklaus Steiner,Mark Gibney,Gil Loescher,2013-10-31 First Published in 2003 Of all the humanitarian impulses in world politics today one of the most widely recognized is the need to protect refugees However as The Problems of Protection explores what on the surface appears to be a simple proposition can quickly become complex and controversial This complexity results in troubling variation in how we respond to our obligation to protect refugees while NATO launches a major military intervention on behalf of Albanians in Kosovo amidst worldwide media attention the international community's response to Sierra Leonean refugees is slow inefficient and inadequate Who qualifies as a refugee in need of protection Should refugees be returned as soon as possible or integrated into safer host countries The contributors to this volume address the often lacking political will among powerful countries and donors shifting attitudes among affected countries and the difficulty of rebuilding societies in a world in which the number of refugees will almost certainly continue to increase

Intimate Migrations Deborah A. Boehm,2013-07 In her research with transnational Mexicans Deborah A Boehm has often asked individuals if there were no barriers to your movement between Mexico and the United States where would you choose to live Almost always they desire the freedom to come and go Yet the barriers preventing such movement are many

Because of rigid U S immigration policies Mexican immigrants often find themselves living long distances from family members and unable to easily cross the U S Mexico border Transnational Mexicans experience what Boehm calls intimate migrations flows that both shape and are structured by gendered and familial actions and interactions but are always defined by the presence of the U S state By showing how intimate relations direct migration and by looking at kin and gender relationships through the lens of illegality Boehm sheds new light on the study of gender and kinship as well as understandings of the state and transnational migration
