Global politics in the information age Mark J. Lacy, Peter Wilkin, 2024-07-30 Global politics in the information age available in paperback for the first time presents a provocative and wide ranging introduction to the notion that information technologies are creating new formations of power control and resistance across the planet The essays ranging from the language used by the Bush administration to shape the war on terror the attempts to control the circulation of informational products the strategies of media management deployed to shape how the war in Iraq during 2003 was presented in the public sphere through to the attempts to brand economic globalisation and strategies of resistance developed by the anti globalisation movement unearth the new transformations that are unfolding in the twenty first century This collection of essays brings together academics working across the social sciences from International Relations Political Economy Sociology and Media Studies to provide the reader with a number of different perspectives on the way that flows of images capital ideologies and informational goods are creating global spaces of control and resistance The book seeks to rethink approaches to global politics that see information society as closing down spaces of resistance while at the same time exploring the new formations of power that informational society is making possible The book offers clearly explained theoretical insight into the debates that are shaping discussion on global politics and information society with case studies that will be of interest to the student seeking to make sense of the changes that are unfolding

Making a Living, Making a Life Sara James, 2017-09-22 In a world in which individuals will undergo multiple career changes is it possible any longer to conceive of a job as a meaningful vocation Against the background of fragmentation and rationalisation of work this book explores the significance and meaning of work in contemporary life raising the question of whether people continue to feel motivated to dedicate their lives to their work or must now look to other areas of life for meaning Based on rich in depth interviews conducted with workers of different ages and across a broad range of occupations in the major city of Melbourne Making a Living Making a Life reveals that work continues to be a source of pride passion and purpose the author shedding light on the ways in which cultural narratives collective meanings and structural factors influence people s feelings about work An engaging and empirically grounded examination of the meaning and centrality of work to people s lives in today s liquid modern world this book will appeal to sociologists with interests in cultural sociology social theory ethics the sociology of work and questions of identity

Growing Gardens, Building Power Justin Sean Myers, 2022-10-14 Across the United States marginalized communities are organizing to address social economic and environmental inequities through building community food systems rooted in the principles of social justice But how exactly are communities doing this work why are residents tackling these issues through food what are their successes and what barriers are they encountering This book dives into the heart of the food justice movement through an exploration of East New York Farms ENYF one of the oldest food justice organizations in Brooklyn and one that emerged from a bottom up asset oriented development model It details the food inequities the community faces and what produced them how and why residents mobilized to turn vacant land into community gardens and the struggles the organization has encountered as they worked to feed residents through urban farms and farmers markets This book also discusses how through the politics of food justice ENYF has challenged the growth oriented development politics of City Hall opposed the neoliberalization of food politics navigated the funding constraints of philanthropy and the welfare state and opposed the entrance of a Walmart into their community Through telling this story Growing Gardens Building Power offers insights into how the food justice movement is challenging the major structures and institutions that seek to curtail the transformative power of the food justice movement and its efforts to build a more just and sustainable world

Free Market Missionaries Sharon Beder, 2012-06-25 In her recent book Suited to Themselves bestselling author Sharon Beder exposed how the global corporate elite have brazenly rewritten the rules of the global economy to line their pockets In this new book she turns her sights on the insidious underbelly of this global trend to show how they have also orchestrated a mass propaganda campaign to manipulate community values and convince us that their interest co-opting and controlling all of us in the name of the free market is in our interest During the 20th century business associations coordinated mass propaganda campaigns combining 20th century American PR methods with revitalized free market ideology from 18th century Europe The aim was to persuade people to eschew their own power as workers and citizens and forego their democratic power to restrain and regulate business activity Sophisticated corporate funded think tanks augmented these campaigns in the 1970s and 1980s promoting free enterprise and business friendly policies These free market missionaries now seek to change individual and institutional values through bolder strategies such as expanding share ownership and manipulating wider public concerns In each case the goal is the same the triumph of business values over community values Beder's is an intellectual call to arms challenge the ideology of the free market missionaries or be converted to it

Capitalism, Social Privilege and Managerial Ideologies Ernesto R. Gantman, 2019-06-04 Originally published in 2005 This book analyzes the evolution of administrative thought from the nineteenth century to the present considering it as ideological discourse Rather than merely being a succession of fads Gantman shows how each successive discourse about the organization of work serves to legitimate social interests The book's compelling conclusion is that instead of a tendency towards increasing theoretical refinement what is more evident is a trend towards fictionalization which ends in the contemporary paradigm of flatter more participative and democratic organizational forms Students and scholars interested in organization theory management history the sociology of work or critical management will gain many new insights from this historical reconstruction of the evolution of management thought

Making Career Stories Mark Scillio, 2017-06-27 This book is about how people construct career stories the stories we use to make sense of our work life Mark Scillio explores the idea of security in the current turbulent employment climate investigating employment experiences in developed wealthy countries like Australia the United States and the United Kingdom where careers have become fragmented complex and uncertain Using Anthony Giddens notion of ontological security Scillio develops a concept of career security that goes beyond economic and financial concerns and encompasses the personal and social meaning of work The ramifications of succeeding or failing to forge a good career narrative are explored through a series of detailed case studies
