Cato and Coranderrk by A. Massola William Kerley, 1977 Australian Settler Colonialism and the Cummeragunja Aboriginal Station Fiona Davis, 2014-03-01 In 1938 the anthropologist Norman Tindale gave a classroom of young Aboriginal children a set of crayons and asked them to draw The children residents of the government run Aboriginal station Cummeragunja mostly drew pictures of aspects of white civilization boats houses and flowers What now to make of their artwork Were the children Native Claims Saliha Belmessous,2012 This groundbreaking collection of essays shows that from the moment European expansion commenced through to the twentieth century indigenous peoples from America Africa Australia and New Zealand drafted legal strategies to contest dispossession The story of indigenous resistance to European colonization is well known But legal resistance has been wrongly understood to be a relatively recent phenomenon These essays demonstrate how indigenous peoples throughout the world opposed colonization not only with force but also with ideas They made claims to territory using legal arguments drawn from their own understanding of a law that applies between peoples a kind of law of nations comparable to that being developed by Europeans The contributors to this volume argue that in the face of indigenous legal arguments European justifications of colonization should be understood not as an original and originating legal discourse but at least in part as a form of counter claim Native Claims Indigenous Law against Empire 1500 1920 brings together the work of eminent social and legal historians literary scholars and philosophers including Rolena Adorno Lauren Benton Duncan Ivison and Kristin Mann Their combined expertise makes this volume uniquely expansive in its coverage of a crucial issue in global and colonial history The various essays treat sixteenth and seventeenth century Latin America seventeenth and eighteenth century North America including the British colonies and French Canada and nineteenth century Australasia and Africa There is no other book that examines the issue of European dispossession of native peoples in such a way Fighters and Singers Isobel White,Diane Barwick,Betty Meehan,2020-07-31 The literature on Australian Aborigines is vast but much of it is strangely silent about the experiences and activities of women This collection of stories of the eventful lives and strong characters of a number of Aboriginal women offers a more intimate and personal view Their lives span a century of history in fifteen communities scattered from Cape York Peninsula Arnhem Land and East Kimberley to the Western Desert the Centre South Australia Victoria and New South Wales One of these stories is an autobiography and each of the others contains transcriptions or translations of a woman s own reminiscences with additional details given by the author Some women recall the first time they saw a European in their land others tell how Europeans had influenced their communities generations before they were born While the authors lived in Aboriginal communities in order to study some particular aspect of the society the women they describe here became their close friends companions and helpers and this book is a record of friendships formed against differences of background experiences and age Allegiance to family and familiar territory shapes the personal histories of Aborigines in ways scarcely appreciated by people reared in nuclear family households in cities The strength of family and community ties can be better understood through reading about the women who contribute so much to the maintenance of these communities Emotions and Social Change David Lemmings,Ann Brooks,2014-04-24 This edited collection takes a critical perspective on Norbert Elias s theory of the civilizing process through historical essays and contemporary analysis from sociologists and cultural theorists It focuses on changes in emotional regimes or styles and considers the intersection of emotions and social change historically and contemporaneously The book is set in the context of increasing interest among humanities and social science scholars in reconsidering the significance of emotion and affect in society and the development of empirical research and theorizing around these subjects Some have labeled this interest as an affective turn or a turn to affect which suggests a profound and wide ranging reshaping of disciplines Building upon complex theoretical models of emotions and social change the chapters exemplify this shift in analysis of emotions and affect and suggest different approaches to investigation which may help to shape the direction of sociological and historical thinking and research Priests of History Sarah Irving-Stonebraker,2024-09-24

How can Christians engage meaningfully with history In an age underpinned by the idea that life is about self invention and fulfilment contemporary Western culture holds that the past has little to teach us We live in what this book terms the Ahistoric Age in which we are profoundly disconnected from history In the attempt to appear relevant the church often embraces this ahistoric worldview by jettisoning the historic ideas and practices of Christian formation But this has unintended consequences leaving Christians unmoored from history and losing the ability to grapple with its ethical complexities In Priests of History Sarah Irving Stonebraker draws upon her expertise and her experience as an atheist who has become a Christian to examine what history is and why it matters If Christians can learn how to be priests of history tending and keeping our past history can help us strengthen and revive our spiritual and intellectual formation and equip us to communicate the gospel in a confused and rootless world

Aboriginal People and Australian Football in the Nineteenth Century Roy Hay,2019-02-15 This book will revolutionise the history of Indigenous involvement in Australian football in the second half of the nineteenth century It collects new evidence to show how Aboriginal people saw the cricket and football played by those who had taken their land and resources and forced their way into them in the missions and stations around the peripheries of Victoria South Australia and Western Australia They learned the game and brought their own skills to it eventually winning local leagues and earning the respect of their contemporaries They were prevented from reaching higher levels by the gatekeepers of the domestic game until late in the twentieth century Their successors did not come from nowhere Contact Doug Poad,Alan West,Ron

Miller,1990 Revised edition of a senior secondary school textbook which traces the history of Aboriginal and white relations in Australia since the beginning of European settlement in 1788 Extensive use is made of documents and visual evidence and the text aims to redress the traditional imbalance of standard Australian histories First published in 1985 Empire, Race and the Politics of Anti-Caste Caroline Bressey,2013-12-19 Winner of the Women s History Network Prize 2014 Winner of the Robert and Vineta Colby Scholarly Book Prize 2015 Empire Race and the Politics of Anti Caste provides the first comprehensive biography of Catherine Impey and her radical political magazine Anti Caste Published monthly from 1888 Anti Caste published articles that exposed and condemned racial prejudice across the British Empire and the United States

Editing the magazine from her home in Street Somerset Impey welcomed African and Asian activists and made Street an important stop on the political tour for numerous foreign guests reorienting geographies of political activism that usually locate anti racist politics within urban areas The production of Anti Caste marks an important moment in early progressive politics in Britain and using a wealth of archival sources this book offers a thorough exploration both of the publication and its founder for those interested in imperial history and the history of women Science and Power in the Nineteenth-Century Tasman World Alexandra Roginski,2023-06-01 The contentious science of phrenology once promised insight into character and intellect through external reading of the head In the transforming settler colonial landscapes of nineteenth century Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand popular phrenologists figures who often hailed from the margins performed their science of touch and cranial jargon everywhere from mechanics institutions to public houses In this compelling work Alexandra Roginski recounts a history of this everyday practice exploring how it featured in the fates of people living in and moving through the Tasman World Innovatively drawing on historical newspapers and a network of archives she traces the careers of a diverse range of popular phrenologists and those they encountered By analysing the actions at play in scientific episodes through ethnographic social and cultural history Roginski considers how this now discredited science could in its own day yield fleeting power and advantage even against a backdrop of large scale dispossession and social brittleness William Cooper Bain Attwood,2021-11-02 William Cooper s passionate struggle against the dispossession of Aboriginal people and the denial of their rights and his heroic fight for them to become citizens in their own country has been widely commemorated and celebrated By carefully reconstructing the historical losses his Yorta Yorta people suffered and endured William Cooper An Aboriginal Life Story reveals how the first seventy years of Cooper s life inspired the remarkable political work he undertook in the 1930s Focusing on Cooper s most important campaigns his famous petition to the British king George for an Aboriginal representative in the Australian parliament his call for a day of mourning after 150 years of colonisation the walk off of the Yorta Yorta people from Cumeroogunga reserve in 1939 and his opposition to the establishment of an Aboriginal regiment in the Second World War this carefully researched study sheds important new light on the long struggle that Indigenous people have fought to have the truth about Australia s black history heard and win representation in Australia s political order Creating White Australia Jane Carey,Claire McLisky,2009 The adoption of White Australia as government policy in 1901 demonstrates that whiteness was crucial to the ways in which the new nation of Australia was constituted And yet historians have largely overlooked whiteness in their studies of Australia s racial past Creating White Australia takes a fresh approach to the question of race in Australian history It demonstrates that Australia s racial foundations can only be understood by recognising whiteness too as race Including contributions from some of the leading as well as emerging scholars in Australian history it breaks new ground by arguing that whiteness was central to the racial ideologies that created the Australian nation This book pursues the foundations of white Australia across diverse locales It also situates the development of Australian whiteness within broader imperial and global influences As the recent apology to the Stolen Generations the Northern Territory Intervention and controversies over asylum seekers reveal the legacies of these histories are still very much with us today The Yorta Yorta (Bangerang)
