Model Making:

Model Making for Architects Matt Driscoll, 2013-06-30 Model making is a beautiful and skilful craft and architectural model making is a vital part of the building process The architectural model is often the first time that a building is visualized in 3D It can capture the excitement of the architect's vision but can also reveal unforeseen difficulties Model Making for Architects explains the role of the model within the architectural and planning process It advises on the many ways of representing a building and the many techniques of making a model With practical instruction throughout it is an invaluable tool both for the model maker and for the architect seeking to commission a model of their building With contributions from leading practitioners case studies on multi million pound projects and step by step exercises this new book provides a unique insight into the process of architectural model making and looks at the new technology and opportunities available to the model maker What and who is an architectural model for What type of model should be used and when What scale is most appropriate These questions are answered in this new book which provides a unique insight into the process of architectural model making Illustrated with examples of top models of multi million pound projects Will be invaluable for architectural model makers architects surveyors and interior designers Superbly illustrated with 227 colour photographs Matt Driscoll is the founding director of Base Models renowned for creating beautiful yet practical architectural models

Model-making David Neat, 2013-12-21 Model making Materials and Methods focuses primarily on the wide variety of materials that can be employed to make models those which have been favoured for a while and those which are relatively new The book looks at how these materials behave and how to get the best out of them then illustrates a range of relatively simple methods of building shaping modelling surfacing and painting with them Useful features of the book include the different uses of models in various disciplines the sequence of making planning and construction creating surfaces painting and finishing methods of casting modelling and working with metals step by step accounts of the making of specially selected examples simple techniques without the need for expensive tools or workshop facilities a Directory of a full range of materials together with an extensive list of suppliers This book is intended for students of theatre production art architecture animation and theatre television set designers where accurate scale models are necessary and is also of interest to anyone involved with the process of making forms in 3D and the challenge of making small scale forms in general Superbly illustrated with 185 colour photographs

Handbook of Model-making for Set Designers Colin Winslow, 2015-05-31 The Handbook of Model making for Set Designers describes the entire process of making scale models for stage sets from the most basic cutting and assembling methods to more advanced skills including painting texturing and finishing techniques and useful hints on presenting the completed model Many drawings and colour photographs of the writer's own work illustrate the text Some state of the art computerized techniques are described here for the first time in a book of this kind including many ways in which digital techniques can be used in combination with the more traditional methods to enhance the model maker's work This book will be of use not only to theatre designers but to anyone with an interest in scale models of any kind The book covers tools and materials painting and texturing architectural models people trees and organic elements moving parts furniture and dressings Superbly illustrated with 200 colour photographs and drawings Creative Ship Model Making Gerhard O.W. Fischer, It is often annoying that every kit model built from the same kit of the same company is like one egg from the other This is what creative ship modelling aims to change Using prefabricated hulls it is mainly a matter of the superstructure which must be redesigned sawn out and further processed and further processed without the need for a construction template The conversion of kit models shows how to convert ready built models to a completely new model by converting them to jet propulsion Finally the author presents four examples how larger display models can be converted into real driving models to properly running RC ship models by installing a remote control system From the content Construction of models according to own designs Building description of two creative models Building a police boat according to own ideas Two creative construction models The MULTIBOAT A speedboat and a mega luxury yacht Conversion of kit models The FLORIDA as a jet model The RAPIDO 600 as a jet model A customs cruiser and a fishery protection boat Conversion of display models to RC models Cruise ship QUEEN MARY 2 Sea rescue cruiser HERMANN MARWEDE German submarine class VII C American submarine GATO class REVELL RC ship model already at the end of the 50s Cardboard model making Dr. Ulrich Böhme, Cardboard model making is probably one of the first types of model making for which kits or building sheets were offered in series For the first time many people were able to build models of real or fictitious buildings and vehicles It is interesting to note that cardboard model making even though nowadays there is an almost unlimited variety of materials available for model making is experiencing a great renaissance and an active community of cardboard model makers has developed Nowadays there is almost nothing that is not available as cardboard model building sheets whether from professional publishers or from idealistic suppliers In this book Ulrich Böhme looks at cardboard modelling from two perspectives On the one hand he describes the history of this form of model making in all its facets On the other hand he gives practical tips based on examples from the most diverse areas of cardboard model making He shows how to create a simple model and how to improve it He creates entire dioramas and restores aging historical models In short In this book he takes you into the fascinating world of cardboard model making From the content Models are contemporary witnesses Paper as a working material Early cut out and model sheets Publishing houses Which scale is the right one for me Working with paper Tools Adhesives Rounding Architectural models Aircraft Land vehicles Ships Special models Self build models Building an old shipyard hall Dioramas Restoration and storage Building Models for Marketing Decisions Peter S.H. Leeftang, Dick R. Wittink, Michel Wedel, Philippe A. Naert, 2013-06-29 This book is about marketing models and the process of model building Our primary focus is on models that can be used by managers to support marketing decisions It has long been known that simple models usually outperform judgments in predicting outcomes in a wide variety of contexts For example models of judgments tend to provide better forecasts of the outcomes than the judgments themselves because the model eliminates the noise in judgments And since judgments never fully reflect the complexities of the many forces that influence outcomes it is easy to see why models of actual outcomes should be very attractive to marketing decision makers Thus appropriately constructed models can provide insights about structural relations between marketing variables Since models explicate the relations both the process of model building and the model that ultimately results can improve the quality of marketing decisions Managers often use rules of thumb for decisions For example a brand manager will have defined a specific set of alternative brands as the competitive set within a product category Usually this set is based on perceived similarities in brand characteristics advertising messages etc If a new marketing initiative occurs for one of the other brands the brand manager will have a strong inclination to react The reaction is partly based on the manager's desire to maintain some competitive parity in the marketing variables

Architectural Modelmaking Second Edition Nick Dunn, 2014-09-08 The physical model is an important communication tool for architects Although the proliferation of CAD programs has enabled the creation of increasingly complex computer models and virtual environments there is also a growing need to address the three dimensional qualities of architecture that may be lost when using such media This book focuses on the inspiring possibilities for modelling the built environment with all the different media and techniques available In describing the use of different models in different contexts the book provides a practical guide to how and why models are used and what they are used for This second edition includes more detailed step by step exercises expanded discussion of materials and techniques updated coverage of digital techniques and new case studies

A History of Architectural Modelmaking in Britain David Lund, 2022-12-16 Architectural modelmakers have long carried out their work hidden behind the scenes of architectural design and in presenting a history of architectural modelmaking in Britain for the first time this book casts a new light on their remarkable skills and achievements By telling the story of the modelmakers who make architectural models rather than architects who commission and use them this book seeks to celebrate their often overlooked contribution to the success and endurance of the architectural model in Britain over the past one hundred and forty years Drawing from extensive archival research and interviews with practicing and retired modelmakers this book traces the complete history of architectural modelmaking in Britain from its initial emergence as a specialist occupation at the end of the nineteenth century through to the present day It reveals the legacy of John Thorp the first professional architectural modelmaker in Britain who opened his business in London in 1883 and charts the lives and careers of the innovative and creative modelmakers who followed him It examines the continually evolving materials tools and processes of architectural modelmaking and outlines the profound ideological economic and technological influences that have shaped the profession's development Illustrated with over one hundred photographs of architectural models from previously undocumented archives this book will be of great interest to architectural modelmakers academics and historians as well as anyone with an interest in architectural history and modelmaking Digital Modelmaking Helen Lansdown, 2019-06-24 Digital manufacturing has become an intrinsic part of the modelmaking profession so today's practitioner must be skilled in both traditional hand making techniques and digital technology Relevant to a wide variety of creative industries including film and television theatre architecture and product design Digital Modelmaking offers a comprehensive insight into the manufacturing processes and technologies used within contemporary modelmaking Each chapter contains an in depth explanation of each topic presents examples of how each process is used and includes case studies from professional modelmakers and students Topics covered include making models using a laser cutter 3D printer and CNC milling machinery generating 3D digital data using a 3D scanner and photogrammetry two and three dimensional drawing software such as CAD designing models for digital manufacturing selecting materials based on their suitability for modelmaking combining traditional hand making skills with digital manufacturing painting and finishing models and finally moulding and casting using silicone and resin This invaluable book will be of great interest for students young professionals and everyone with a passion for design and making It is superbly illustrated with 234 colour photographs and 32 line artworks giving numerous examples of the design process Helen Lansdown has worked professionally as a modelmaker and designer for thirty years and is a lecturer at Herefordshire University teaching on the Model Design programme The
