Puttermessenger Papers A Novel:

The Puttermessenger Papers Cynthia Ozick, 2021-04-13 With dashing originality and in prose that sings like an entire choir of sirens Cynthia Ozick relates the life and times of her most compelling fictional creation Ruth Puttermessenger lives in New York City Her learning is monumental Her love life is minimal she prefers pouring through Plato to romping with married Morris Rappoport And her fantasies have a disconcerting tendency to come true with disastrous consequences for what we laughably call reality Puttermessenger yearns for a daughter and promptly creates one unassisted in the form of the first recorded female golem Laboring in the dusty crevices of the civil service she dreams of reforming the city and manages to get herself elected mayor Puttermessenger contemplates the afterlife and is hurtled into it headlong only to discover that a paradise found is also paradise lost Overflowing with ideas lambent with wit The Puttermessenger Papers is a tour de force by one of our most visionary novelists The finest achievement of Ozick's career It has all the buoyant integrity of a Chagall painting San Francisco Chronicle Fanciful poignant so intelligent so finely expressed that like its main character it remains endearing edifying a spark of light in the gloom The New York Times A crazy delight The New York Time Book Review

The Subject of Holocaust Fiction Emily Miller Budick, 2015-05-20 Fictional representations of horrific events run the risk of undercutting efforts to verify historical knowledge and may heighten our ability to respond intellectually and ethically to human experiences of devastation In this captivating study of the epistemological psychological and ethical issues underlying Holocaust fiction Emily Miller Budick examines the subjective experiences of fantasy projection and repression manifested in Holocaust fiction and in the reader s encounter with it Considering works by Cynthia Ozick Art Spiegelman Aharon Appelfeld Michael Chabon and others Budick investigates how the reading subject makes sense of these fictionalized presentations of memory and trauma victims and victimizers

The Pagan Writes Back Zhange Ni, 2015-05-21 In the first book to consider the study of world religion and world literature in concert Zhange Ni proposes a new reading strategy that she calls pagan criticism which she applies not only to late twentieth and early twenty first century literary texts that engage the global resurgence of religion but also to the very concepts of religion and the secular Focusing on two North American writers the Jewish American Cynthia Ozick and the Canadian Margaret Atwood and two East Asian writers the Japanese End Sh saku and the Chinese Gao Xingjian Ni reads their fiction drama and prose to envision a pagan re turn in the study of world religion and world literature In doing so she highlights the historical complexities and contingencies in literary texts and challenges both Christian and secularist assumptions regarding aesthetics and hermeneutics In assessing the collision of religion and literature Ni argues that the clash has been not so much between monotheistic orthodoxies and the sanctification of literature as between the modern Western model of religion and the secular and its non Western others When East and West converge under the rubric of paganism she argues the study of religion and literature develops into that of world religion and world literature
