English as a Language of Teaching and Learning for Community Secondary Schools in Tanzania Elia Shabani Mligo, Mikael Mwashilindi, 2017-08-07 This book examines the challenges posed by English, a foreign language, as a language of teaching and learning for community secondary schools in Tanzania in terms of academic performance. The book probes the necessity for having two languages of instruction in the Tanzanian educational system. While Kiswahili, the native language, is predominantly understood by the majority of people, the discussion in this book indicates that most students in community secondary schools in Tanzania are incompetent in understanding, writing, listening, reading, and speaking English, a language they use in learning and doing their examinations, especially in the early stages of their secondary studies. The incompetence in the above-mentioned skills is mostly caused by their inability to cope with the abrupt transition in the languages of instruction from their pre-primary and primary school study in Kiswahili to secondary school study in English. Moreover, most teachers are unable to use the English language as a means to impart knowledge or facilitate learning to their students, leading them to code-switching and code-mixing. This book poses a challenge to countries whose students pass through a

Munene, 2016-06-16 Using the Education for All EFA global movement as the setting this book surveys the complex labyrinths of international education policy making the design and implementation of system wide educational reform and the assessment of learning outcomes in the African context It addresses the following questions what does it mean for African states to reform their educational systems to meet the global agenda of Education for All and the Millennium Development Goals Under what structural conditions have African governments implemented universal primary education programs and with what outcomes What are the lessons learned and how do these inform the post 2015 agenda for universal primary education in Africa and other developing countries This book provides answers to these questions and opens the possibilities for new approaches to Education for All in the context of constrained resources unstable political climates and the agency of local communities It is undeniable that African governments responded to the educational goals espoused in EFA and MDG paradigms through their own education for all plans and expended vast resources to realize these objectives However there remains a serious gap in knowledge about the design of these plans the influence of local and international forces in their development the challenges inherent in executing comprehensive and multifaceted reforms to achieve these goals and the success of the reform measures as evident in student learning outcomes This book addresses this knowledge gap in three ways First it utilizes empirical data collected over a five year period from six African countries Kenya Mali Senegal Nigeria Tanzania and Uganda to illuminate how the global agenda on education has been debated designed and implemented across the continent and with what outcomes Second it frames the six nation case studies within the wider logic of international educational policy agenda and the continent wide search for education quality Finally the analysis of universal primary education strategies is undertaken from an interdisciplinary perspective thereby allowing a more comprehensive view of the educational reform

Revolutionary Struggles and Girls' Education Thera Mjaaland, 2021-07-27 Revolutionary Struggles and Girls Education At the Frontiers of Gender Norms in North Ethiopia argues that at the base of girls poorer performance than boys at secondary school level when puberty has set in is the symbolic violence entailed in sanctioned femaleness Informed by the modesty of Virgin Mary in Orthodox Christian veneration it instructs girls to internalize a holding back which impinges on her self efficacy and ability to be an active learner Neoliberally informed educational policies and plans which have co opted liberal feminism also in Ethiopia do not address hard lived gender norms and the power and domination dynamics entailed when parity between boys and girls in school continues to be the dominant measure for equity. Despite women's courageous contribution at a literal frontier during the Tigrayan liberation struggle 1975-91 where they fought on equal terms with men and despite the tendency that girls outnumber boys at secondary level in the present context, sanctioned femaleness constitutes a frontier for girls' educational success and transition to higher education. In fact, when teaching/learning continues to be based on memorization rather than critical thinking, the very transformative potential of education is undermined, also in a gendered sense.
