Quantitative Methods For Marketing Decisions:

Quantitative Methods for Marketing Decisions T. Wegner, 2004-05-01 Quantitative Methods for Marketing Decisions Trevor Wegner, 2000-01-28 The text emphasises the following The marketing decision support role of quantitative data analysis How marketing research methodology impacts on data quality The influence of data types on the choice of data analysis technique All data analysis techniques are developed through practical marketing illustrations Problem solving exercises Cover Handbook of Marketing Decision Models Berend Wierenga, 2008-09-05 Marketing models is a core component of the marketing discipline The recent developments in marketing models have been incredibly fast with information technology e g the Internet online marketing e commerce and customer relationship management CRM creating radical changes in the way companies interact with their customers This has created completely new breeds of marketing models but major progress has also taken place in existing types of marketing models Handbook of Marketing Decision Models presents the state of the art in marketing decision models The book deals with new modeling areas such as customer relationship management customer value and online marketing as well as recent developments in other advertising sales promotions sales management and competition are dealt with New developments are in consumer decision models models for return on marketing marketing management support systems and in special techniques such as time series and neural nets Building Models for Marketing Decisions Peter S.H. Leeflang, Dick R. Wittink, Michel Wedel, Philippe A. Naert, 2013-06-29 This book is about marketing models and the process of model building Our primary focus is on models that can be used by managers to support marketing decisions It has long been known that simple models usually outperform judgments in predicting outcomes in a wide variety of contexts For example models of judgments tend to provide better forecasts of the outcomes than the judgments themselves because the model eliminates the noise in judgments And since judgments never fully reflect the complexities of the many forces that influence outcomes it is easy to see why models of actual outcomes should be very attractive to marketing decision makers Thus appropriately constructed models can provide insights about structural relations between marketing variables Since models explicate the relations both the process of model building and the model that ultimately results can improve the quality of marketing decisions Managers often use rules of thumb for decisions For example a brand manager will have defined a specific set of alternative brands as the competitive set within a product category Usually this set is based on perceived similarities in brand characteristics advertising messages etc If a new marketing initiative occurs for one of the other brands the brand manager will have a strong inclination to react The reaction is partly based on the manager's desire to maintain some competitive parity in the marketing variables Quantitative Techniques for Marketing Decisions Marvin A.
