Nouns name people, things, or concepts
Noun endings indicate their number, gender, and role
All German nouns, or words used as nouns, are capitalized
Note: When learning a noun, always learn its gender!

- Grammatical genders are masculine, feminine, and neuter
- The preceding definite article identifies its grammatical gender (der, die, das)
- Grammatical gender may coincide with natural gender; however, some nouns that refer to human beings can also be neuter

• Pharmacokinetics: Absorption, Distribution, Metabolism, Excretion

- Masculine referring to human beings, or ending in -s, can be any gender (such as the Master (Herr))
- Most plants are feminine (except the Apple (Apfel) and the Peach (Pfirsich))
- Some masculine nouns have corresponding feminine nouns that end in -in
- The meaning of some nouns depends on gender (such as the River (Fluss), the Canal (Kanal))

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The physical health of the women was assessed using a variety of measures, including heart rate, blood pressure, and body mass index. The psychological health of the women was assessed using a variety of measures, including mood, self-esteem, and anxiety. The results of the study showed that the walking program had a positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the women. The women in the walking program had lower heart rates, lower blood pressures, and lower body mass indices than the women in the control group. The women in the walking program also had improved mood, self-esteem, and anxiety compared to the women in the control group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program can improve the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Coordination conjunctions connect either words, phrases, or independent clauses of equal standing
- Independent (main) clauses can stand alone and make sense; they have a subject and a predicate.
- The main coordination conjunctions are other (but), neither/nor, nor/not (but), rather, on the contrary, and so on.

FOR INFORMATION:

- Subordination
Compounders write two elements where one is subordinate
- Subordinated clauses
depend on the main clause for meaning; a dependent clause cannot stand by itself
- Subordinative
Compounders can join dependent clauses to independent clauses or to other subordinated clauses
- When inserting the order of the two clauses, the main order also changes; when dependent clauses are introduced by a subordinative conjunction, the verb comes at the end of the clause
- The main subordinatives
Conjunctions are all either through, before, after, and, as (since), until, until, or (whether), if, unless, if not, and, once, once (as for and, and (because), and when (while)
- When (if) can introduce a conditional clause, imply the future or express a repeated event, once (perhaps) can be used as a subordinative conjunction
