American Short Story, 1945-1980 Gordon Weaver, 1983 Traces developments in postwar American short fiction and discusses the most important works of a variety of modern writers

Collected Fiction Irwin Shaw, 2017-10-03 Three acclaimed novels plus collected short fiction by the New York Times bestselling author of Rich Man Poor Man The Young Lions Irwin Shaw's New York Times bestselling debut is widely considered one of the four great World War II novels along with From Here to Eternity The Naked and the Dead and The Caine Mutiny Ambitious in its scope and robust in its prose this masterpiece is also deeply humanistic presenting the reality of war as seen through the eyes of three ordinary soldiers a Nazi sergeant a Jewish American infantryman and an idealistic urbanite from New York City The Boston Globe Bread Upon the Waters No good deed goes unpunished The Strands are a happy family though not without their financial struggles When their daughter helps a mugging victim by bringing him home he turns out to be a Wall Street lawyer whose gratitude is as boundless as his bank account But with each successive reward the Strand family moves farther away from the wealth of happiness they already possessed Short Stories Five Decades Shaw's prolific output of short stories appeared regularly in the pages of the New Yorker and Esquire for over half a century These sixty three stories include such iconic works as The Eighty Yard Run and The Girls in Their Summer Dresses The Troubled Air Five employees of Clement Archer's popular radio show are accused Communists He will have to fire them to keep his show on the air But it's not a simple choice whatever Archer decides he won't be able to keep his hands clean in Shaw's provocative classic about courage and morality at the height of McCarthyism

Hollywood TV Christopher Anderson, 2013-10-11 The 1950s was one of the most turbulent periods in the history of motion pictures and television During the decade as Hollywood's most powerful studios and independent producers shifted into TV production TV replaced film as America's principal postwar culture industry This pioneering study offers the first thorough exploration of the movie industry's shaping role in the development of television and its narrative forms Drawing on the archives of Warner Bros and David O Selznick Productions and on interviews with participants in both industries Christopher Anderson demonstrates how the episodic telefilm series a clear descendant of the feature film became and has remained the dominant narrative form in prime time TV This research suggests that the postwar motion picture industry was less an empire on the verge of ruin as common wisdom has it than one struggling under unsettling conditions to redefine its frontiers Beyond the obvious contribution to film and television studies these findings add an important chapter to the study of American popular culture of the postwar period
