Selections From Canadian Poets Literature Of Canada Poetry And Prose In:

Selections from Canadian Poets Edward H. Dewart, 1973-12-15 Selections from Canadian Poets set an important precedent when it was published in 1864. It was the first anthology of native Canadian poetry and was compiled as Edward Hartlet Dewart explained in order to rescue from oblivion some of the floating pieces of Canadian authorship worthy of preservation in a more permanent form. This anthology like any other reflects the tastes of the anthologist and the tenor of the times. Pre confederation poets had deeply felt ties with other countries from which developed a shared concern for what Douglas Lochhead terms in his introduction the now and the place often described in terms of the past and the other place which embraced a still larger loyalty religious political philosophical and above all nationalistic. Dewart was widely commended by critics of his attention for its endeavour to come to grips with the influences of other literatures mainly English and for its realization that so called colonialism was a major shaping force of Canadian poetry. On the first page of his essay Dewart states that A national literature is an essential element in the formation of national character. These words as well as his perceptive appraisal of the problems of Canadian literary endeavours still apply today and make this reprint timely and pertinent.

The E.J. Pratt Symposium Glenn Clever, 1977-01-01 This work is a result of the fourth symposium in the University of Ottawa Symposia series following those on Canadian writers Grove 1973 Klein 1974 and Lampman 1975. Scholars friends and readers gathered on May 1 2 1976 to discuss Ned Pratt otherwise known as E J Pratt 1883 1964 the man and the poet. The two day event featured a biographical panel led by Fred Cogswell and various papers intended to establish the literary identity of the distinguished Canadian author. Other contributors include Glenn Clever Elizabeth Brewster Ralph Gustafson Carl F Klinck Germaine Warkentin Peter Stevens Peter Buitenhuis Sandra Djwa Peter Hunt Agnes Nyland Robert Gibbs Louis K MacKendrick and Lila Laakso.

Struthers, 1997-04-18 Times change lives change and the terms we need to describe our literature or society or condition what Raymond Williams calls keywords change with them Perhaps the most significant development in the quarter century since Eli Mandel edited his anthology Contexts of Canadian Criticism has been the growing recognition that not only do different people need different terms but the same terms have different meanings for different people and in different contexts Nation history culture art identity the positions we take discussing these and other issues can lead to conflict but also hold the promise of a new sort of community Speaking of First Nations people and their literature Beth Brant observes that Our connections are like the threads of a weaving While the colour and beauty of each thread is unique and important together they make a communal material of strength and durability New Contexts of Canadian Criticism is designed to be read to work in much the same manner A-E Library of Congress. Wright, 2012-02-01 Nervous Reactions considers Victorian responses to Romanticism particularly the way in which the Romantic period was frequently constructed in Victorian era texts as a time of nervous or excitable authors and readers at odds with Victorian values of self restraint moderation and stolidity Represented in various ways as a threat to social order as a desirable freedom of feeling as a pathological weakness that must be cured this nervousness both about and of the Romantics is an important though as yet unaddressed concern in Victorian responses to Romantic texts By attending to this nervousness the essays in this volume offer a new consideration not only of the relationship between the Victorian and Romantic periods but also of the ways in which our own responses to Romanticism have been mediated by this Victorian attention to Romantic excitability Considering editions and biographies as well as literary and critical responses to Romantic writers the volume addresses a variety of discursive modes and genres and brings to light a number of authors not normally included in the longstanding category of Victorian Romanticism on the Romantic side not just Wordsworth Keats and P B Shelley but also Byron S T Coleridge Thomas De Quincey Mary Shelley and Mary Wollstonecraft and on the Victorian side not just Thomas Carlyle and the Brownings but also Sara Coleridge George Eliot Elizabeth Gaskell Archibald Lampman and J S Mill Contributors include D M R Bentley Kristen Guest Joel Faflak Grace Kehler Donelle Ruwe Alan Vardy Lisa Vargo Timothy J Wandling Joanne Wilkes and Julia M Wright
