Self And Self Transformation In The History Of Religions:

Self and Self-transformation in the History of Religions David Dean Shulman, Guy G. Stroumsa, 2002 This book brings together scholars of a variety of the world's major civilizations to focus on the universal theme of inner transformation. The idea of the self is a cultural formation like any other and models and conceptions of the inner world of the person vary widely from one civilization to another. Nonetheless, all the world's great religions insist on the need to transform this inner world. Such transformations often ritually enacted, reveal the primary intuitions, drives and conflicts active within the culture. The individual essays study dramatic examples of these processes in a wide range of cultures including China, India, Tibet, Greece and Rome, Late Antiquity, Islam, Judaism and medieval and early modern Christian Europe. Self and

Self-Transformations in the History of Religions David Shulman, Guy G. Stroumsa, 2002-04-18 This book brings together scholars of a variety of the world's major civilizations to focus on the universal theme of inner transformation. The idea of the self is a cultural formation like any other and models and conceptions of the inner world of the person vary widely from one civilization to another. Nonetheless, all the world's great religions insist on the need to transform this inner world; however, it is understood in highly expressive and specific ways. Such transformations often ritually enacted, reveal the primary intuitions, drives and conflicts active within the culture. The individual essays, by such distinguished scholars as Wai yee Li, Janet Gyatso, Wendy Doniger, Christiano Grottanelli, Charles Malamoud, Margalit Finkelberg and Moshe Idel, study dramatic examples of these processes in a wide range of cultures including China, India, Tibet, Greece and Rome, Late Antiquity, Islam, Judaism and medieval and early modern Christian Europe. Transformations of the Inner Self in Ancient Religions Jan Assmann, Guy G. Stroumsa, 1999 This collection of essays deals with anthropological rather than theological aspects of the Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions from the archaic period to Late Antiquity. Part one focuses on Confession and Conversion, part two on Guilt, Sin and Rituals of Purification. Ontological Aspects of Early Jewish Anthropology Tyson L. Putthoff, 2016-11-28

In Ontological Aspects of Early Jewish Anthropology Tyson L. Putthoff explores early Jewish beliefs about how the human self reacts ontologically in God's presence. Combining contemporary theory with sound exegesis, Putthoff demonstrates that early Jews widely considered the self to be intrinsically malleable such that it mimics the ontological state of the space it inhabits. In divine space, they believed the self therefore shares in the ontological state of God himself. The book is critical for students and scholars alike. In putting forth a new framework for conceptualising early Jewish anthropology, it challenges scholars to rethink not only what early Jews believed about the self but how we approach the subject in the first place. Self-Alteration

Jean-Paul Baldacchino, Christopher Houston, 2023-11-10 Many of us feel a pressing desire to be different, to be other than who we are. Self-conscious, we anxiously perceive our shortcomings or insufficiencies, wondering why we are, how we are, and whether we might be different. Often we wish to alter ourselves to change our relationships and to transform the person we are in those relationships. Not only a philosophical question about how other people change, self-alteration is also a practical care can I change and how Self Alteration How People Change Themselves across Cultures explores and analyzes these apparently universal hopes and their related existential dilemmas The essays here come at the subject of the self and its becoming through case studies of modes of transformation of the self They do this with social processes and projects that reveal how the self acquires a non trivial new meaning in and through its very process of alteration By focusing on ways we are allowed to change ourselves including through religious and spiritual traditions and innovations embodied participation in therapeutic programs like psychoanalysis and gendered care services and political activism or relationships with animals the authors in this volume create a model for cross cultural or global analysis of social self change that leads to fresh ways of addressing the self itself

To Know All Mysteries C. Andrew Ballard,2022-08-31 This book examines the way that Paul presents himself as a guide into mysteries a mystagogue in 1 2 Corinthians By describing himself as a type of mystagogue for the community Paul was following a precedent in both Jewish and non Jewish sources for invoking mystagogic language to engage in polemics with a rival In opposition to the precedent however Paul understands the mystagogue to be a bi partite figure comprised of both foolishness and wisdom simultaneously C Andrew Ballard argues that ancient mystagogues were often described in two disparate ways figures of power and figures of weakness and foolishness Paul synthesizes both aspects of the mystagogue in his self presentation to the Corinthians The figure of the mystagogue as a wise fool was useful to Paul because it was descriptive not only of his own experience as a suffering yet authoritative apostle but also of the experience of his deity the suffering and glorified Christ By presenting himself as both a powerful and foolish mystagogue Paul could argue that he was a more authentic imitator of Christ than his opponents in Corinth who boasted in self exaltation instead of self humility In this way Paul used the character of the mystagogue as a strategic rhetorical tool in his communication with the Corinthians
